Sands Of Time Find Revere Changing.

Cheryl Ramp conveys a dynamic America to AFS sister, Roberta Fiori.

This is our time
. . . to win, time to lose;
time to learn, time to teach;
time to work, time to play;
time to think, time to act;
time to laugh, time to cry;
time to give, time to receive;
time to question, time to understand;
time to remember, time to dream;
time to stay, time to go;
time to begin, and time to end.

Sunrise to sunrise . . . .
quickly pass the years.

Mr. James Wilkens, the new principal, is a "real clever man."

One Upon A Time . . .

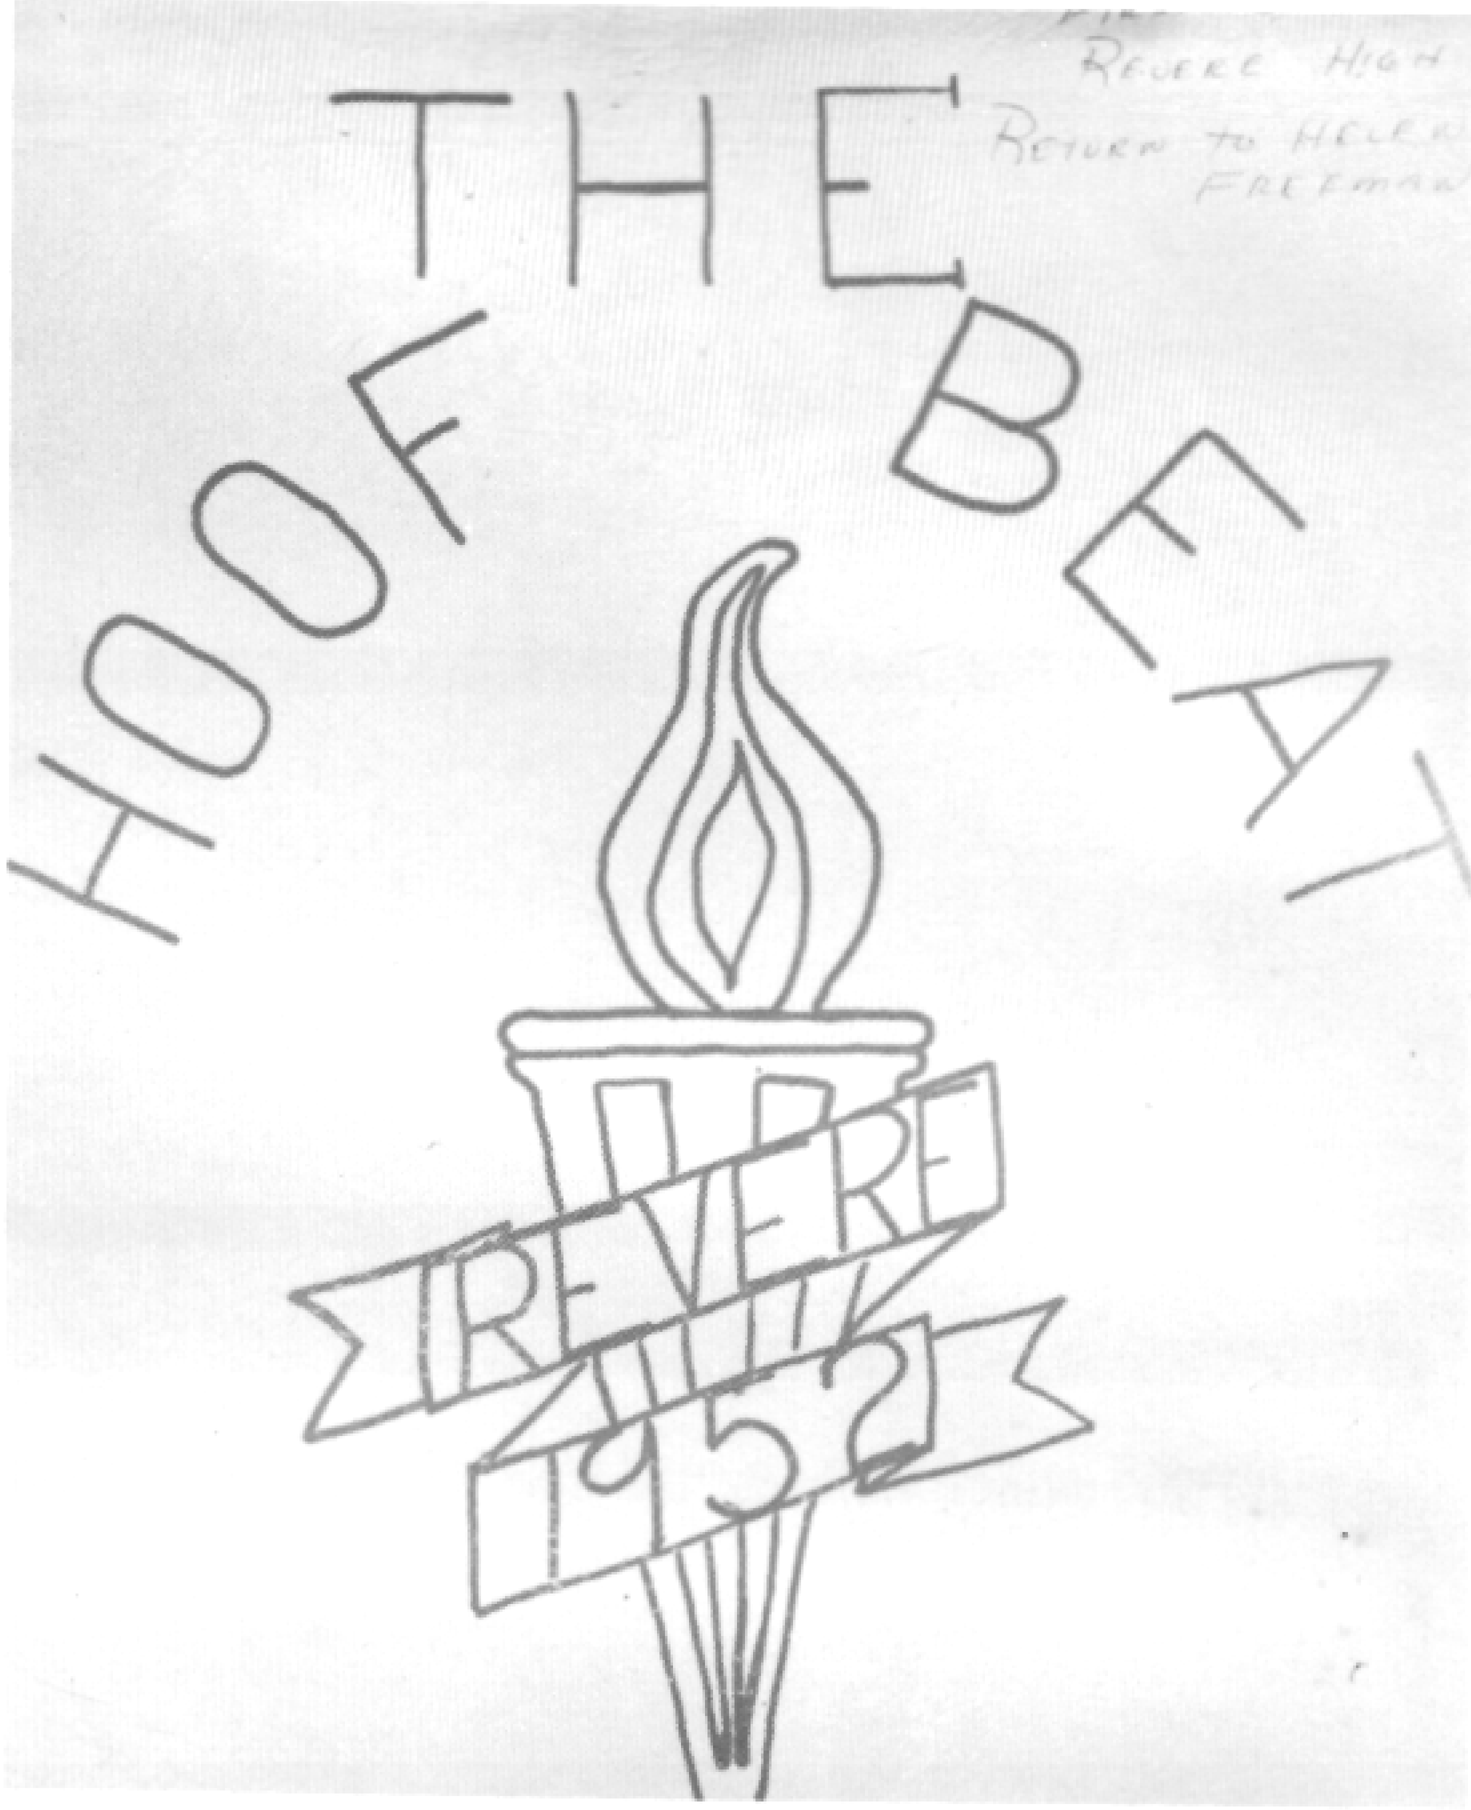
twenty-five years, to be exact, the good townspeople of Richfield and Bath decided to build a high school. With Mr. Harold C. Schweisberger as principal and twelve faculty members to guide them, students of Bath and Richfield (about two hundred and twenty-five of them) met for the first time at Revere in January of 1952.

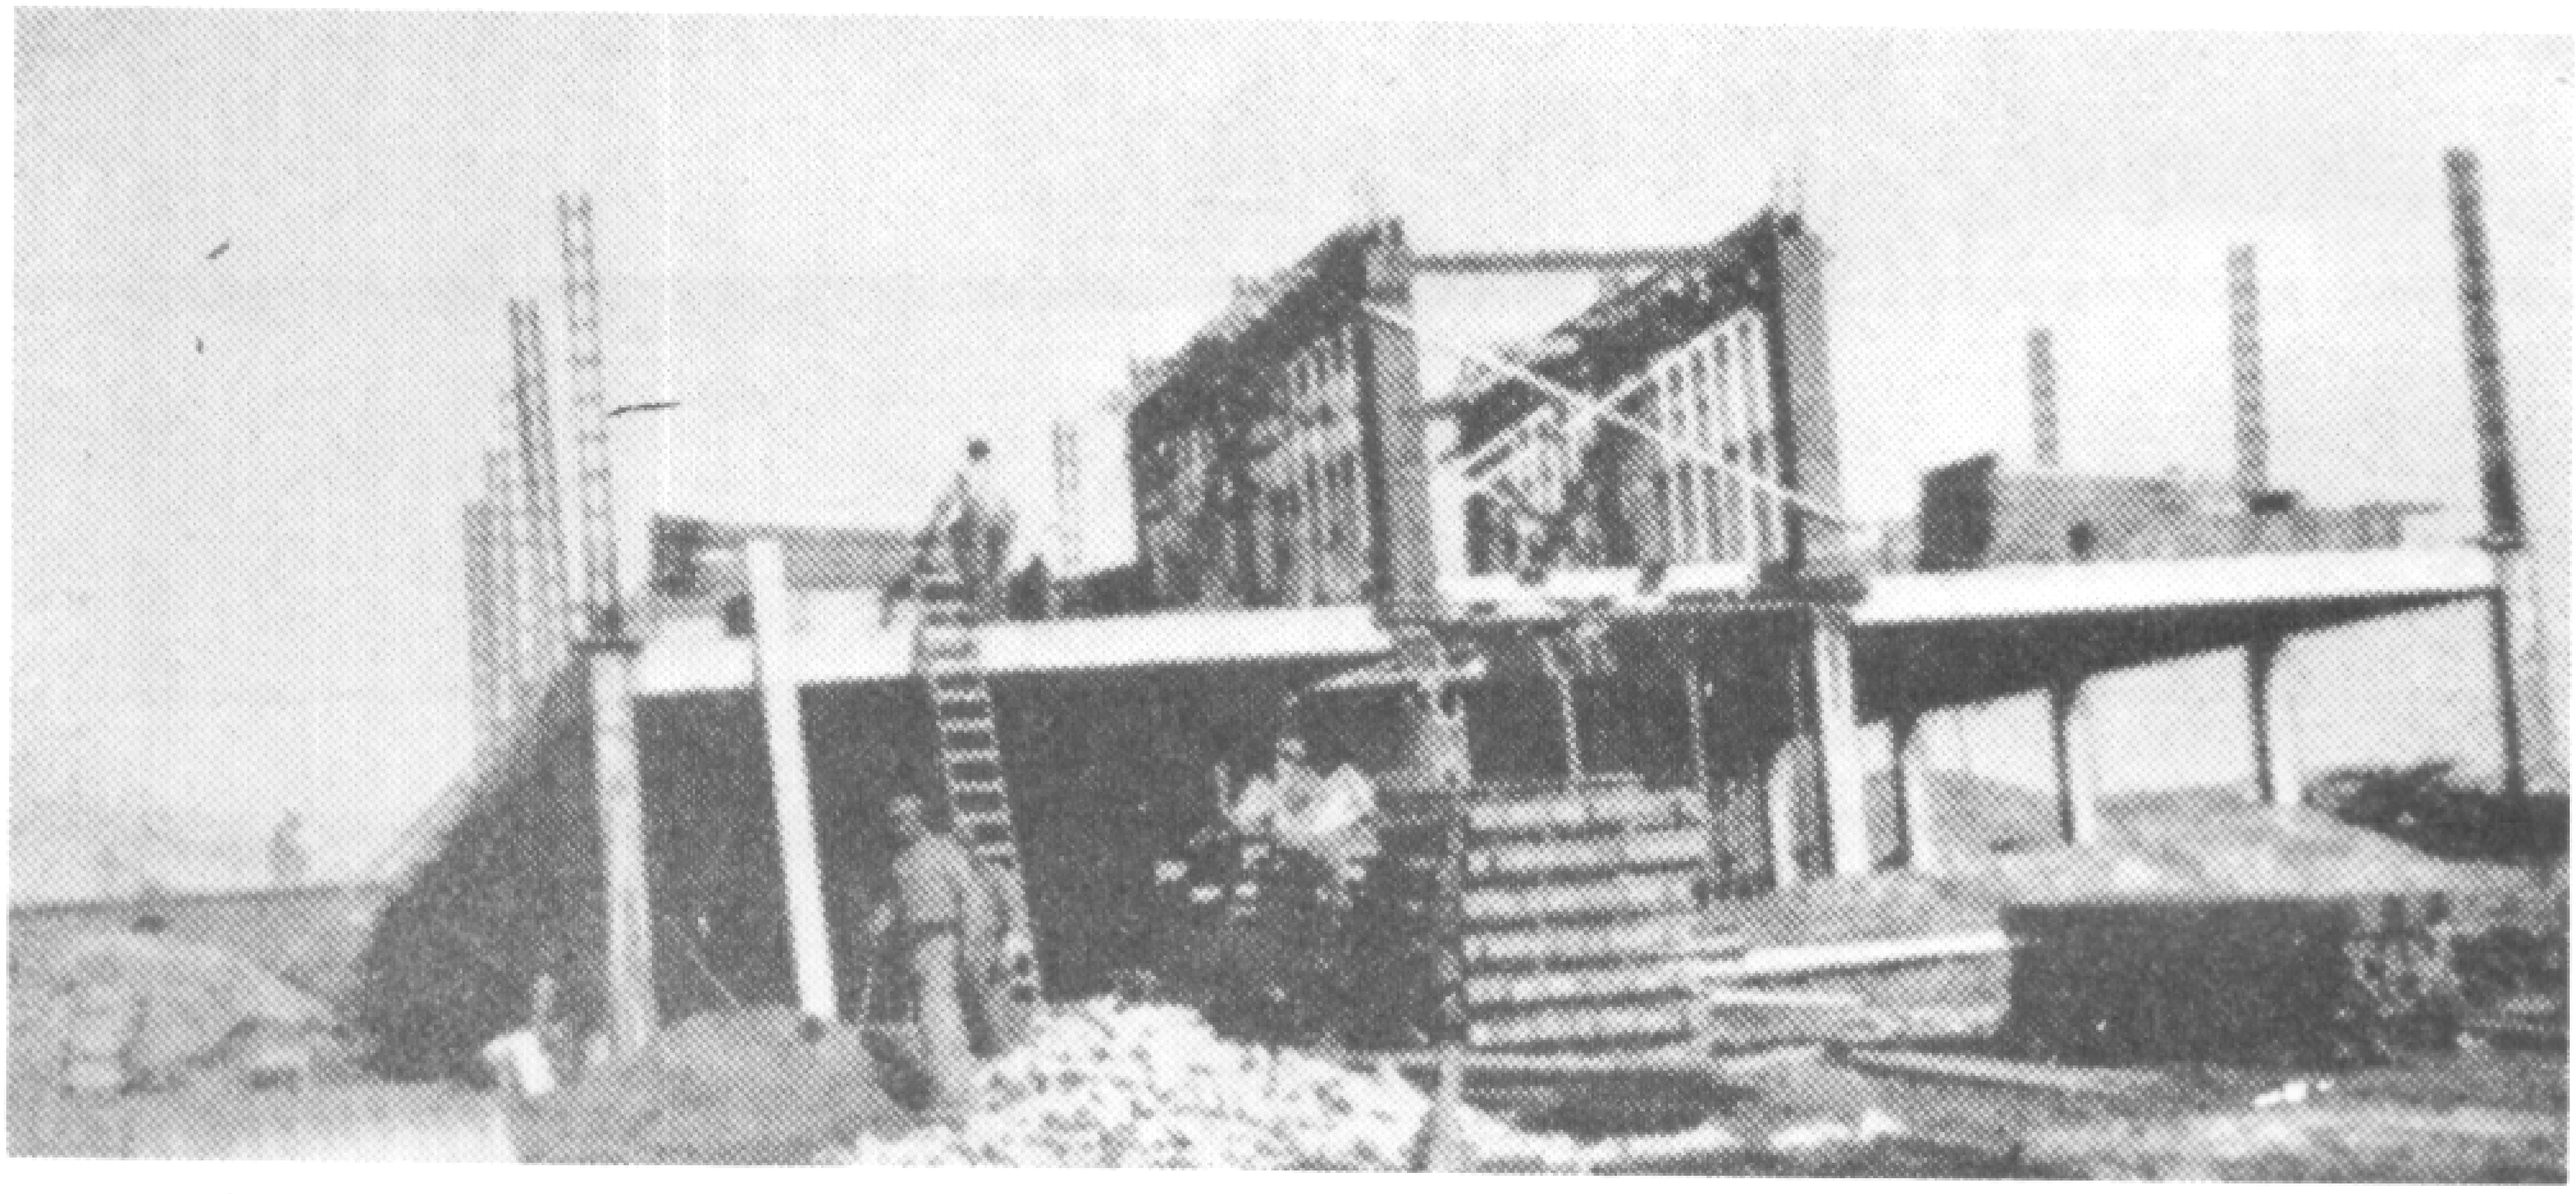
The building was just the nucleus of what it is today. The library was in the English office and room 203. The kitchen was in 101 and the cafeteria followed in the next rooms. "Main and Market" led out of the school. There was no gym, no theatre, no football field. Since 1952 Revere has built five additions.

It was difficult at first to put aside community pride in Bath and Richfield to become boosters of Revere. But as time passed and new studnets entered Revere, loyalty and spirit grew until everyone participated in or boosted everything. Mr. Knapp and Mr. Baker, who have been here since the 1952 beginning agree it was a very pleasant school.

This is the story of that high school called Revere, as time went on . . . . . . . . . . . .



The cover of Revere's first yearbook salutes the galloping minutemen.



It takes time to build . . . and industry and patience and . . . money. Out of the earth steel girders rise to hold the floors, walls, and roofs of Revere.

The beat of the band keeps time with its growth of twenty-five busy years. Steadily the band has moved ahead—from thirty-five members (including 7th and 8th grades) to one-hundred-seventy-two; from performances at football games to travels to Columbus, Canada, and Washington D.C. Always our military band has been a source of pride.

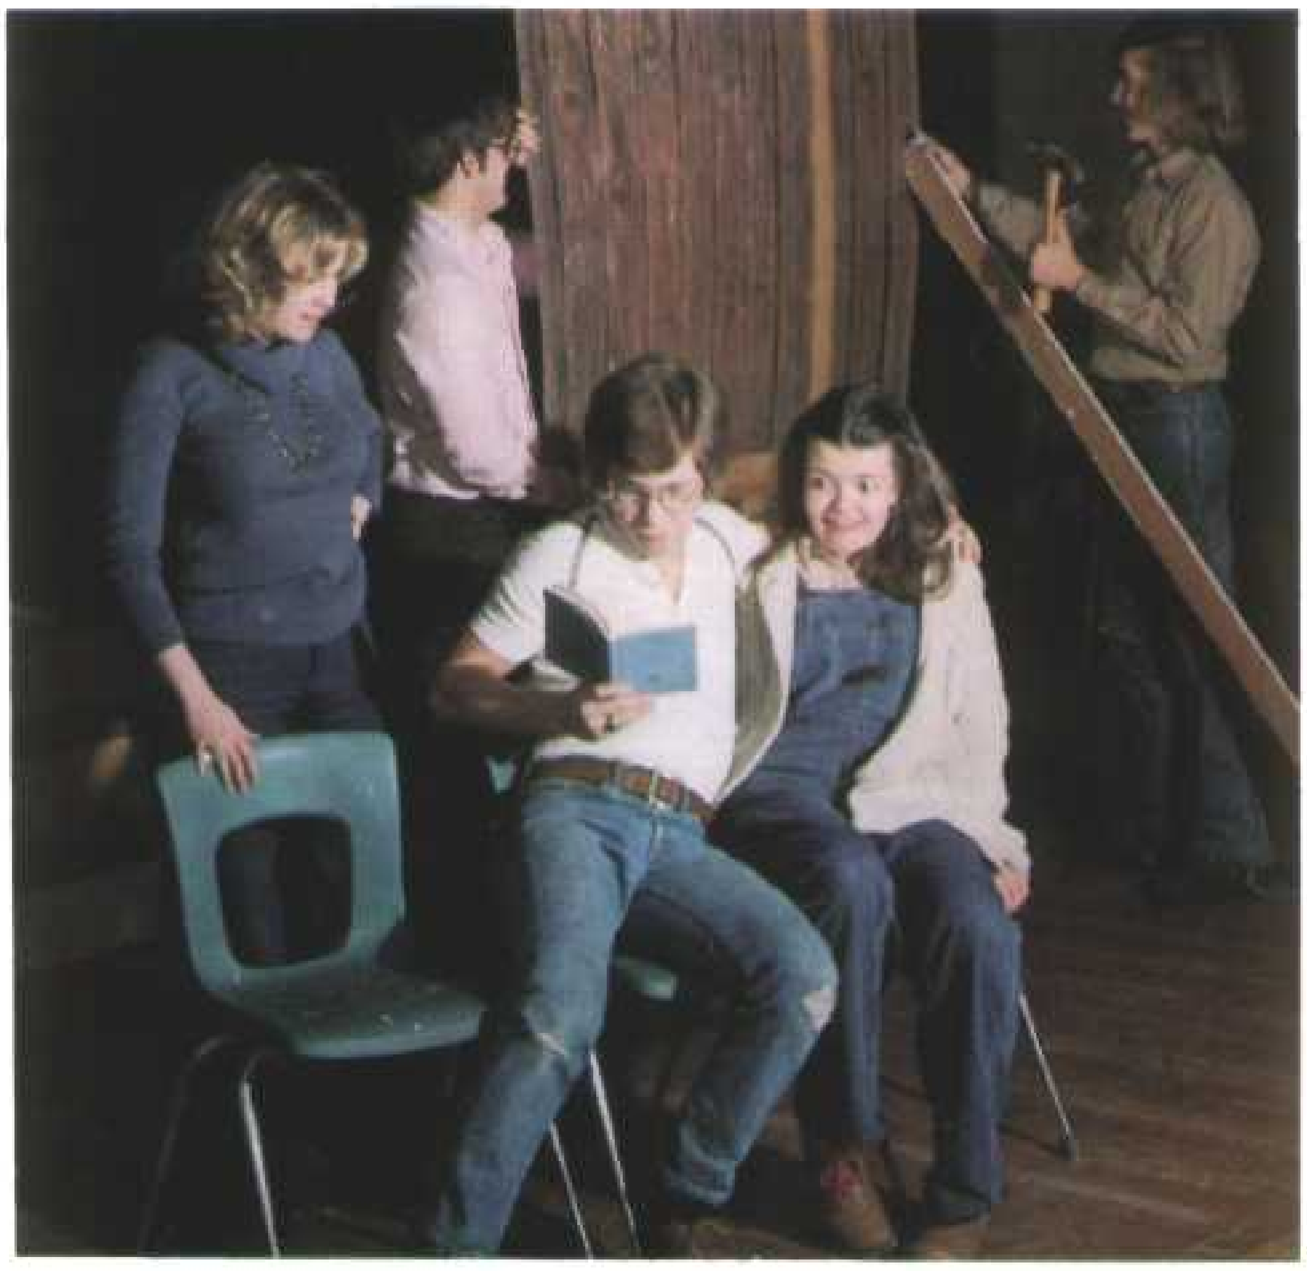
Drama offers opportunities to explore other times, other people, other places. All dressed up and ready to pretend are the characters in the 1952 production of Jane Austen's PRIDE AND PREJUDICE.

Trusting to skill, Jon Weingart shoots to score.

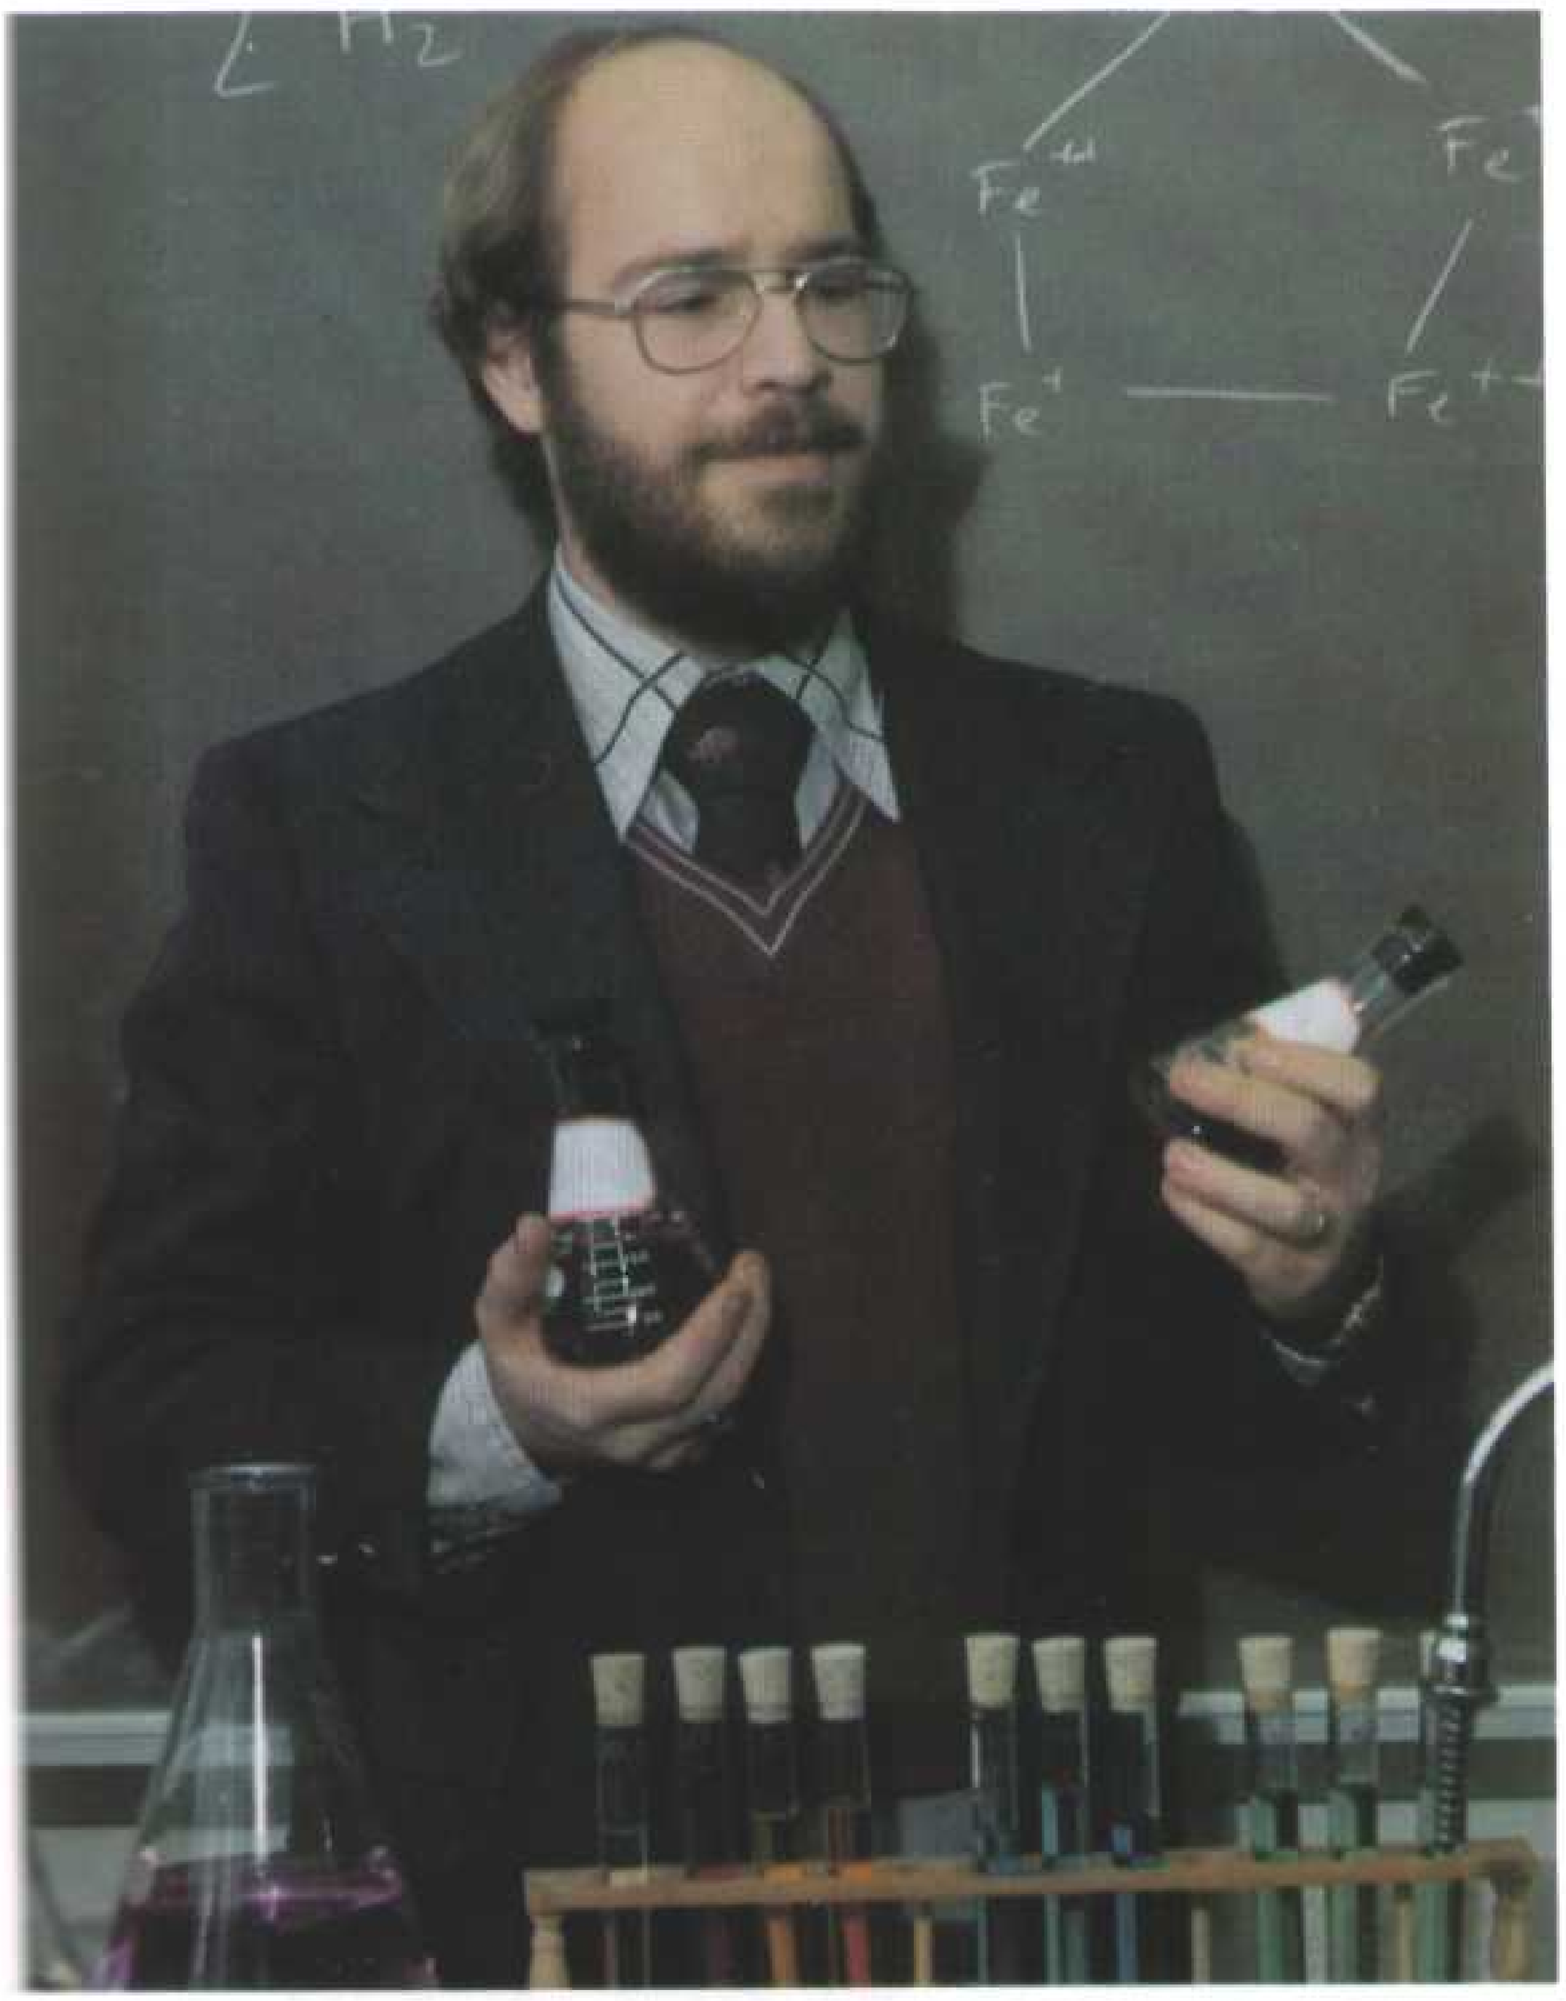
Mr. Scott's freshman P.E. class learns to defy the laws of gravity and promote physical balance.

Gail Colonna, Cindy Walkley, and Jenny Harris create beautiful artwork with Mr. Walker's helpful suggestions.

Wally Schoff investigates one of the newly donated microfiche scanners.



Nick Nero and Joy Steinbauer enjoy themselves while rehearsing CLOUD SEVEN.



Resident genius Gary Helsel demonstrates the "no-brains approach to Chemistry."

Librarian Dorothy Shepard shelves a well-thumbed volume in the 'new' library.

Wait!

Don't grow me up so fast.
I'm needing a slow past.
I'll be formed in no cast
That isn't my own.

Don't let me grow up soon,
I won't have a night moon,
I can wait 'till June.
Can You? Maybe May.

Oh, don't let me turn old,
'cause it's stale, stiff, and so cold,
And I've got to keep the hold
That is now and today.

—Julianna Peterson

Revere Continues In Living Color

Walking throughout the halls of Revere reminds us that we are continuing with the vitality of daily living. As time proceeds, so must we, accepting life as it comes.

Without the help of such secretaries as Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Berka, and Mrs. Steffen, Revere would be in total chaos.

Marking Time

So, this is the time of my life. A life full of empty Stridex bottles. Waiting for the weekend, thinking about what in the world I will be doing when I'm twenty. I go when I want, do what I please. Do my "own thing" so long as I don't hurt anyone. Thinking what am I going to be doing when I'm twenty. Probably waiting for the weekend. Spending my money foolishly; buying Beatles tapes and Big Macs. Wondering what I'll be doing when I'm twenty. Probably waiting for the weekend.

Freshmen Begin Their Time At Revere.

They say things come in cycles, like the seven-year locust or depressions. Freshmen also come in cycles, or at least it seems that way. Revere began its career as a four year high school and remained so until Eastview was built in 1961. Last year was the first year of their return to Revere, and so far it has proved successful. Freshmen have shown superior school spirit, whether by winning the spirit stick at pep rallies, gathering cans and clothing for the student council Christmas drive, or just getting involved in high school activities. We hope they keep up their enthusiasm for school throughout the next three years.

A few concerned freshmen fuss over last minute details just before the judging of their float.

During the rock painting contest of spirit week '76-'77, the class of '79 showed their creativity by painting "'79 Rocks On" on their rock. Throughout the year this phrase appeared periodically, emphasizing the sophomores' originality. The sports upset of the year occurred when the sophomore girls defeated the seniors in the preliminary powder puff game. With two more years to go, more surprises should be expected from the versatile class of '79.

Members of the sophomore class council are: (FRONT) D. Jenkins (pres.), G. Sharp, V. Deffibaugh, B. Ashbrook, W. Sperr; (SECOND ROW) C. Lenington, H. Jameson, J. Patterson (v.p.), J. Junior involvement in mercenary and sundry projects resulted in a unity within the class which had not been present before. Candy sales, powder puff football, and a King Kong float were the direct consequences of hours of selling, fluffy parties, and strenuous football practices. But the junior touch was also to be seen in American history (classes), Revere basketball (games), and study hall (misdemeanors). All in all, the class of 1978 looks forward to an even finer senior year.

To Begin We Must First End

Time passes too quickly for all of us. It was only yesterday that we signed up for our sophomore classes in June three years ago. Can this really be the end to all those lazy days, those hectic days, those "what-can-I-do-today" days? Will we never again cheer the football and basketball teams onto victory and then go to the Red Barn to celebrate victory or commiserate together after defeat? Will there never be any more band concerts, dances, plays, and variety shows? Will we no longer travel together, sing together, work together, and play together? Can it be true we will no longer donate time, money, blood, sweat, and tears to Revere? As we walked up the aisle for the last time, a commencement of a new life may have begun, but surely an old life had ended.

All together and your sex doesn't matter, love.
Friends 'til the end or until death, never alone.
Wondering about life, mine included; Christmas and gifts.
Sharing all I have, always receiving more than I deserve.
Joking about the time, "me and him . . . ," memories.
Never forgetting, each one an individual, unique.

I always was obsessed that I was "unique,"
But life found my mistake, I was not alone.
Friends did exist, each offering me his own gift,
Each one different, but all expressing love.
Learning to accept me, uncomfortable memories.
Underestimating myself, "not what I deserve."

Sneaking to a dirty movie, getting what minors deserve.
Stockpiling events, personal and unique.
Joining clubs, ever involved, "falling in love."
Getting-it-together, no time to be left alone.
It's my surprise birthday, opening the gifts
That will provide reason for future memories.

Having to avoid myself, haunting memories.
Tearing up inside, drifting off alone.
Dating a different girl each week, destroying this love
Of mine I believed in vain to be unique.
Wasting, instead of giving me to friends who deserve
More than occasional, impersonal gifts.

Forgetting past "differences," treasuring the gifts
Of friendship that make each day one that is unique.
Crying together at the end, sad memories.
Presentation of awards, "not what they deserve,"
But it doesn't matter. Finding a simple love
In being together with each other, alone.

Meeting my roommate for the first time, alone,
Ironically, with thousands of others, each unique.
Dying for break, driving home for the rest I deserve,
My favorite room waiting, hugs worth a thousand gifts,
Eating mom's cooking—Food I never used to love,
Calling friends, talking over profs, new, special memories.

I am unique, the result of many gifts
That I didn't deserve, and I will never be alone,
For I have the fondest memories of love.

Martin Glenn (November 9, 1958-December 20, 1976)

Death to those of our age appears as only a shadow in someone else's future. Sadly we experienced death's real presence this year with the passing of two of our classmates, Helen Herron and Martin Glenn. Their deaths affected us all deeply, not only because we will miss them but also because someday we too must see that shadow become reality.

Someone once said that those who have died are not dead until they are forgotten. We shall never forget Marty and Helen for they shared a precious moment in our lives, our youth. Thus they will continue to live.

It Is Time To Sing A Song For Friends Soon Gone

Gathered together for one last meal, the senior class enjoyed both good food and good company at the banquet held Tuesday, May 23rd. After a delicious feast, Master of Ceremonies Frank Horvath introduced speakers Jim Angiulo, Mr. Klingensmith, and Mr. Wilkens, and the traditional class history and prophecy were given by Lynne Nobil and Nanci Brady. Entertainment was provided by Jim Angiulo on the piano and Shari Berka and Jim Pica on guitars. Adopted by the senior class as their song, "A Song for a Friend Soon Gone", written by Michael Stanley, was sung by Shari and Jim and reflected the mood of the evening:

Here's a song for a friend soon gone,
A friend whose life and mine became entwined
Leaving soon for a lifetime
Leaving a part of you behind.

Sometimes we'll stop and wonder,
Just where we're going now
Holding hands out to each other
Hoping for the best somehow.

As part of the entertainment, Jim Angiulo performs an original composition.

Shari Berka and Jim Pica express through song what many of us were thinking.

Scott Eisentrout, Beth Cooke, and Deana Cox enjoy the pleasure of a relaxed atmosphere.

At the head table sit Mr. Wolski, Pam Lehman, and Scott Conrad.

"The Stuff Dreams Are Made Of"

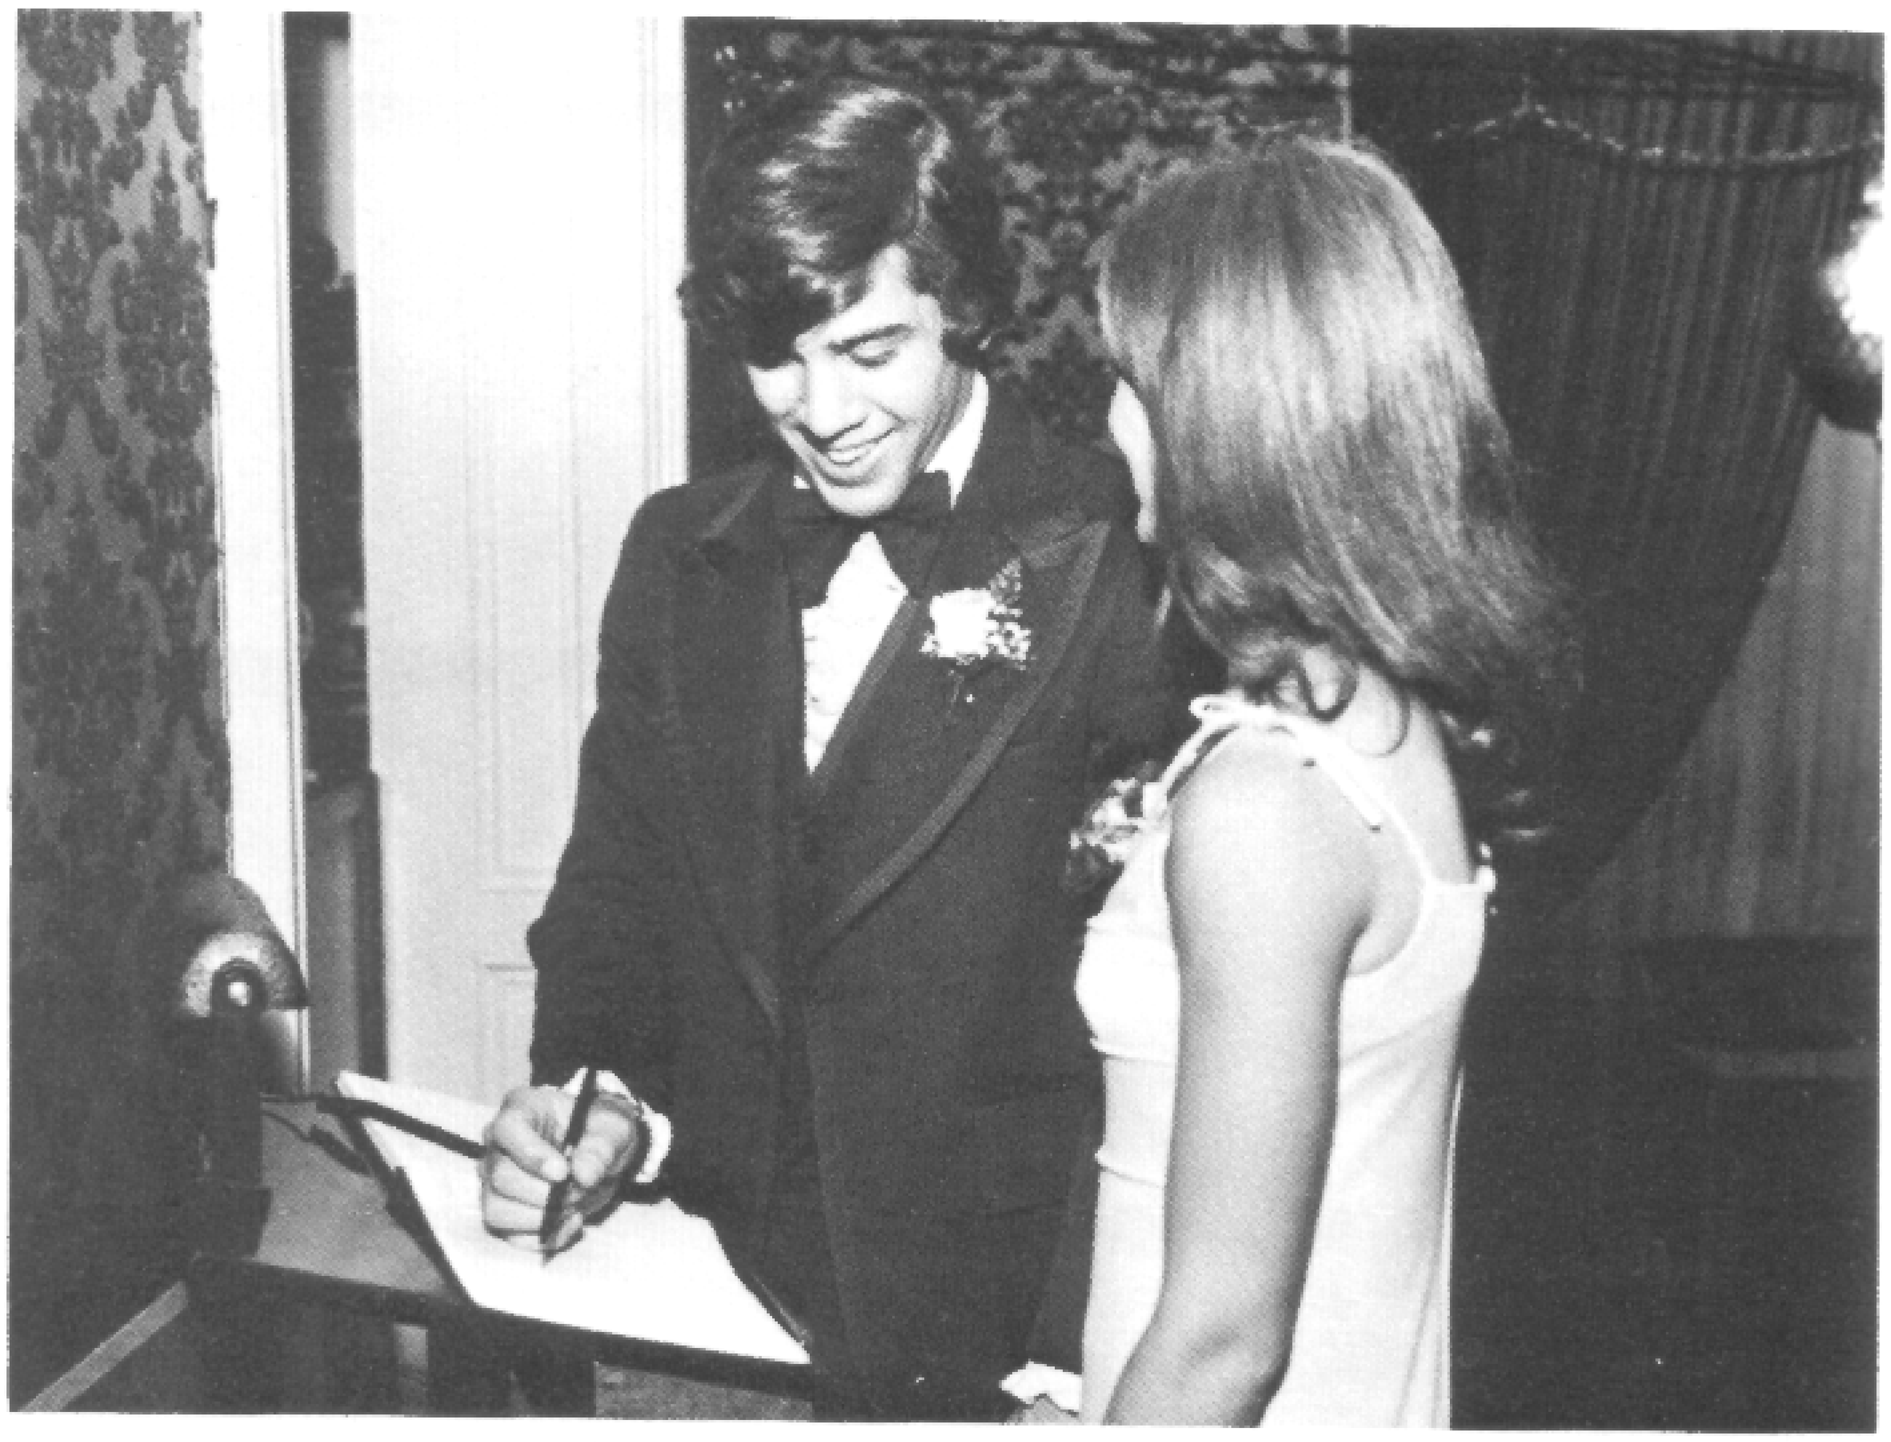
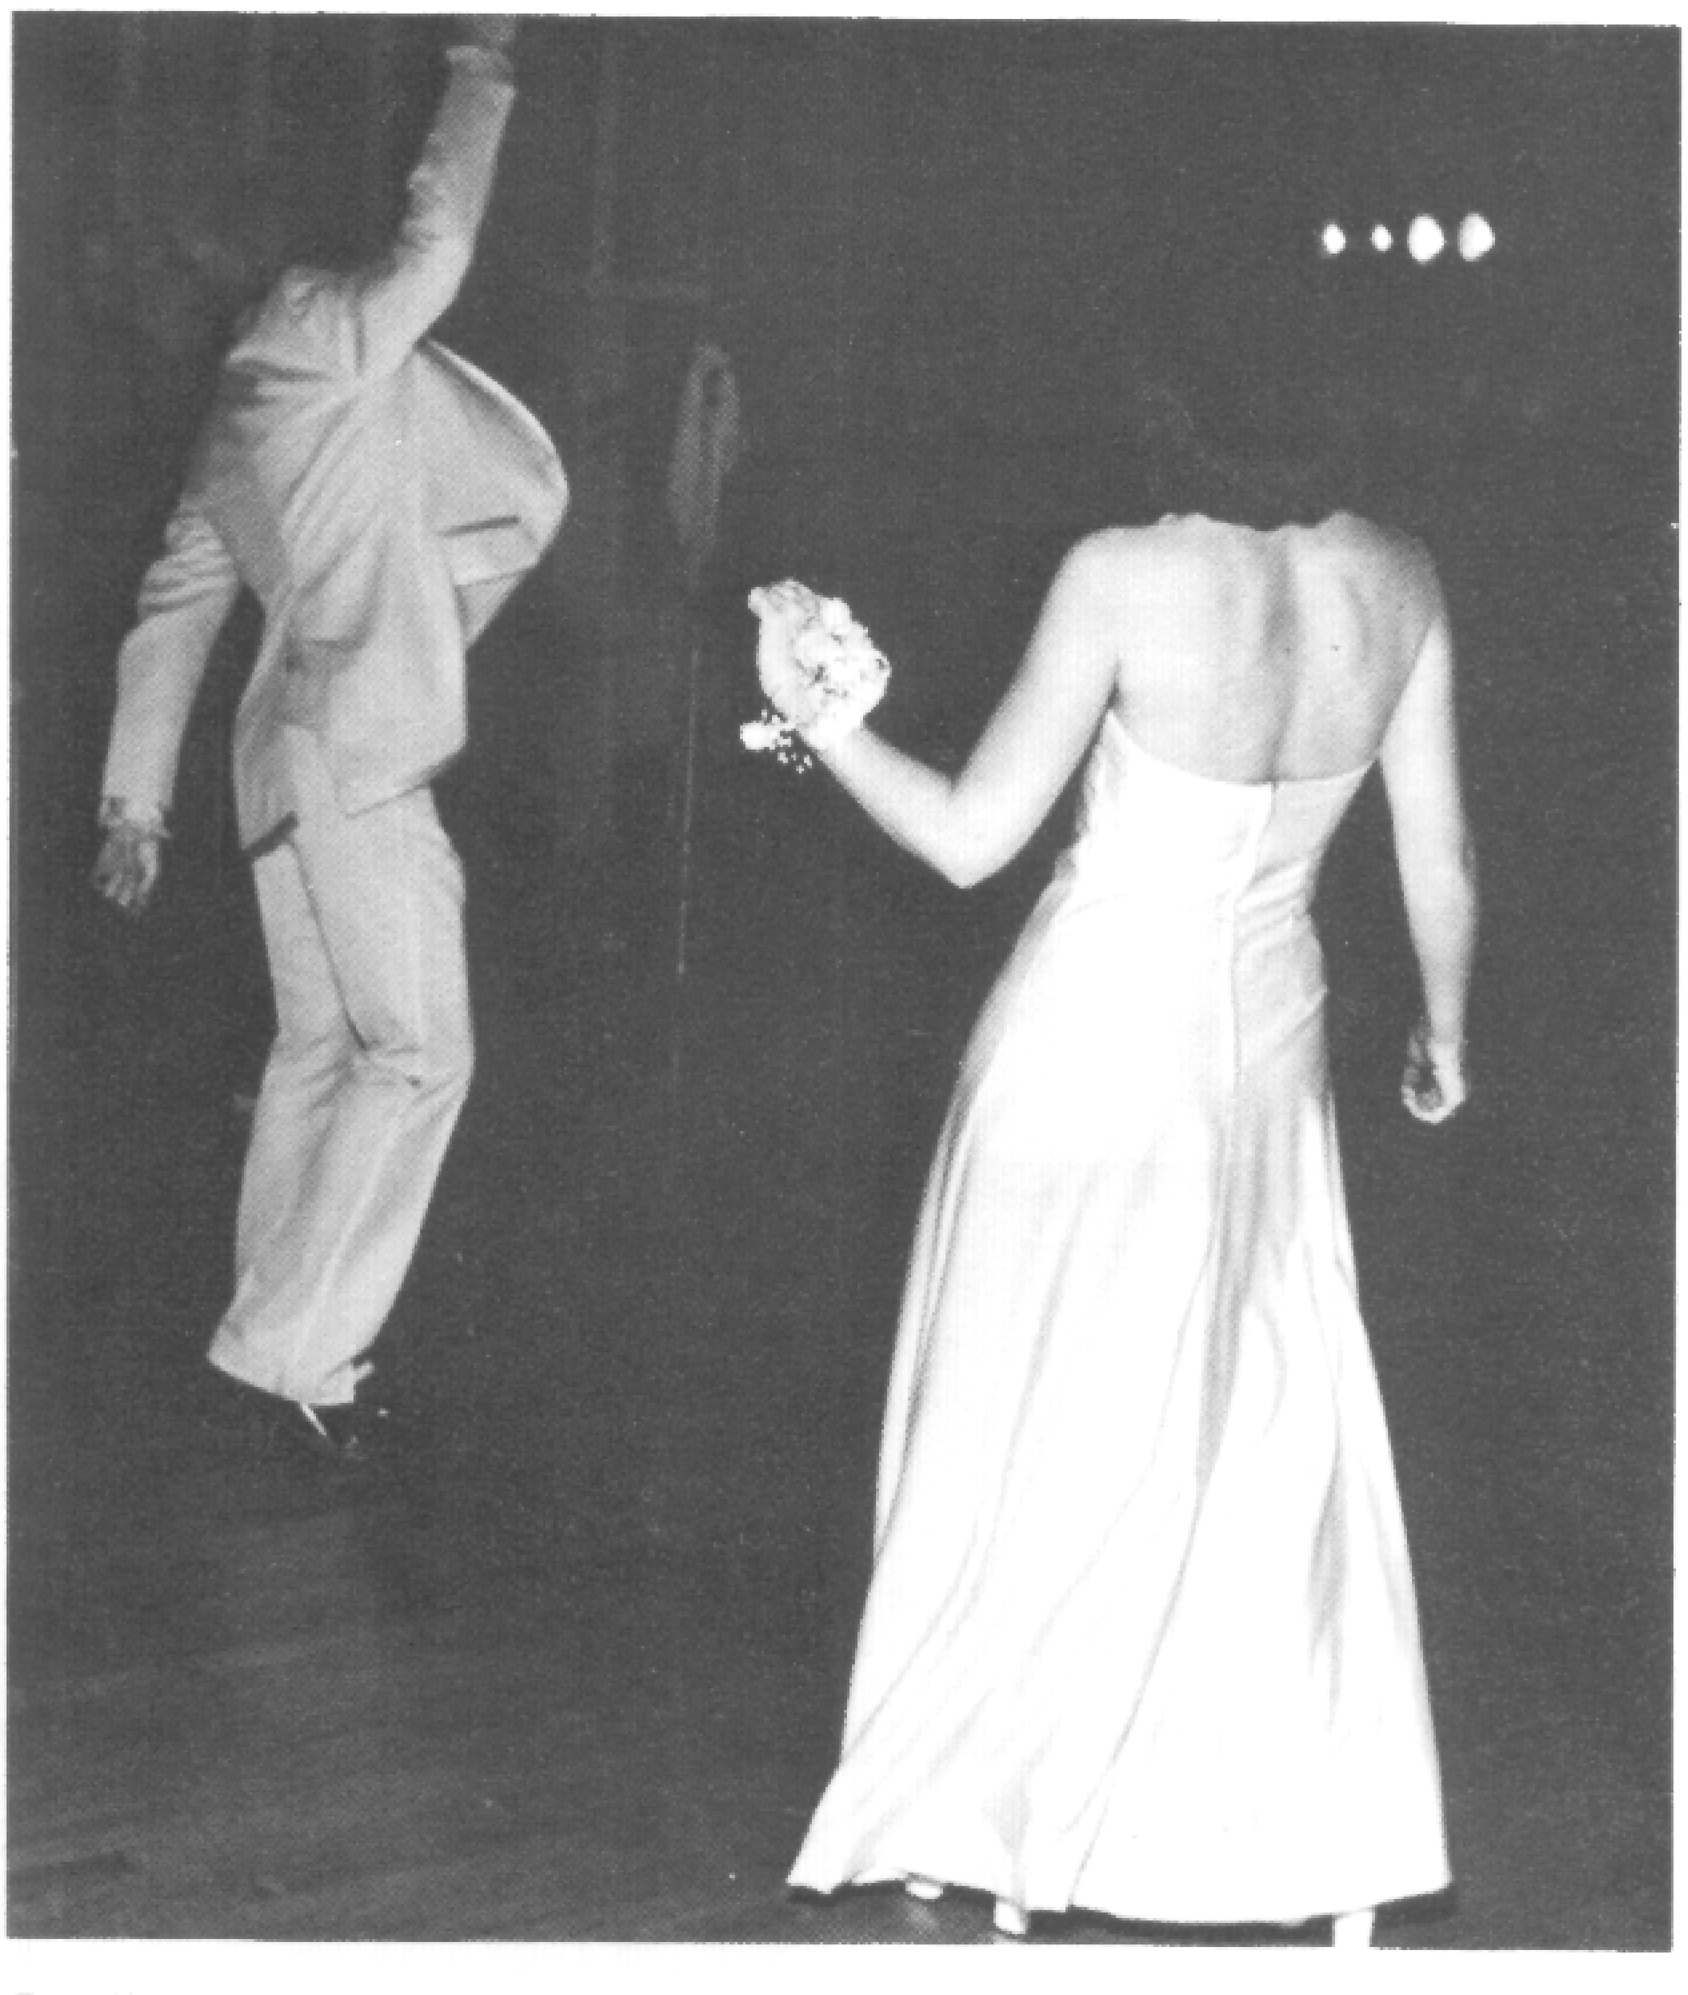
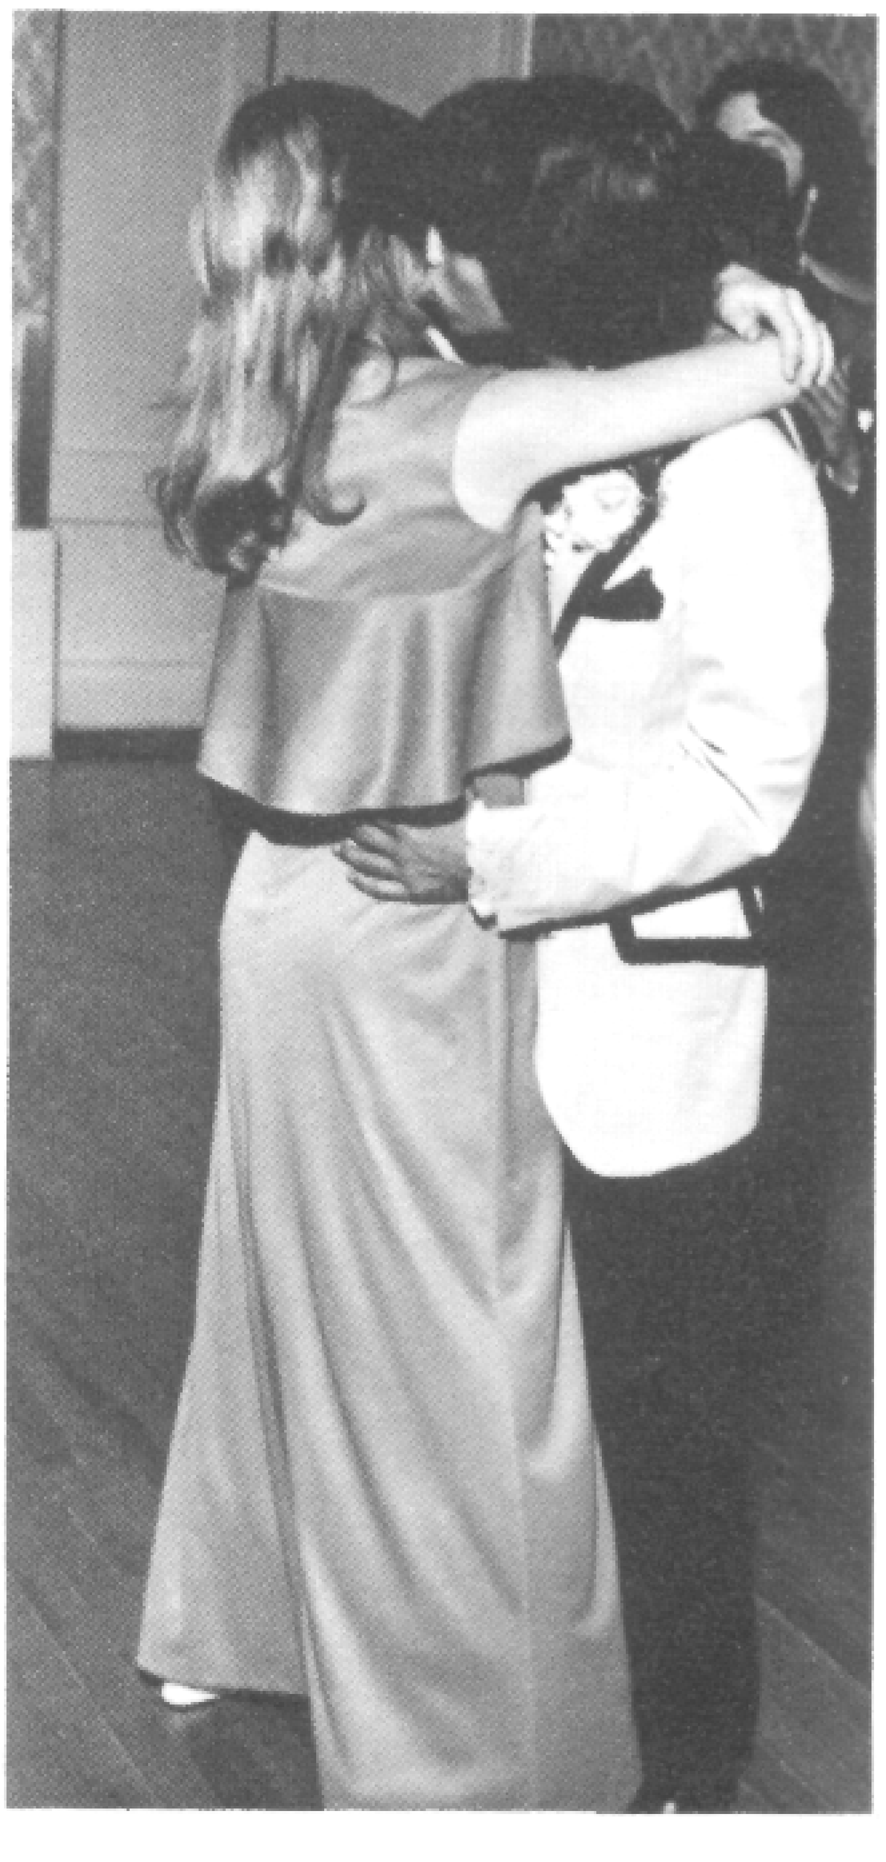
Soft lights, the low murmur of voices, girls in elegant dresses, and boys in tuxedos with ruffled shirts produced the mystic ambience that makes proms the focus of high school dreams and memories. The beat of SHAKE, the band that played at the University Club for us, provided excellent music to dance by. Good company and a relaxed atmosphere made the evening of May 27th special.

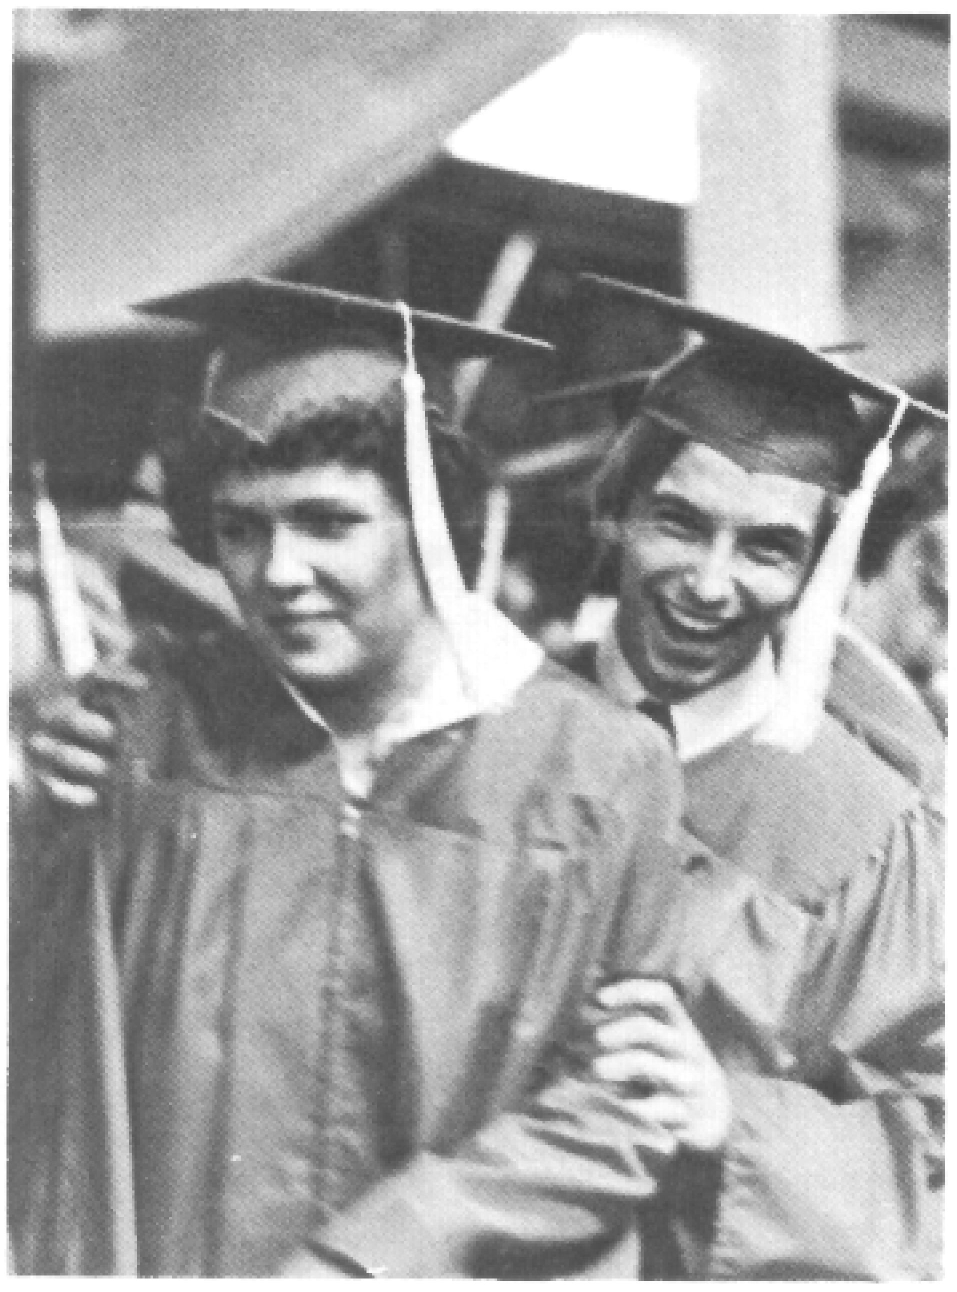


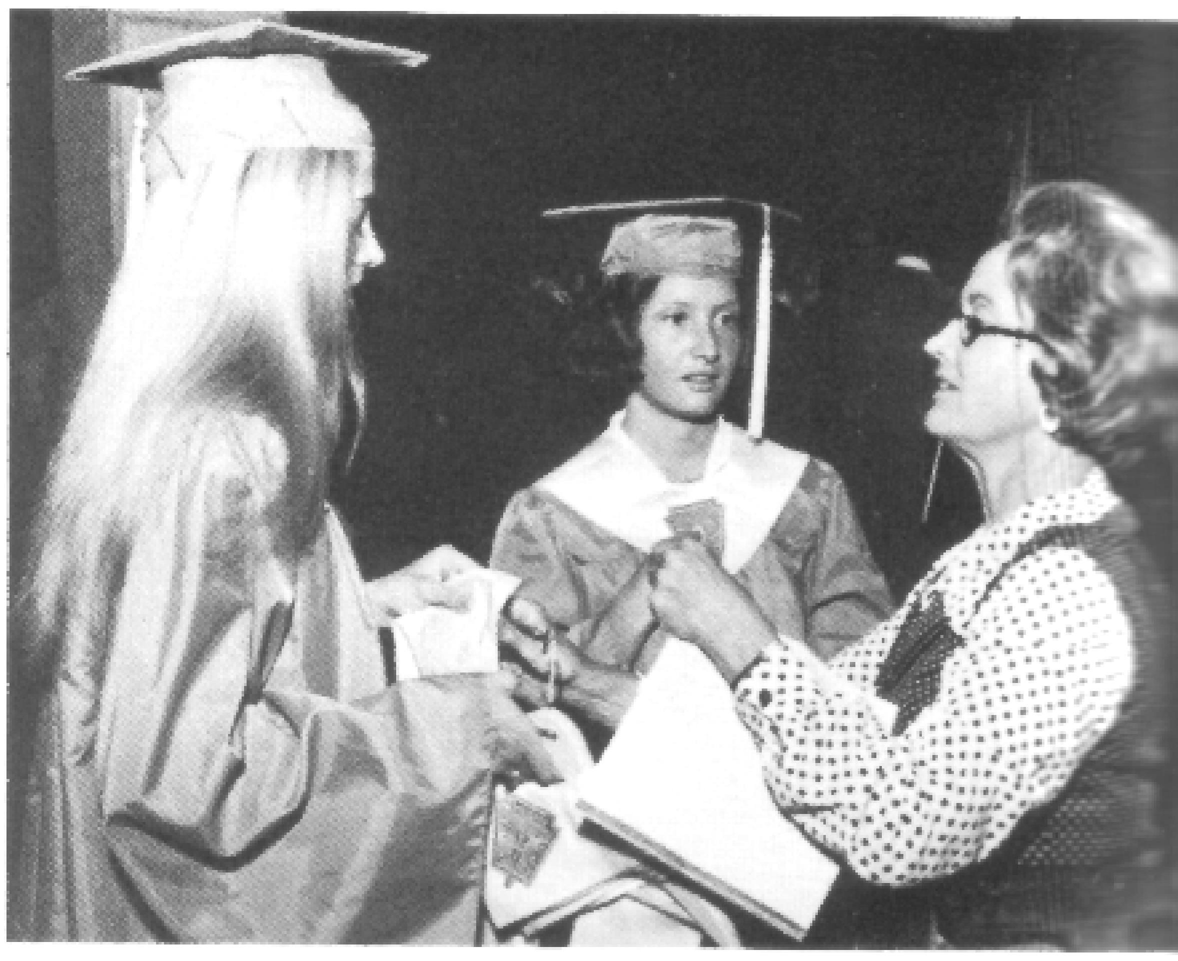
The Senior Prom, along with the banquet, was essentially the purpose for all the money-making projects we devised as juniors. We sold candy by the trucks-loads. We sold hotdogs and hot chocolate during the football season and candy and popcorn during the basketball games. T-shirt sales and bake sales were a part of that total amount also. Was it worth it?

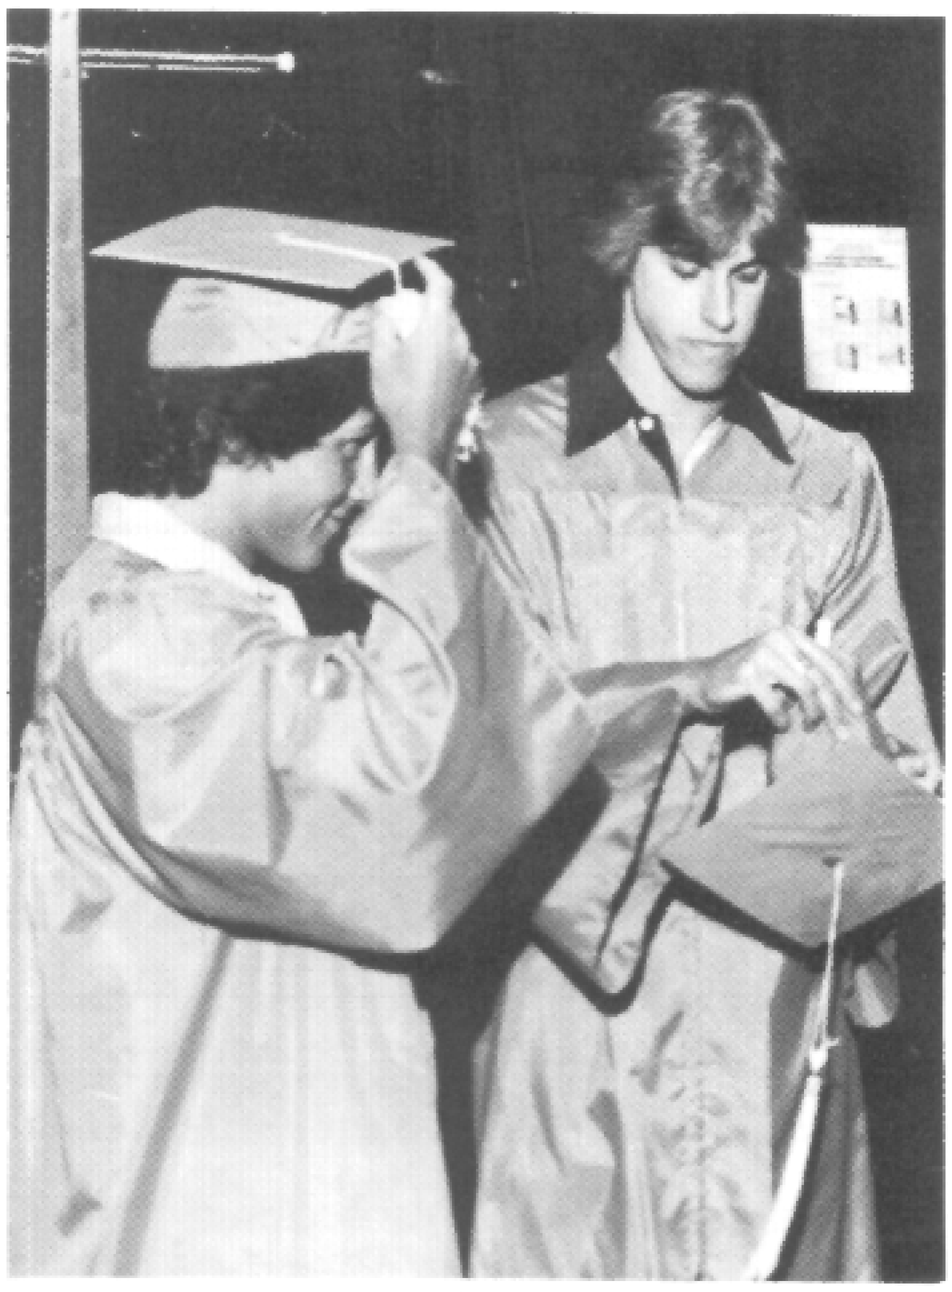


Swirling skirts play patterns with light and music; deep feelings become visual, and happiness shapes smiles. This moment of time will never be forgotten.









Shaking hands
Saying hello
Congratulating friends
Adjusting robes
Combing hair
Lining up two by two
Laughing for joy
Crying for sadness
Listening to friends
Marching to "Pomp and Circumstance"
Walking straight
Feeling proud
Listening to speeches
Taking the diploma
Saying "Thank You"
Shaking more hands
Lifting the tassle
Marching together
Saying the last goodbyes
Standing in confusion
Thinking this is . . .

A Time To Remember

Dear Friend,

The time has come to say good-bye to you and to all the years we've spent together. Knowing you has been an enriching experience, one that I'll never forget. We began as children, we have grown and matured together, and now we are leaving as young adults.

Perhaps this is the last time I will see you. No matter how many years and miles pass, you will remain close in my memories. Whether this is the end to your formal education or just a stepping-stone, I wish you much success and happiness.

Farewell

é tempo di dire arrivederci

In the variety show Roberta sang an Italian song "Buonanotte." Those who heard Roberta will recall the haunting beauty of the song: Buonanotte questa notte per te.

Hi! This is me and I want to write you thousands times thank you for all the good times I had this year in school _ I just loved your activities, your friendship and all your smiles in the hall to me _

Thank you so much, I felt more in a family than in a school and it's for this reason that I'll never forget this year with you _

Italy is not too far away so when ever you are around there, please come to find me. I would like to hear news from you, from all the Revere's world!

Love:

Roberta

MADE IN ITALY

SMILE!

P.S. A special thank you to the Revere Band and its director, I had unbelieveble fun watching the marching band during the football season and listening to their music during my 4th period study hall - I just loved it! FANTASTIC!

P.P.S.S. Here is my address:

ROBERTA FIORI
VIA LOCCHI 12

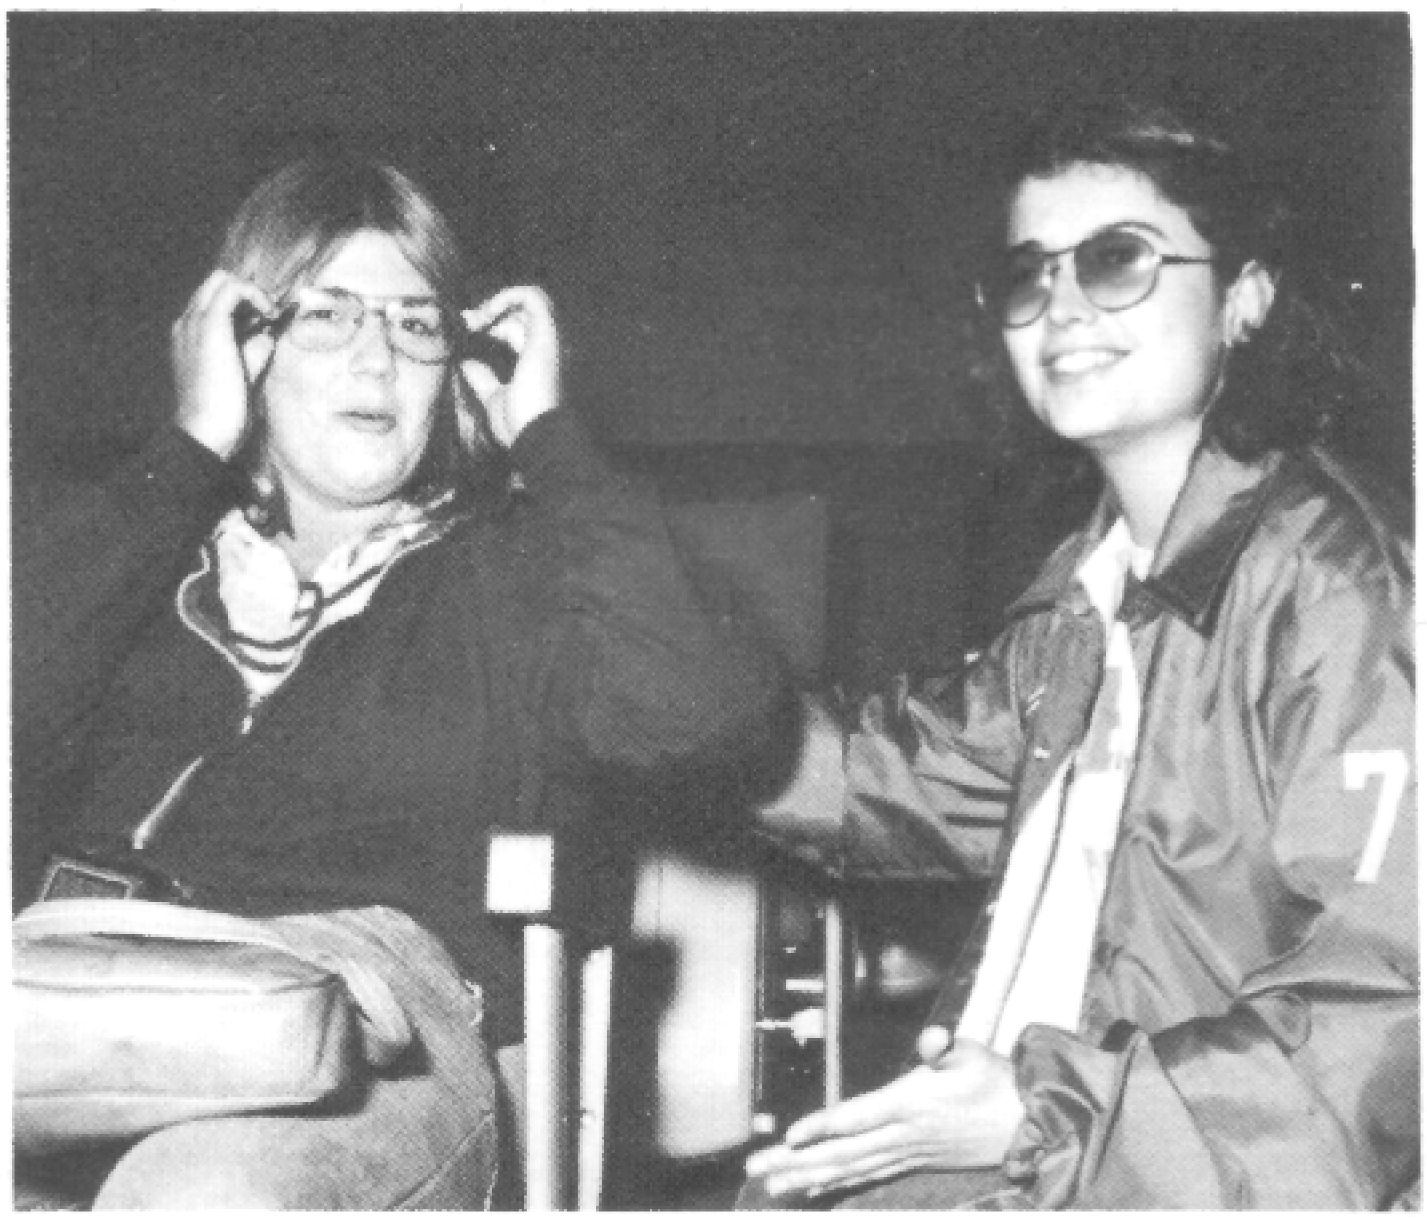
CIAO!

An AFS family can become just as close as a real family. When Roberta was a member of the homecoming court, Dr. Ramp was pleased and proud for his proxy daughter.



Outgoing and gregarious, Roberta has made many new friends at Revere who will remember her sense of humor while she was trying to learn strange American customs.

The Revere Schools Are On The Move!

Mr. J. David Klingensmith, who was named the new superintendent of the Revere school district at the board of education meeting on May 19, 1977, voiced the opinion that "exciting things have happened and will continue to happen in our schools."

One change in administration was the appointment in January of Eileen Fisher to the important position of clerk-treasurer of the board. Mr. Peter Allison continued his tasks as service affairs coordinator, and the staff functioned efficiently with Marsene Parker as executive secretary; Mildred Robertson as secretary; and Lois Stalnaker as switch board operator.

Attending Awards Night on May 26th, Mr. Klingensmith was impressed at the high level of achievements of the students in scholarship, the performing and pictorial arts, and extra-curricular activities. He vowed added emphasis on student competition in the academics and the arts, and he promised staff recognition for superior performance.

One of the Board of Education's most important and difficult responsibilities was the choosing of a new superintendent. They realized that this selection might have a greater impact on our schools than any other single board decision. To advise and assist them in this important decision the board retained the firm of SRI Perceiver Academies of Lincoln, Nebraska as a consultant. Through SRI and its nationwide coverage, a broader field of candidates was possible. Initial screening and verification was performed by SRI personnel who have expertise in this area and who can interview candidates in locations in all areas of the United States. Then top candidates were presented to the board by SRI in March, In April top candidates were interviewed and, finally, at the board's meeting on May 19th Mr. J. David Klingensmith, acting superientendent, was named superintendent.

Backing their new superintendent, Joan Devendorf, president of the Board of Education and Dr. James Grow, vice-president, Richard Moore, Robert Reinthal, and Eleanor Viall continue to be "keenly aware of our responsibilities to the community and determined to reach the standard of excellence for Revere schools that is our common goal."

A New Principal Ushers In The New Year.

"This school year has been a very rewarding one for me," remember Mr. Jim Wilkins the week after his first year as principal of Revere High School. "Many students have exemplified themselves as concerned, caring human beings. We have won a number of honors in the area of extra-curricular activities, and scholastic and sports competition. Both joyful victory and agonizing defeat have always been sprinkled liberally with good humor and kindness. I am very proud to have shared a part of the student' lives."

Sharing administrative duties with Mr. Wilkens, Mr. Gordon Knapp, assistant principal, while recognizing increased tardiness and absenteeism, and problems in the parking lot, found '76-'77 a typical school year even with changes in administration responsibilities.

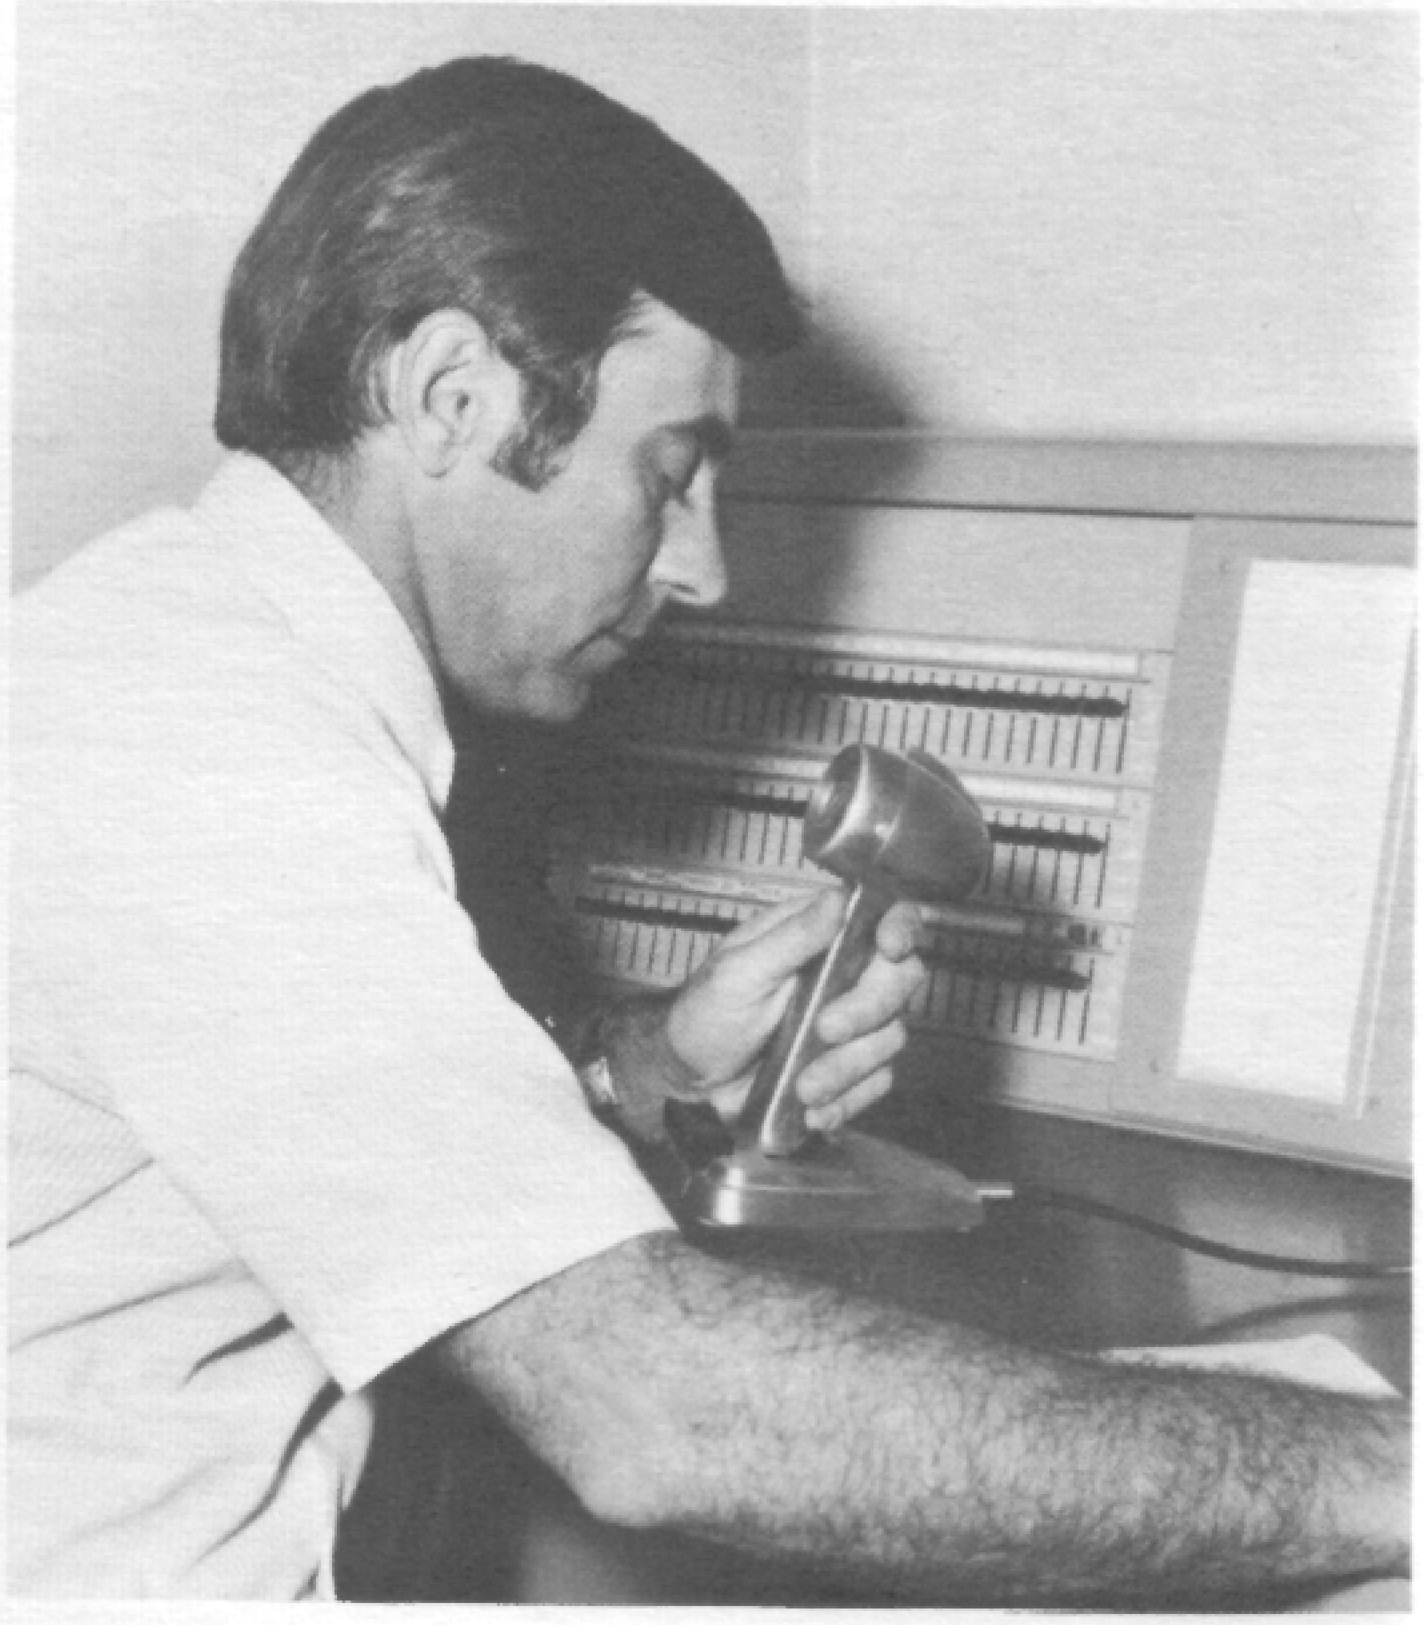
Working with curriculum and helping to schedule next year's classes for the first time, Mr. Ed Wolski, assistant principal, could only comment with a rueful laugh, "It's been a very, very busy year."

Yes, teachers, administrators, and secretaries were busy determining course objectives for all courses, checking these objectives, and compiling them into printed form for all to see.

Focus of all these activities was the busy, busy school office which is available to all.

Your beloved principal Jim Wilkens has a quick smile because he cares a great deal for you—and you—and you—and—

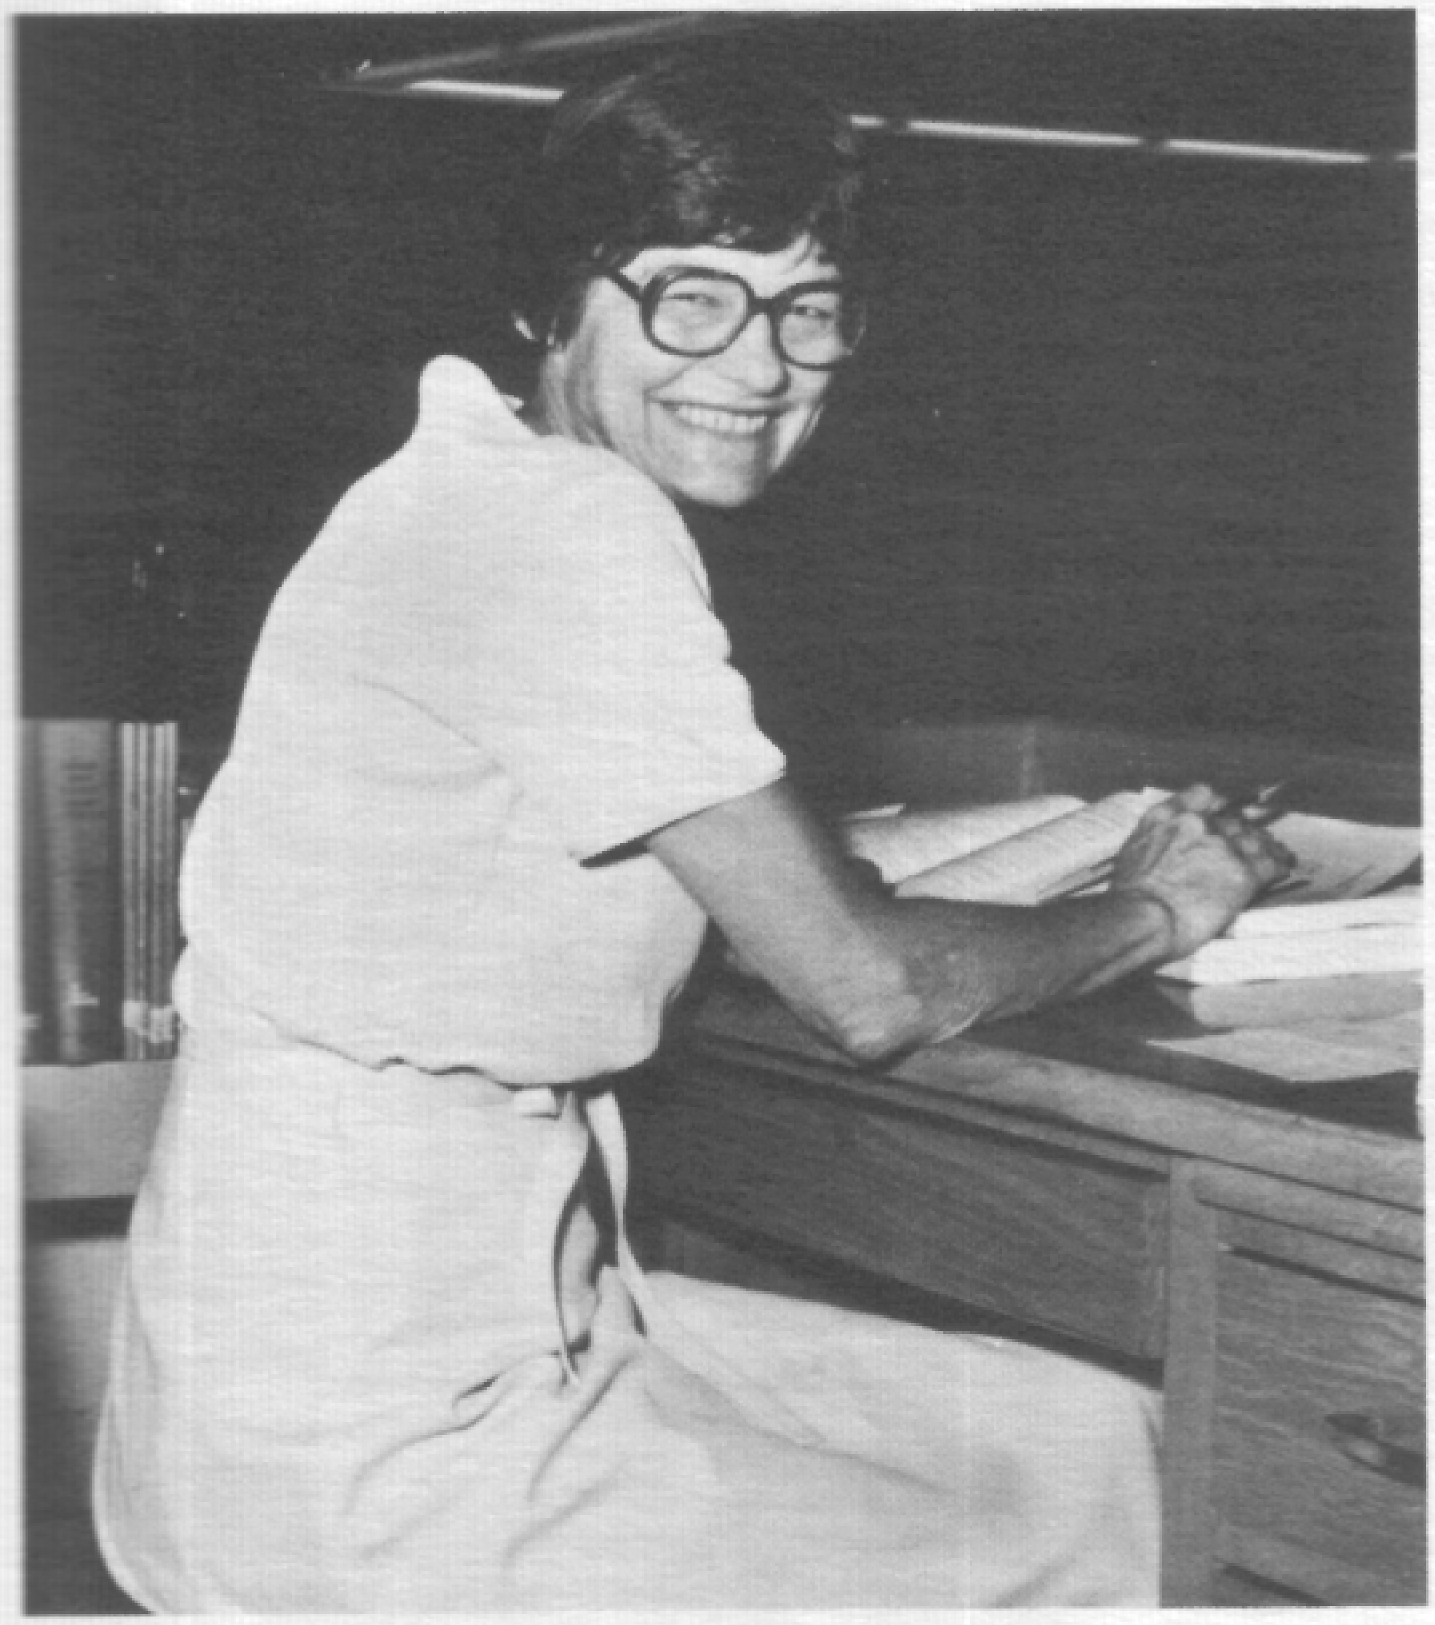
One can always be sure that Mr. Knapp will listen to any story from an offender whether he will believe it or not.



Mr. Wolski's clear, incisive voice seems to compel one's attention for the morning announcements which may tell of meetings, bake sales, cancellations, field trips, and program changes.

Always one more person needs one more thing from Mrs. Ruth Davidson, office secretary, and she never becomes annoyed.

Mrs. Marilyn Berka will never forget the morning the office was filled with balloons—a gift from the seniors—Balloons billowed out of windows and cracked loudly as they broke.



Mrs. Dorothy Shepherd, librarian, finds that the new library in the studio has distinct advantages.

As one of her many duties as assistant librarian, Mrs.Marcene Hartman helps keep abreast of overdue books.

Counseling Pays Off

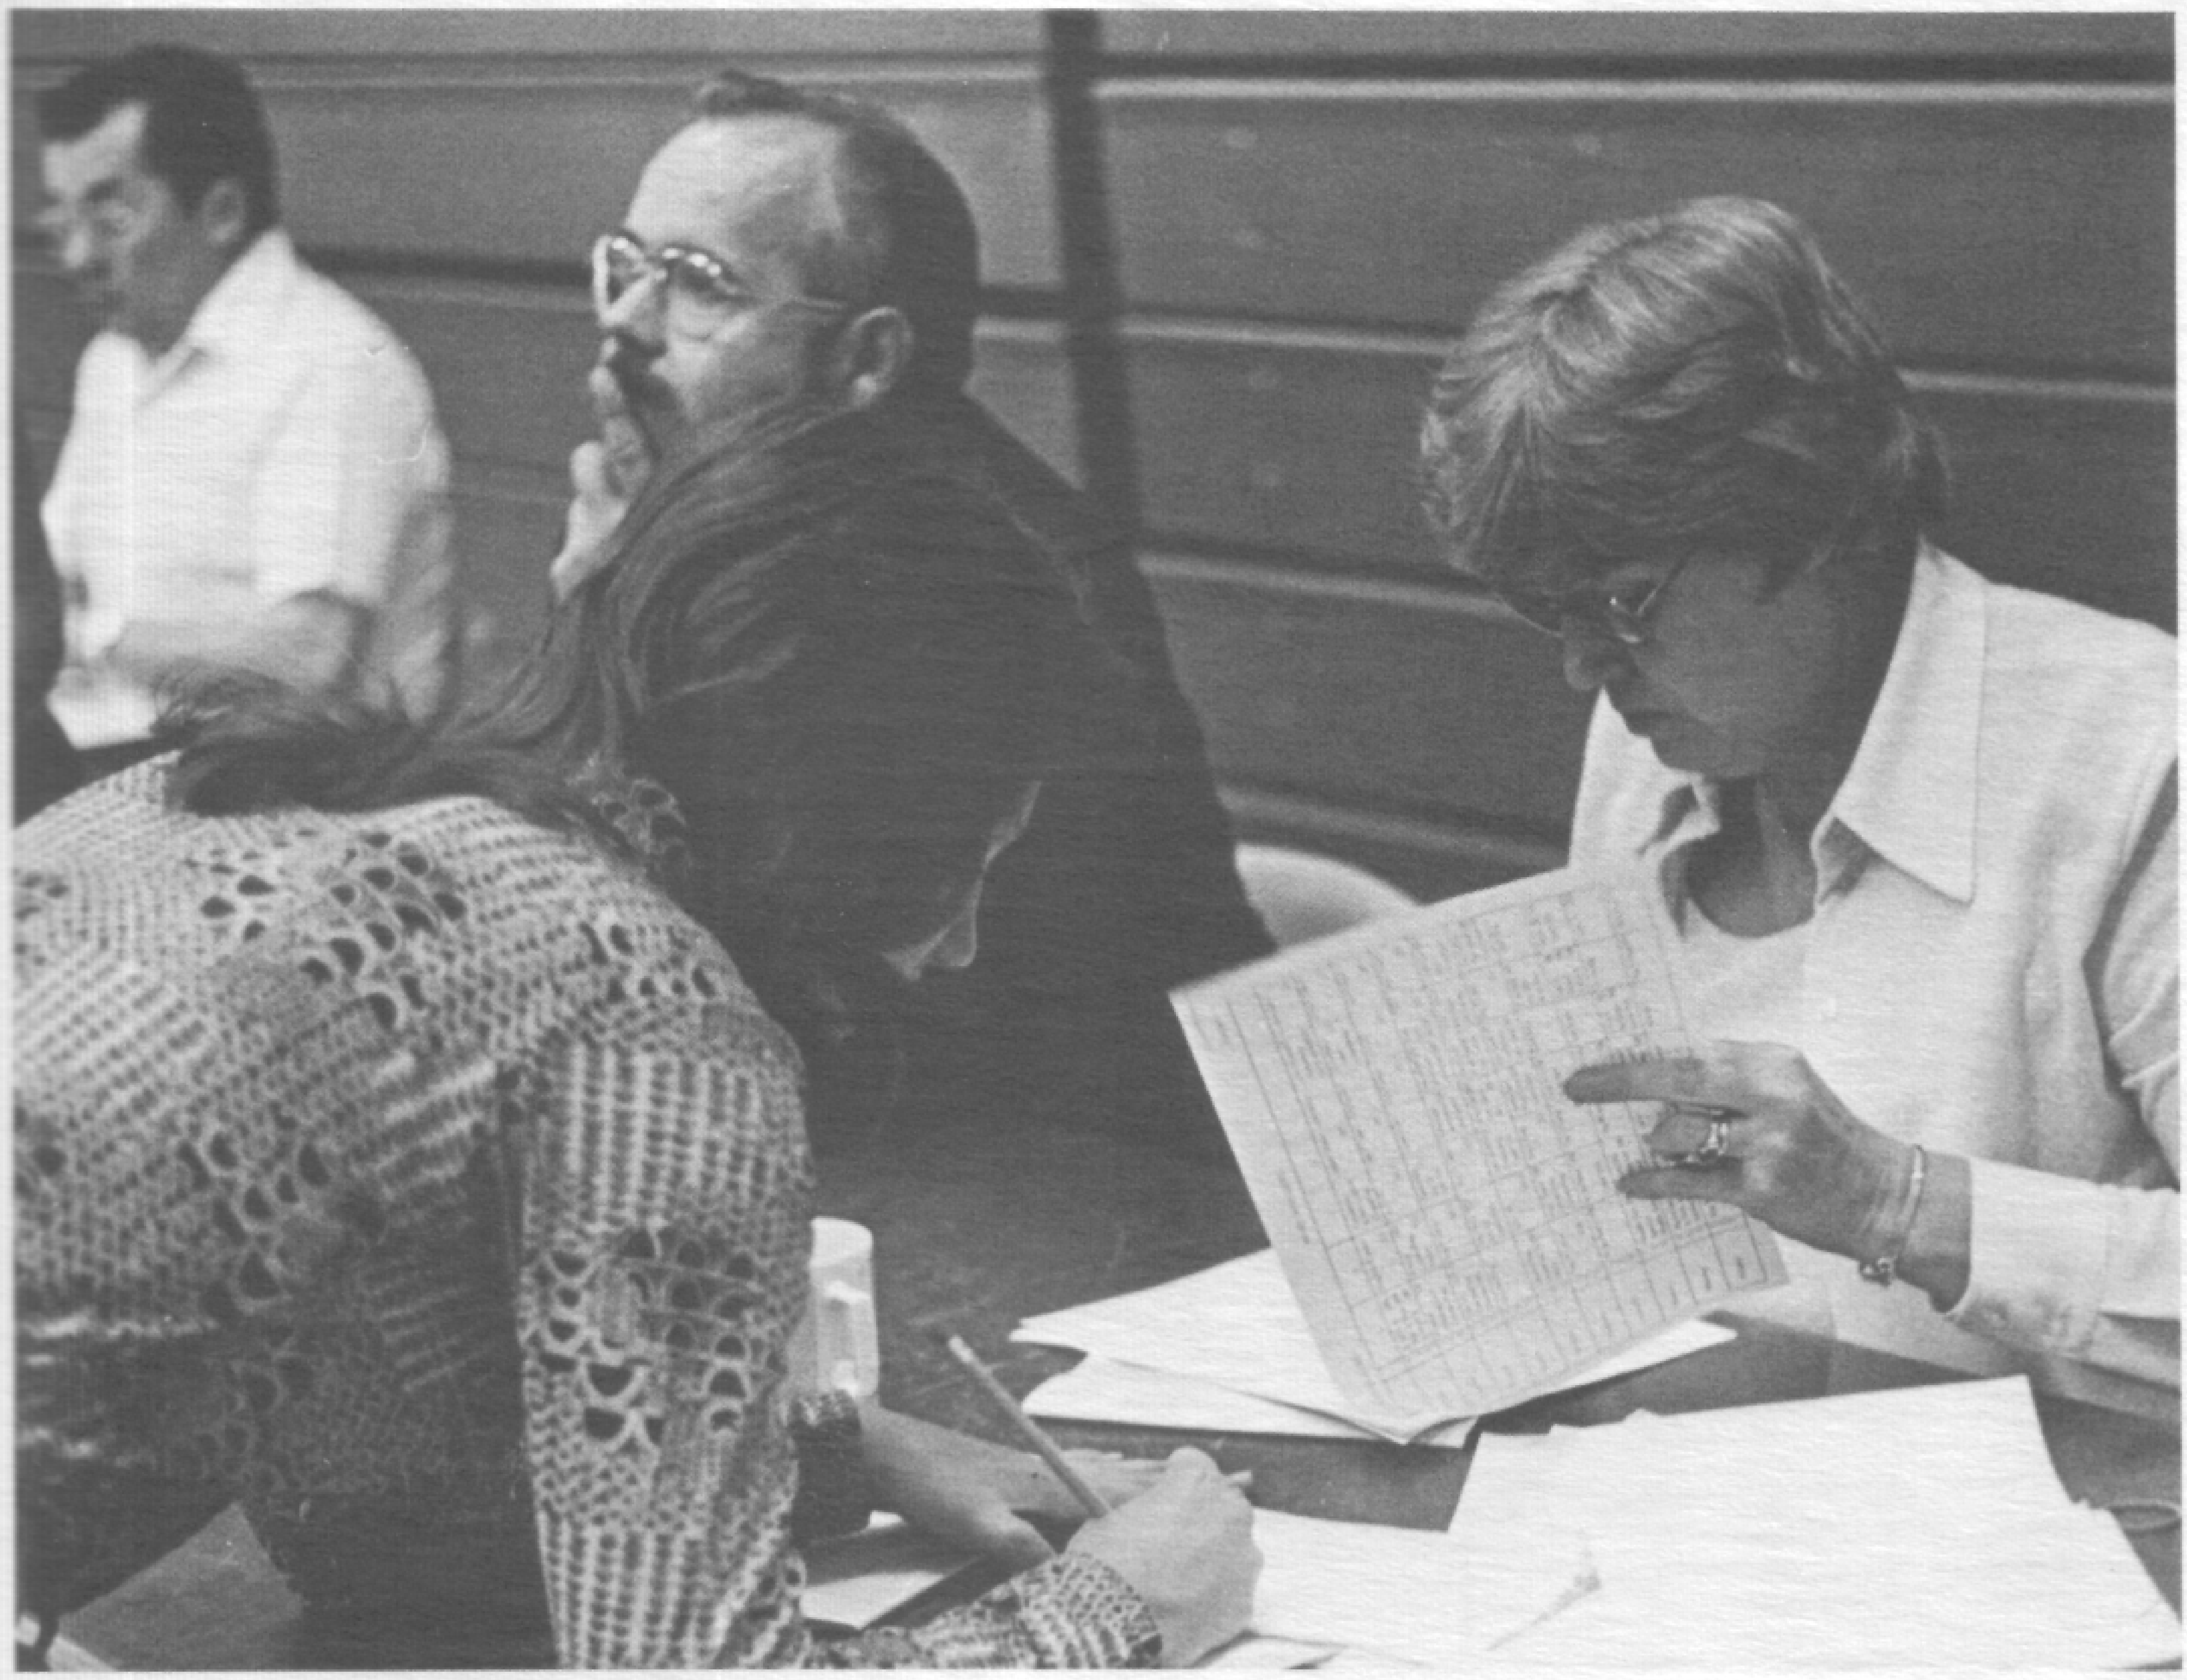
Unlike most schools, Revere's Guidance department cares not only for the very gifted student or the borderline dropout but for all students equally. The hardships imposed by schoolwork, adolescence, or family problems are all prey for the professional counseling advice of George Kungle, Ruth Boscia, and Jerry Fry. Frustrating and perplexing questions about scholastic aptitude tests, college entrance requirements, and grading procedures are challenged and conquered by the counseling staff, giving Revere students a step or two lead on the competition after graduation. All this assistance and the innumerable hours of paperwork is efficiently and cheerfully completed by Mrs. Steffen, a veteran of fourteen years experience at her job.

Mr. Kungle takes a short breather from the heap of demanding papers piling his desk.

Mr. Fry concentrates his attention on a scheduling foul-up during class registration—a trying time for all concerned.

LEFT: Exhibiting the patient smile which makes her a friend to everyone she meets, Mrs. Steffen shows her virtuosity with the IBM typewriter and one of the unending stream of forms and documents that make their way through the Guidance Office.

BELOW: Mrs. Boscia deftly switches classes and juggles schedules for a student caught in the mess of conflicting times. Her sensitivity to students' problems and adeptness at handling delicate matters have earned Mrs. Boscia a high place in student popularity and respect.



Mr. Silas Morse

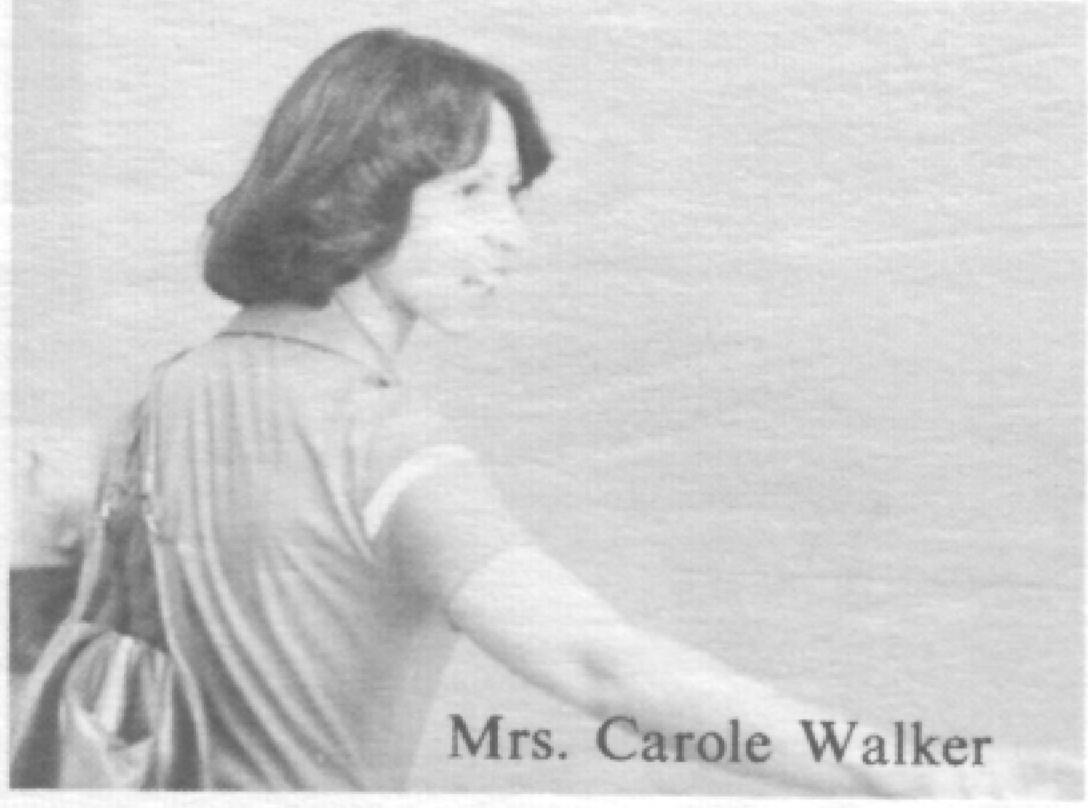
When he is not teaching physics or trigonometry, Mr. Morse is directing and producing a Thespian production. He first became involved with theatrical lighting when he taught at Coventry and each year he has developed innovating ideas through his work here and at the Weathervane Theater.

Mr. Alfred Morse

A keen sense of humor and sincere involvement with students make Mr. Morse's chemistry and IPS classes places of learning and knowledge. Science department coordinator, he is also the coach of the "Academic Challenge" team.

Mr. Sheldon Shimko

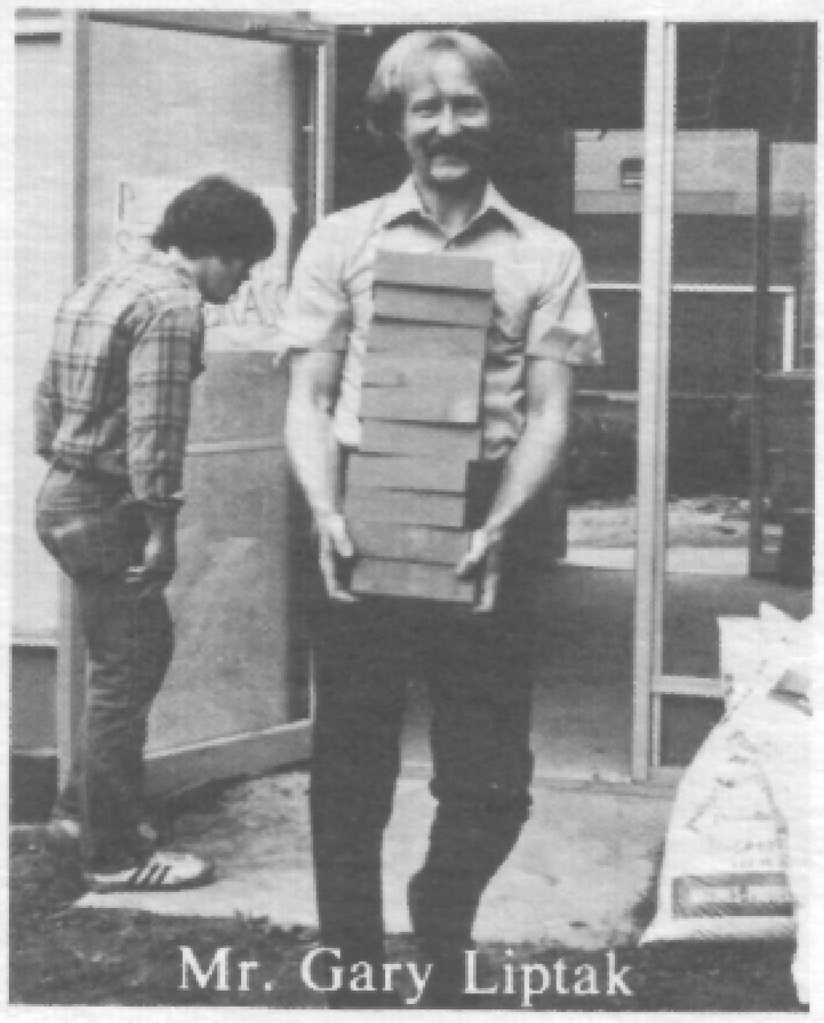
Teaching Algebra I, Parts I and II, as well as being Track and Cross Country coach are only a few of the activities in which Mr. Shimko is involved. He also enjoys rock-collecting, and understandable hobby. How many of us can remember trying to indentify mica from quartz or feldspar in Mr. Shimko's earth science class at Eastview?



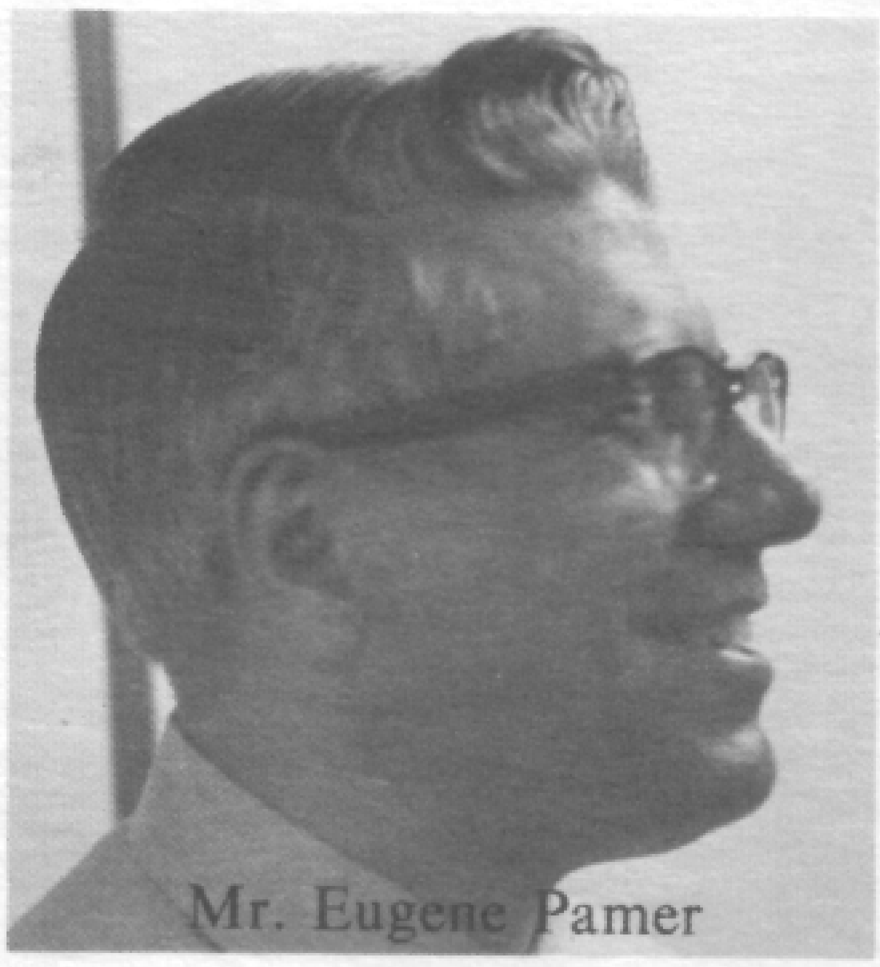
Mrs. Carole Walker

Joining the Revere faculty in 1970, Mrs. Walker teaches both Algebra II and Algebra II Major. She has attended Marygrove College in Detroit, Michigan as well as Kent State University. Also, she has travelled to Europe and Morocco.

A keep interest in the environment is reflected not only in the classes Mr. Liptak teaches (environmental chemistry, chemistry, and biology) but also in her personal life. In his spare time he enjoys canoeing, motorcycling, and backpacking. He has also spent time in Alaska and various wild areas in the West.

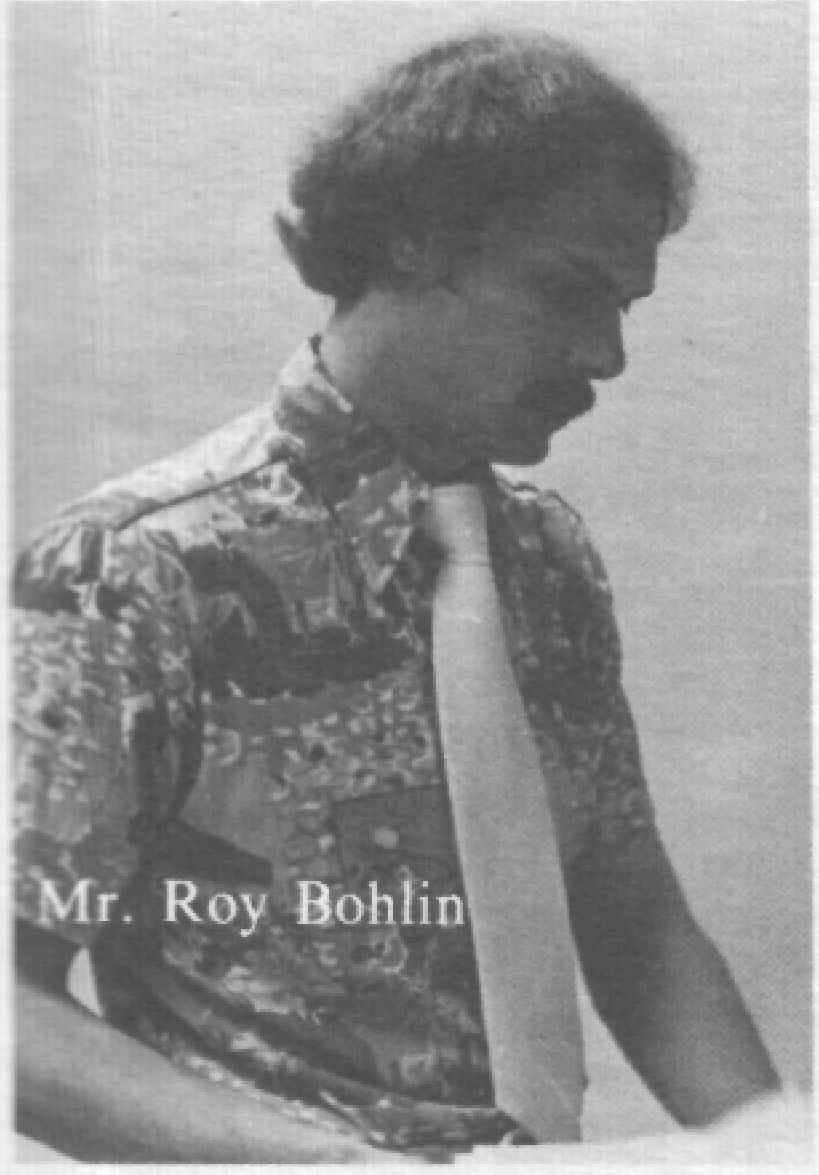


Mr. Gary Liptak



Mr. Eugene Pamer

Since 1960, students of higher mathematics, such as elementary functions and calculus, have been priveleged to study under the excellent tutelage of Mr. Pamer. As the coordinator of the Math Department, he also teaches Algebra I as well as working closely with the computer program at Revere.



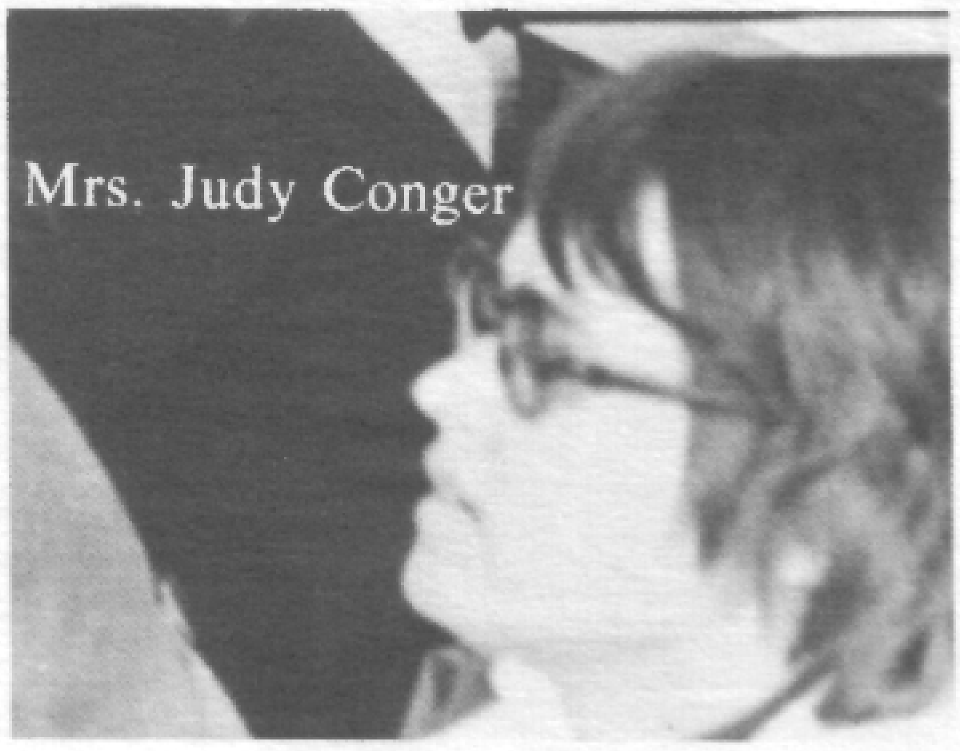
Mr. Roy Bohlin

Mr. Bohlin's motto "Save the Furbish Louseworth" is a natural extension of his involvement in science. Besides teaching both chemistry and environmental science, he is also an intramural advisor and assistant track coach.

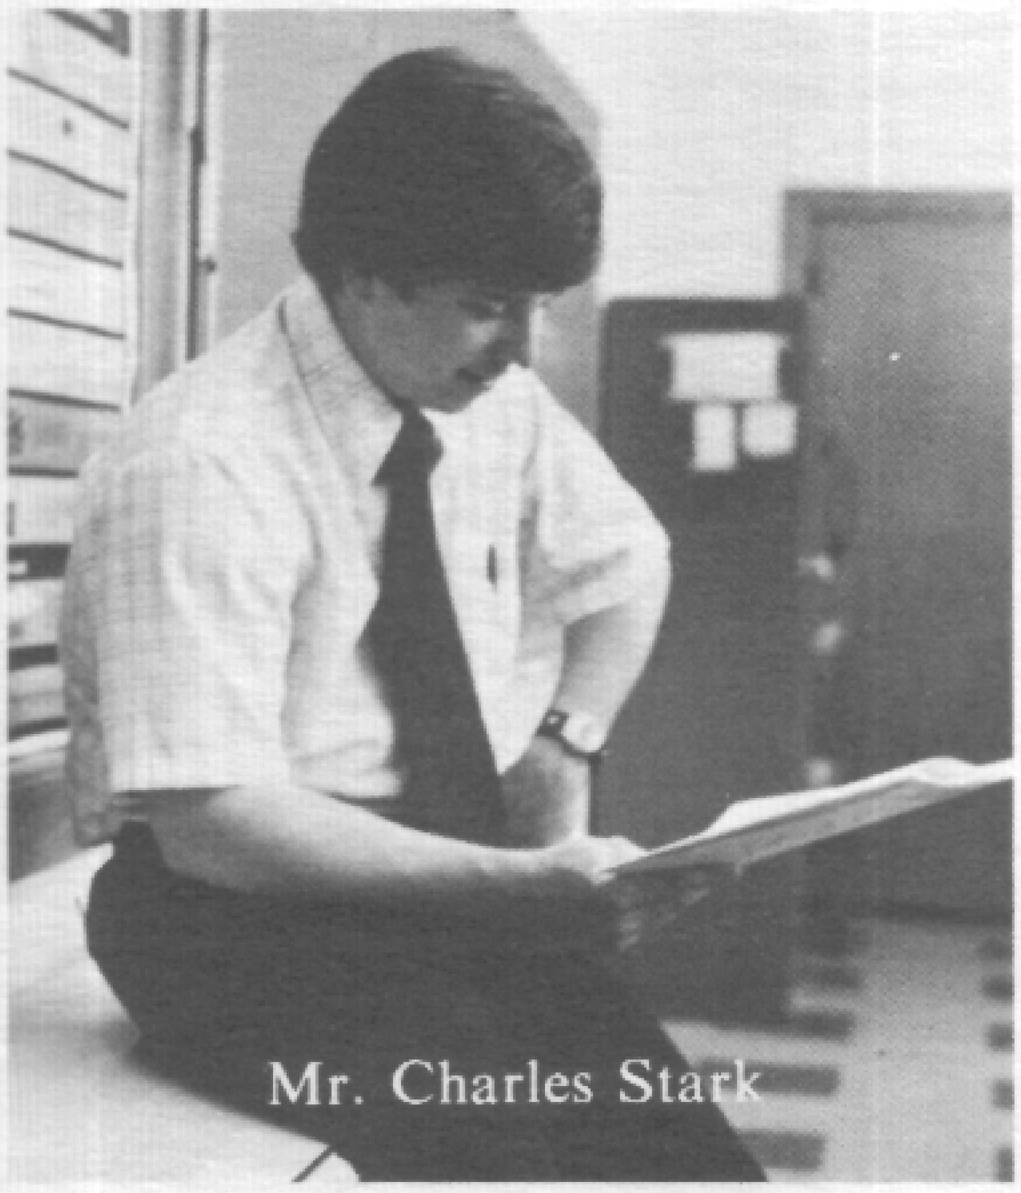
Mr. John Fuller

Although Mr. Fuller teaches several math classes (Algebra I, Part I & II), most of us remember him as the athletic director, doing an excellent job of coordinating all sports at Revere. As if that was not enough to keep him busy, he also employs his time by painting.

Even though Mrs. Conger joined this school system in 1967, it was not until last year when the freshman class joined our ranks that she became a part-time member of Revere's faculty, alternating between Eastview and Revere. This year she is with us all day, teaching classes in both geometry and Geometry Major.

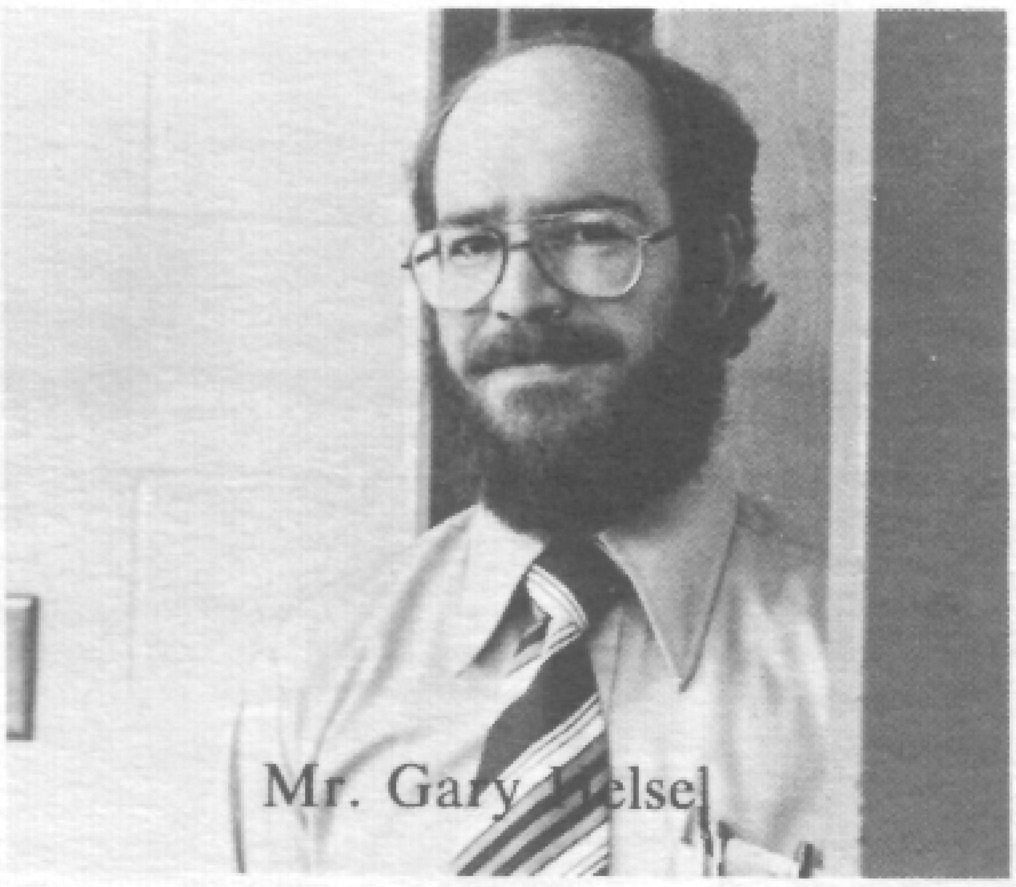


Mrs. Judy Conger



Mr. Charles Stark

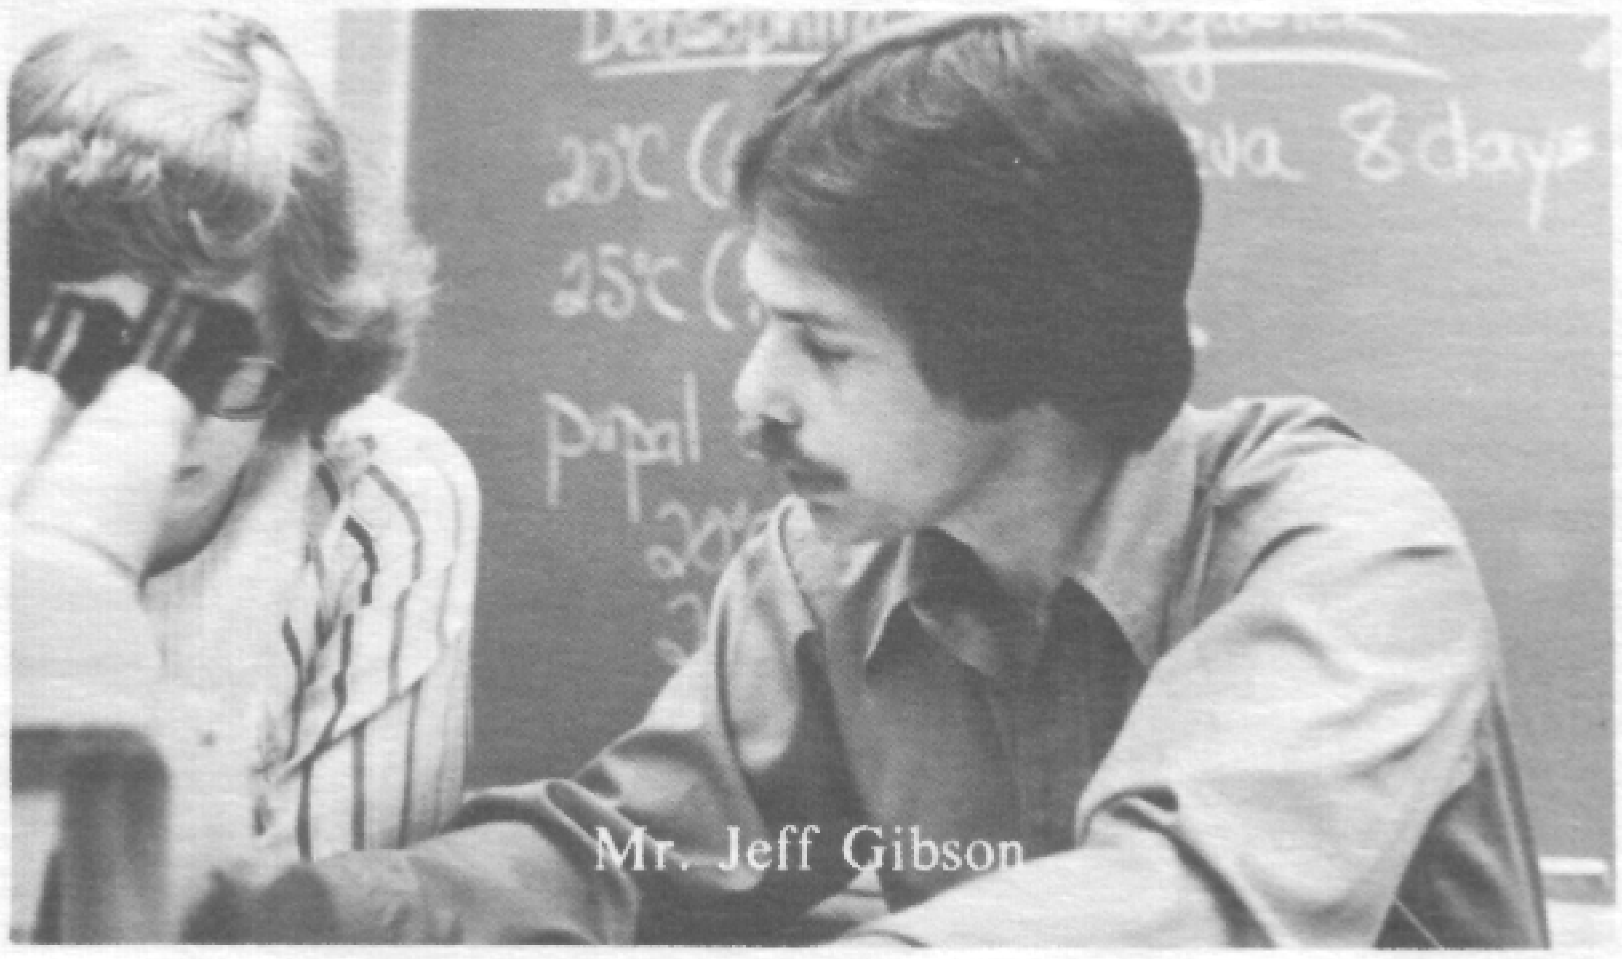
Dividing his time between teaching Introductory Physical Science and Practical Science and his job as security at the Coliseum, Mr. Stark still finds time and energy to be varsity baseball coach.



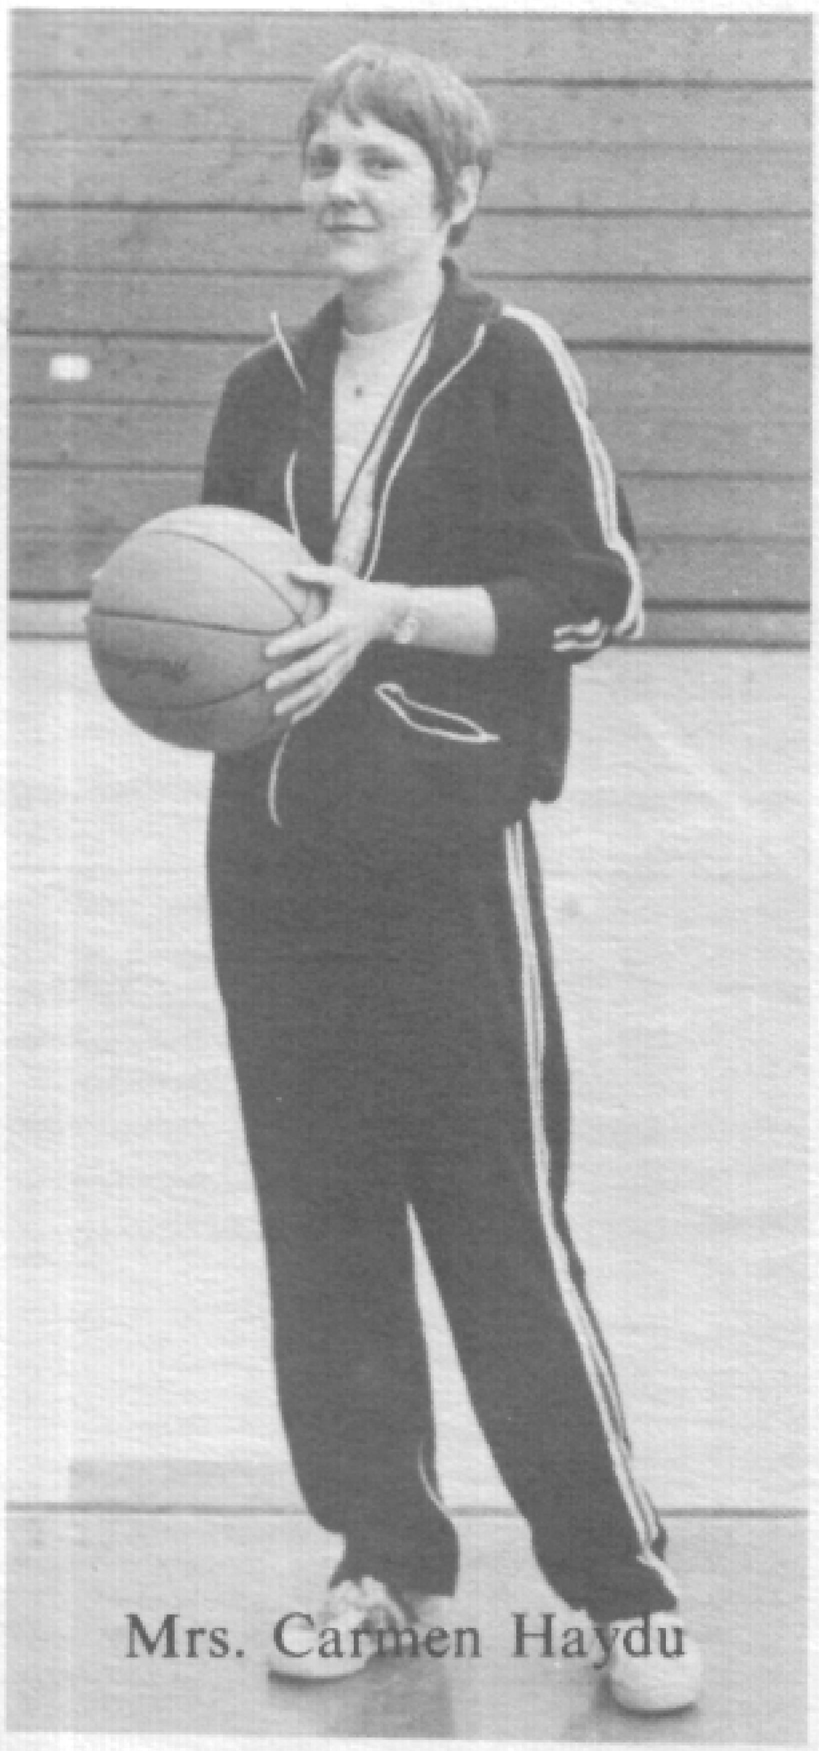
Mr. Gary Helsel

Teaching geometry and chemistry, Mr. Helsel has given us much to remember. Who can forget SOH - CAH - TOA, HIOAG (High-oh, Silver!), and his motto, "Do unto others, then run like crazy"? Mr. Helsel is also the sophomore class advisor,.

Breeding Drosophila Melanogaster (fruit flies) and dissecting fetal pigs are not the only joys of teaching biology, as Mr. Gibson can attest. One summer he worked at the water quality laboratory in Cleveland where he studied parasitic diseases of fish. Mr. Gibson is also the junior varsity baseball coach.

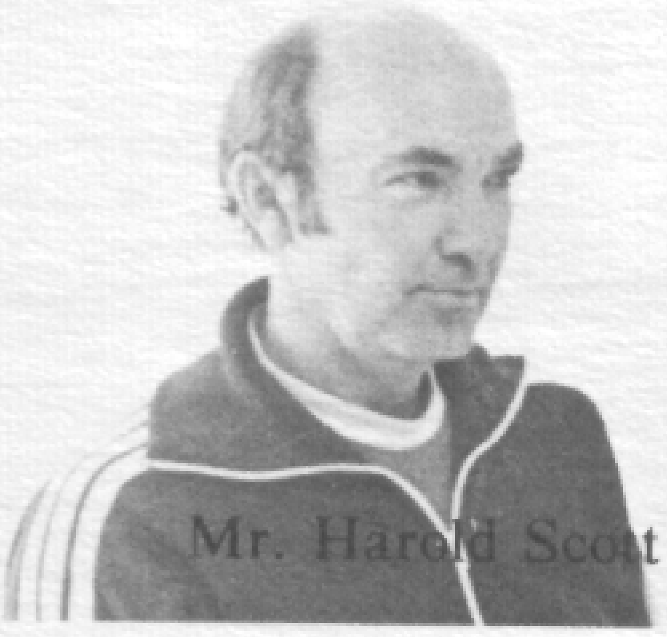


Mr. Jeff Gibson



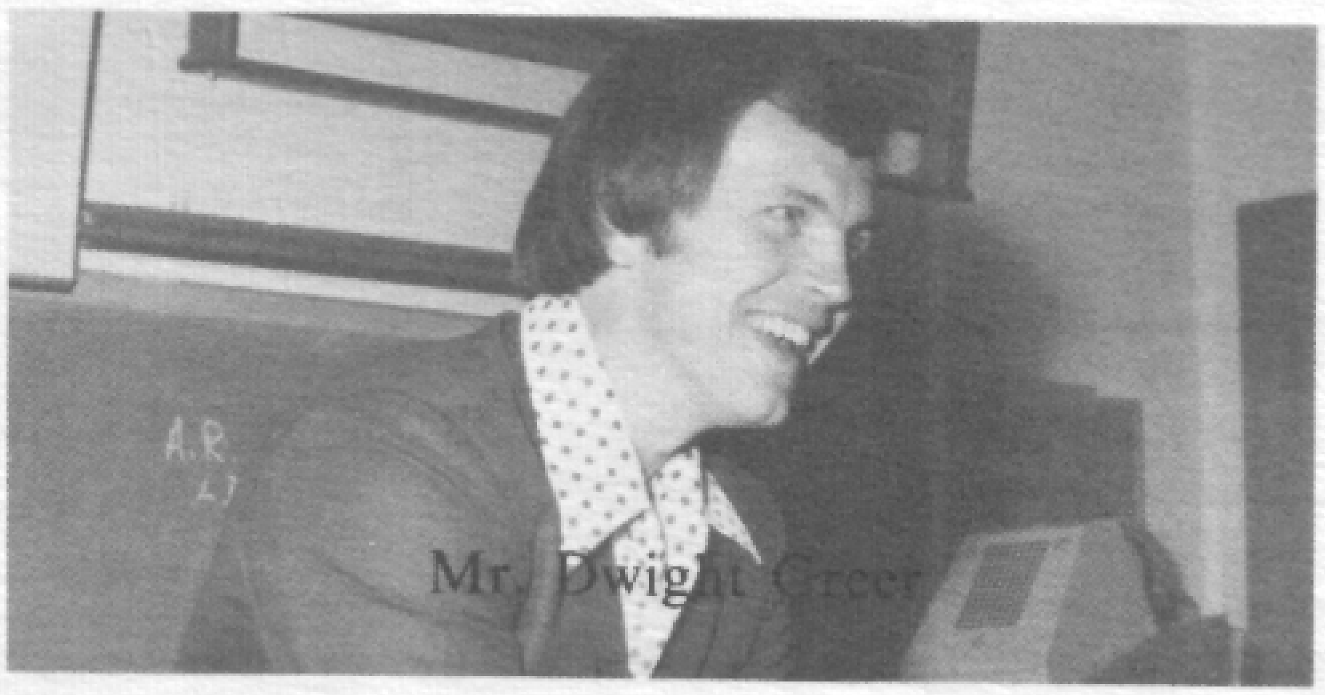
Mrs. Carmen Haydu

Seldom seen without a basketball or volleyball in her hands, coach Carmen Haydu takes a moment's pause from one of her physical education classes.



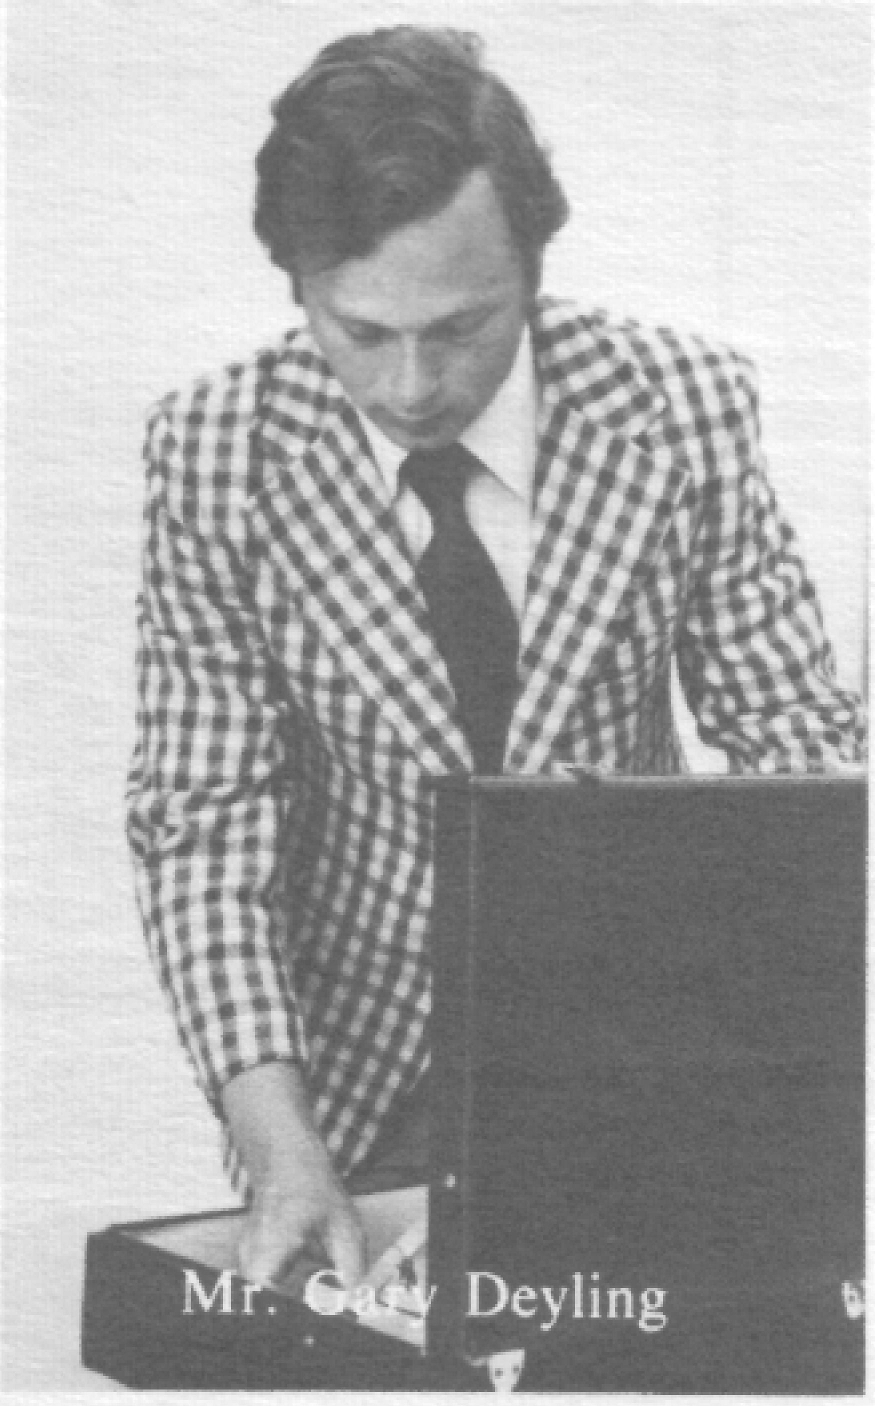
Mr. Harold Scott

Since Mr. Scott is responsible for the gym classes, especially freshman physical education, he is the first contact many students have with the athletic program at Revere.



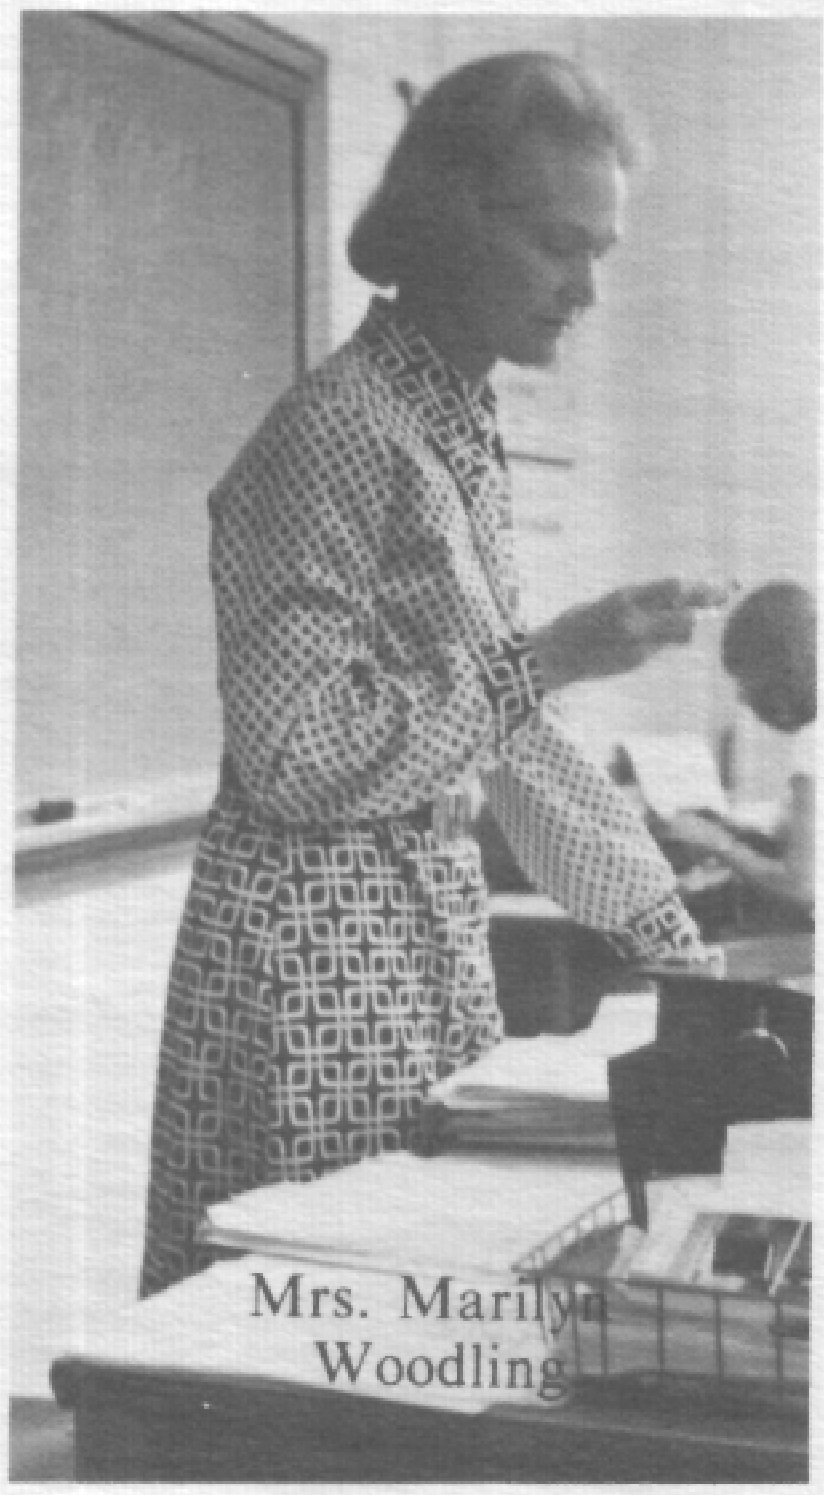
Mr. Dwight Greer

His motto "Preparation is the key to success" is well utilized by basketball and golf coach Dwight Greer in both his coaching and his accounting and typing classes.



Mr. Gary Deyling

Hunting for some job opportunity literature, Mr. Deyling prepares for one of his Distributive Education classes.



Mrs. Marilyn Woodling

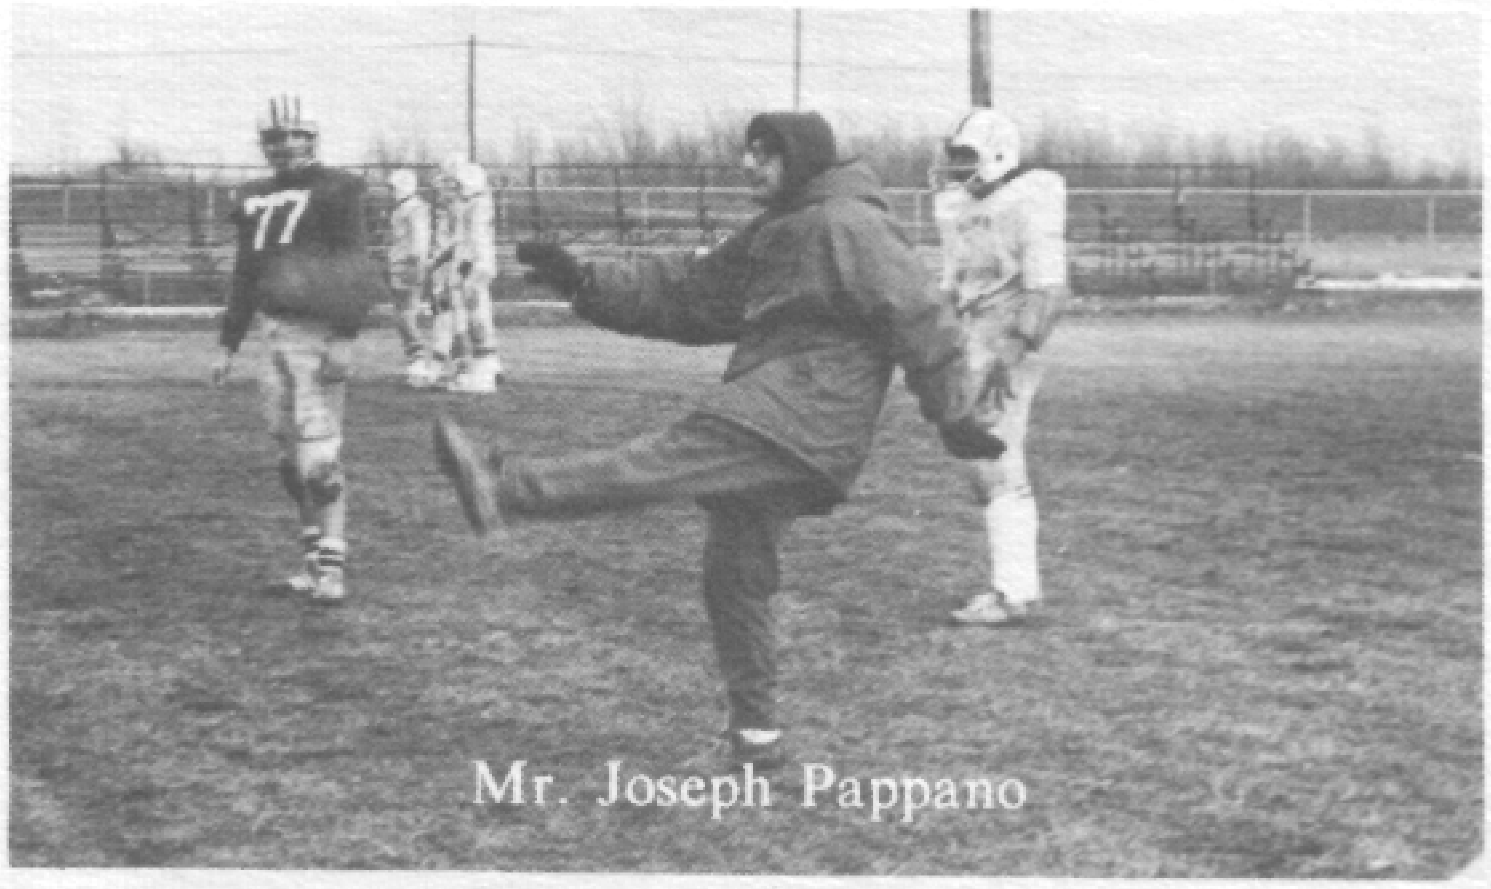
Mrs. Woodling, intent on accuracy and speed, tests the progress of a typing class against an impassionate stopwatch. Mrs. Woodling teaches Typing I and II, Shorthand I, and advises the Future Secretaries of America Club.

Mrs. Jean Lueptow

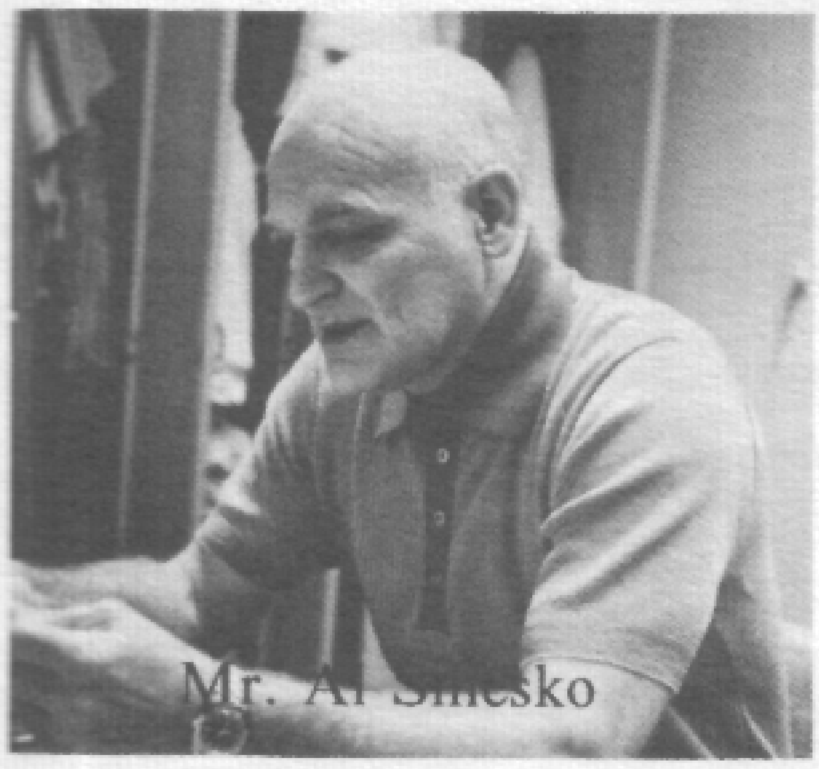
A graduate of the University of Wisconsin and Akron Univ., Mrs. Leuptow's interest in art and music led her to teach at Revere, for which she feels "fortunate for the opportunity to teach such a great group."

Mrs. Marie Curtis

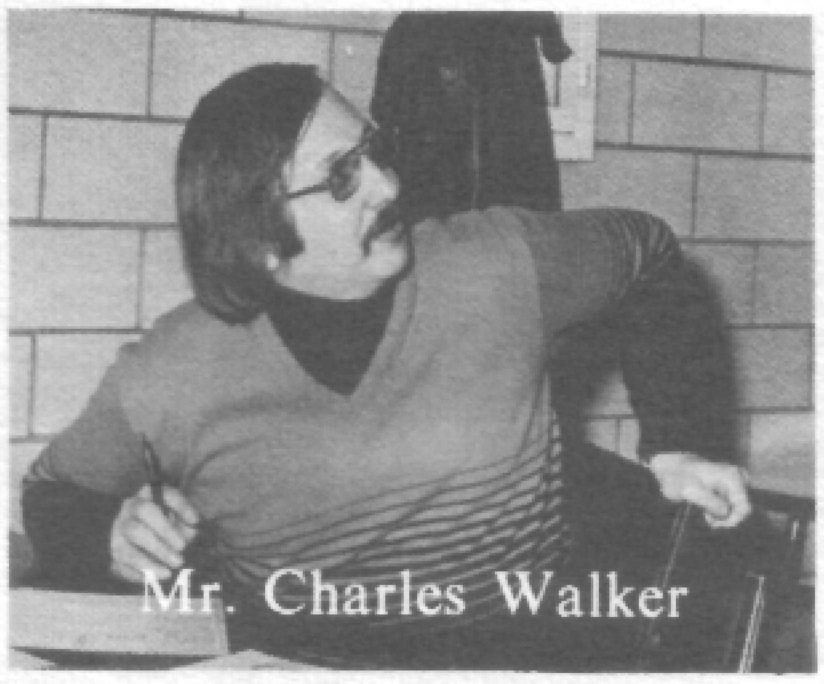
With a Masters of Education in counseling, Mrs. Curtis has more to offer her girls in Shorthand II and C.O.E. classes than just further secretarial training.



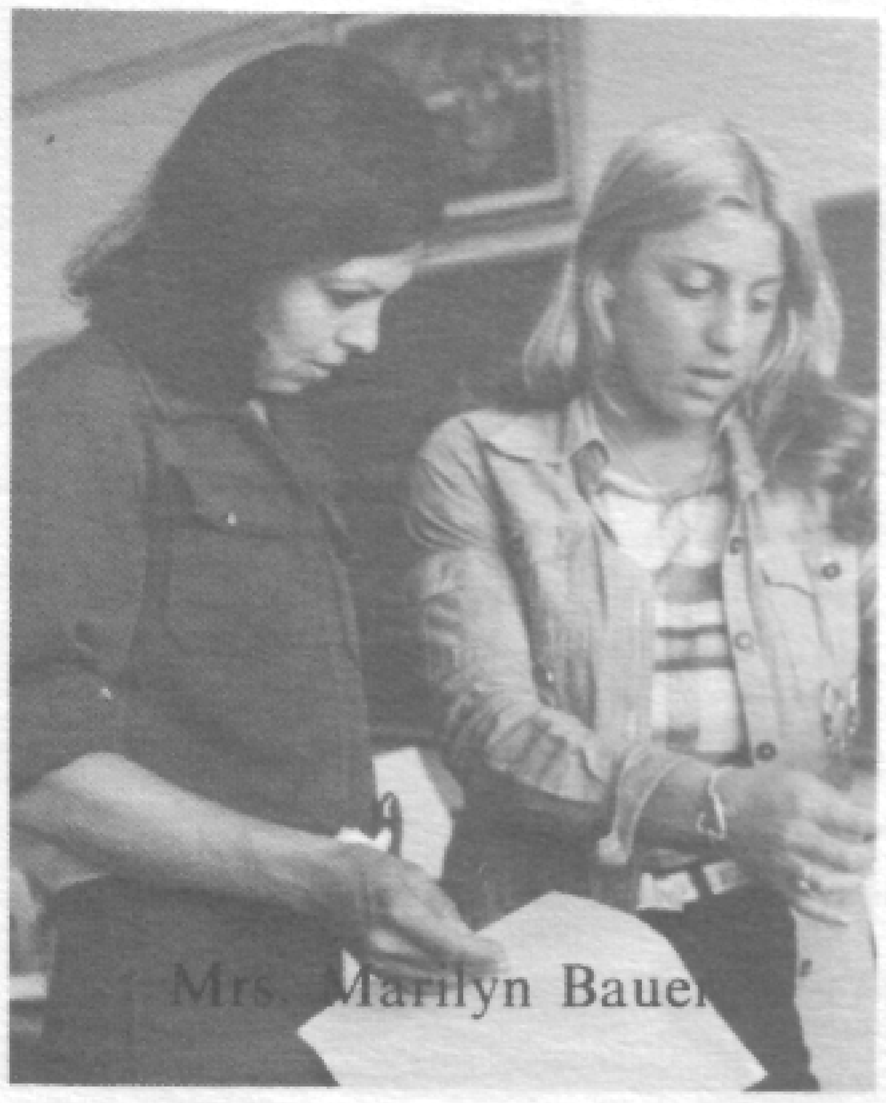
As a football coach and sports fan, Mr. Pappano demonstrates the correct technique for kicking off. He teaches driver's education and his motto is "Pride, Poise, and Performance".



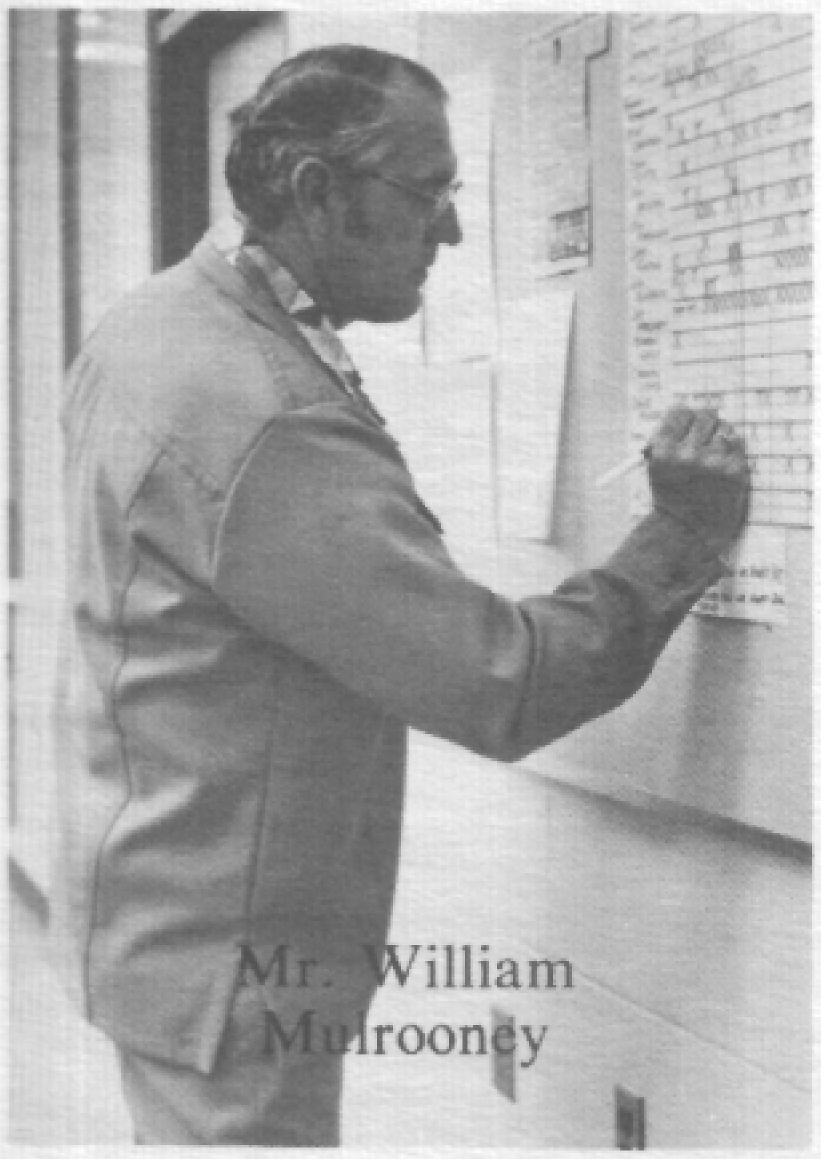
Head basketball coach Al Smesko thinks Revere is a fine school and enjoys instructing his health and phys. ed. classes and also contributing much time to the Bath Fire + Rescue Squad.



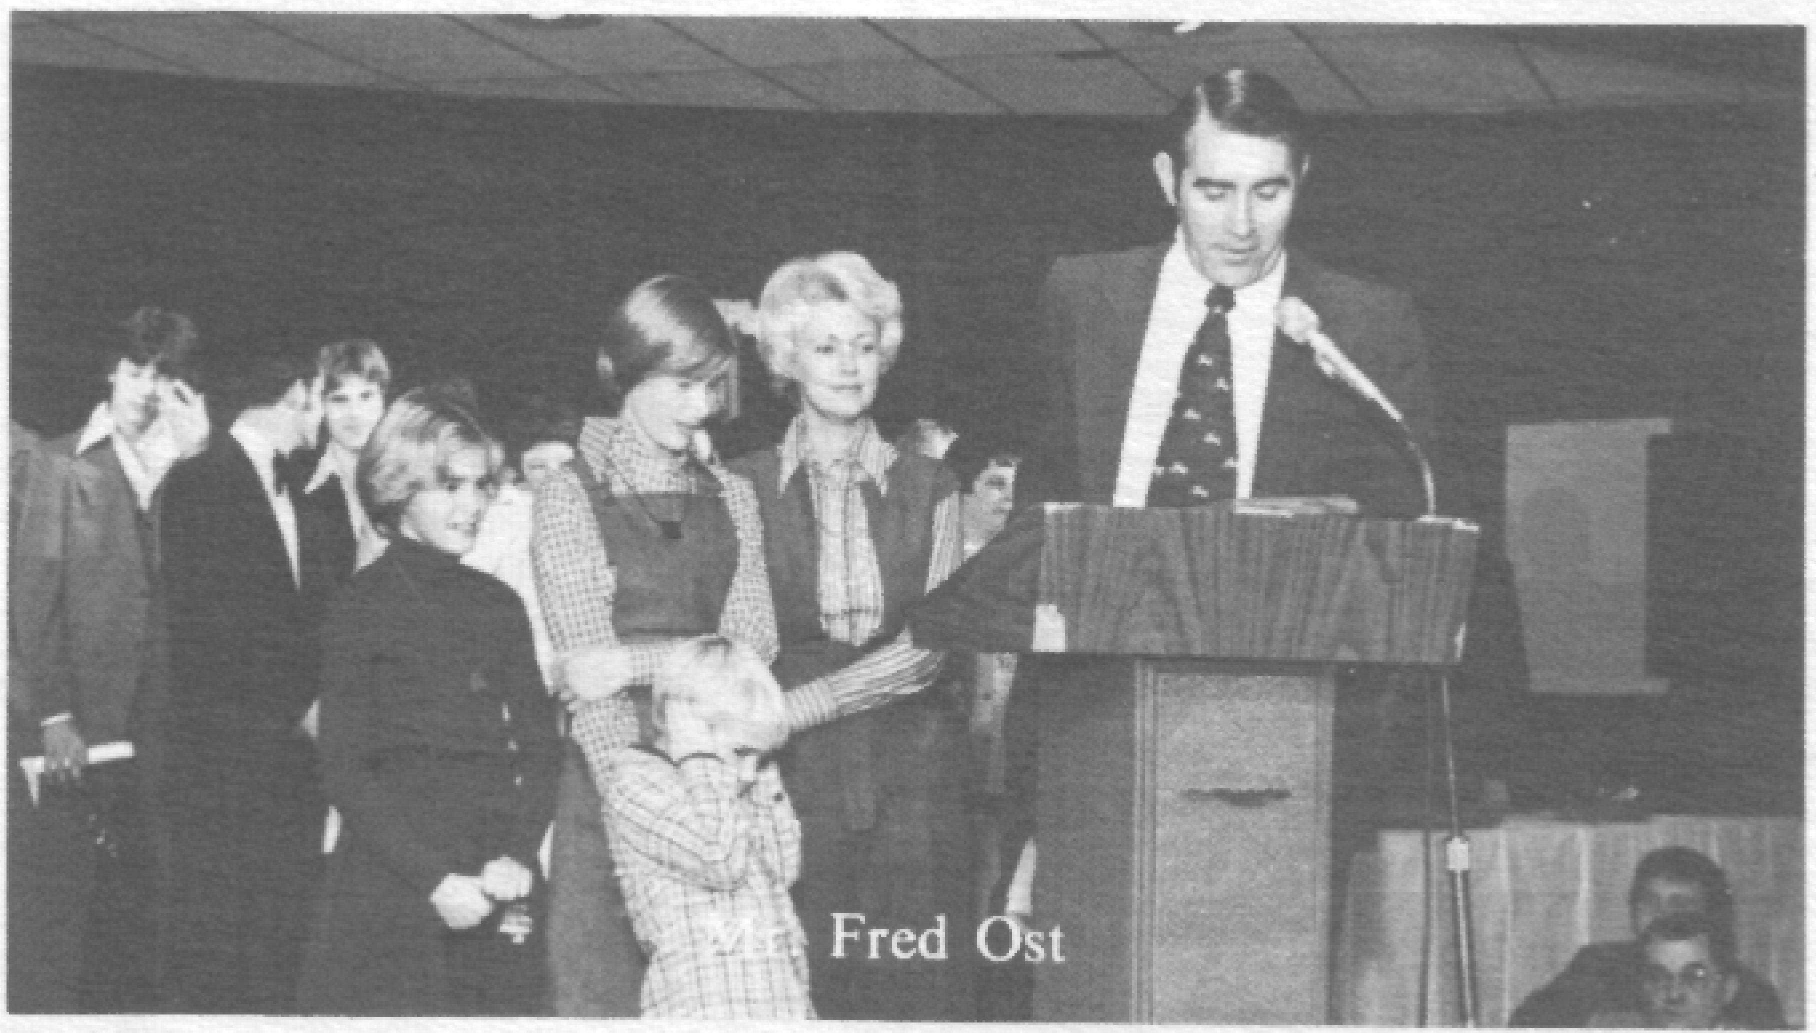
Mr. Walker gives some qualified artistic advice to a student. He is a teacher of various art, drawing, and advanced art classes, as well as the student council advisor.



Though new to the school system, Mrs. Bauer has contributed much to the Typing I and office practice courses. She has attended Akron Univ. and is a veteran of 7 years teaching at St. Vincent-St. Mary High School.

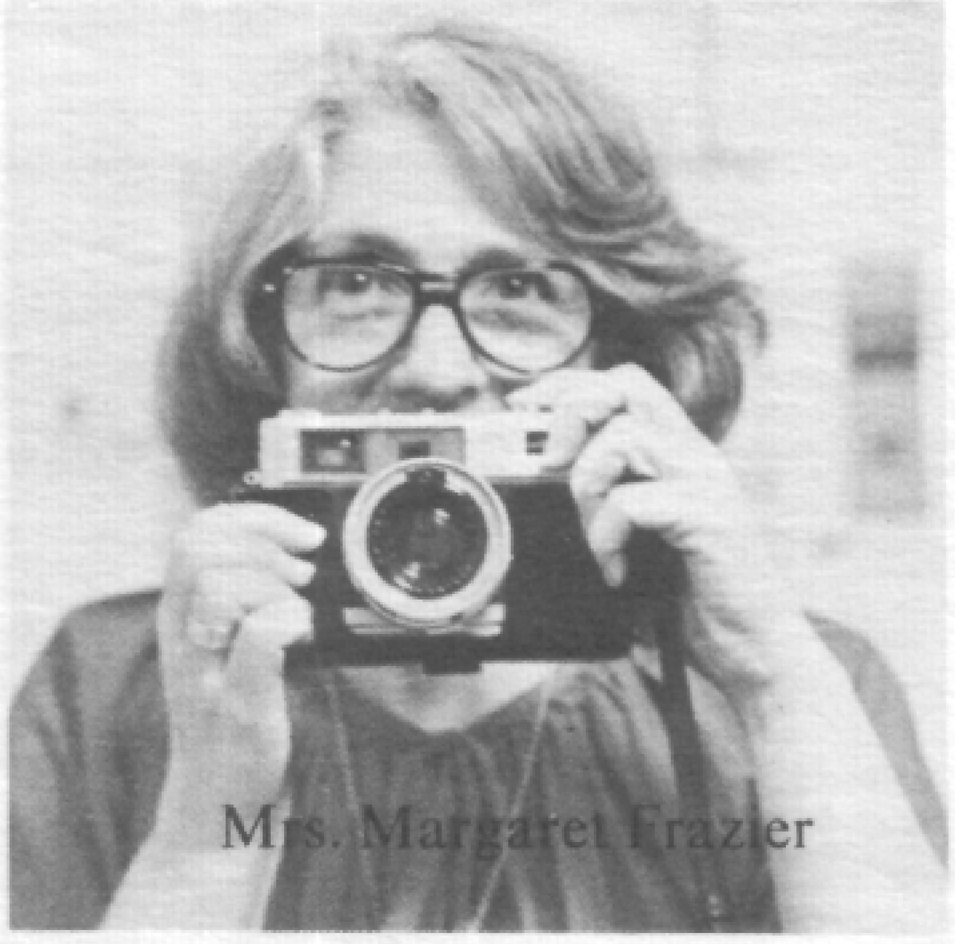


Mr. Mulrooney utilizes one of his innovations, the poster size attendance card, assuring greater participation in his occupational work experience class.

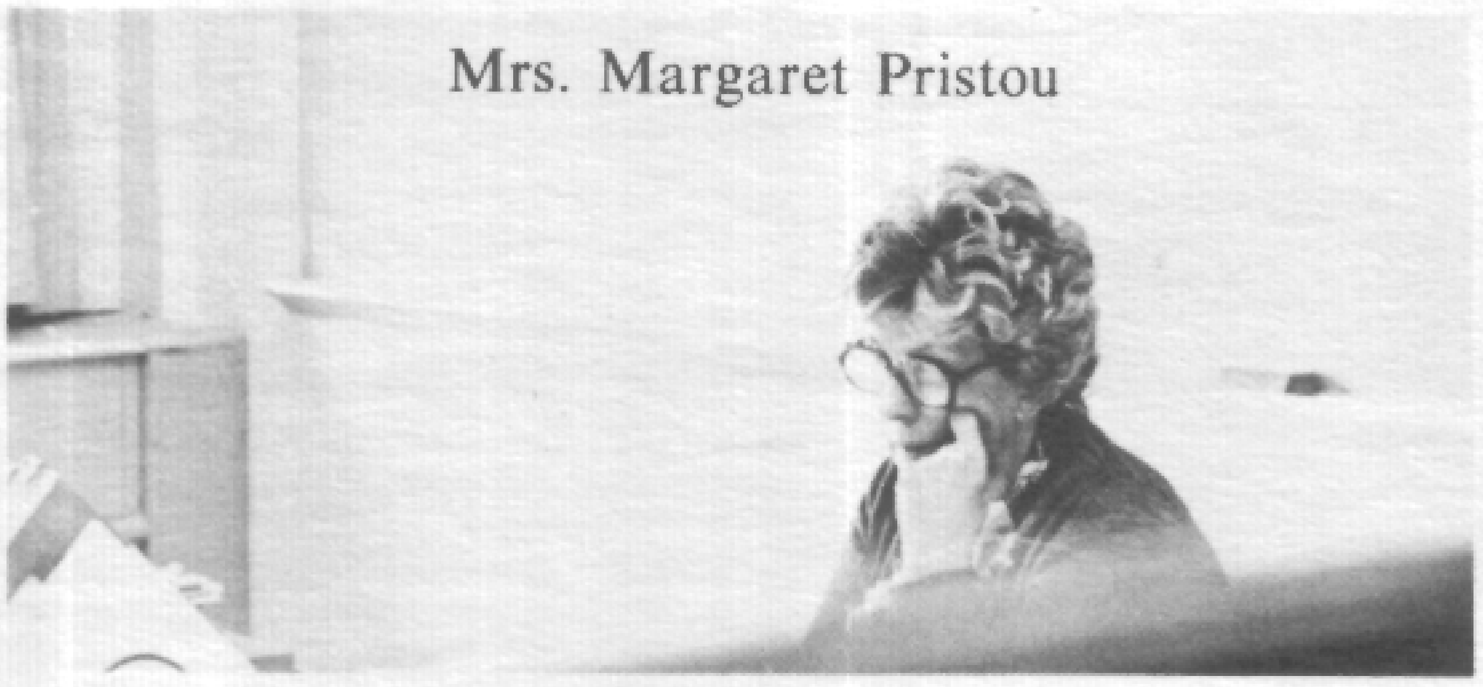


At his last awards banquet, Mr. Ost speaks of the trials and joys of nearly 25 years of coaching football. His wife Kathy, son David, and daughters Beth and Amy stand by with love and support.

As the advisor to the yearbook, Mrs. Frazier is often found mischievously taking candid pictures. When she is not focusing her camera, she is focusing her attention on the students' needs in her class of drama, Shakespeare, poetry, AP 11, and English Comprehensive 11.

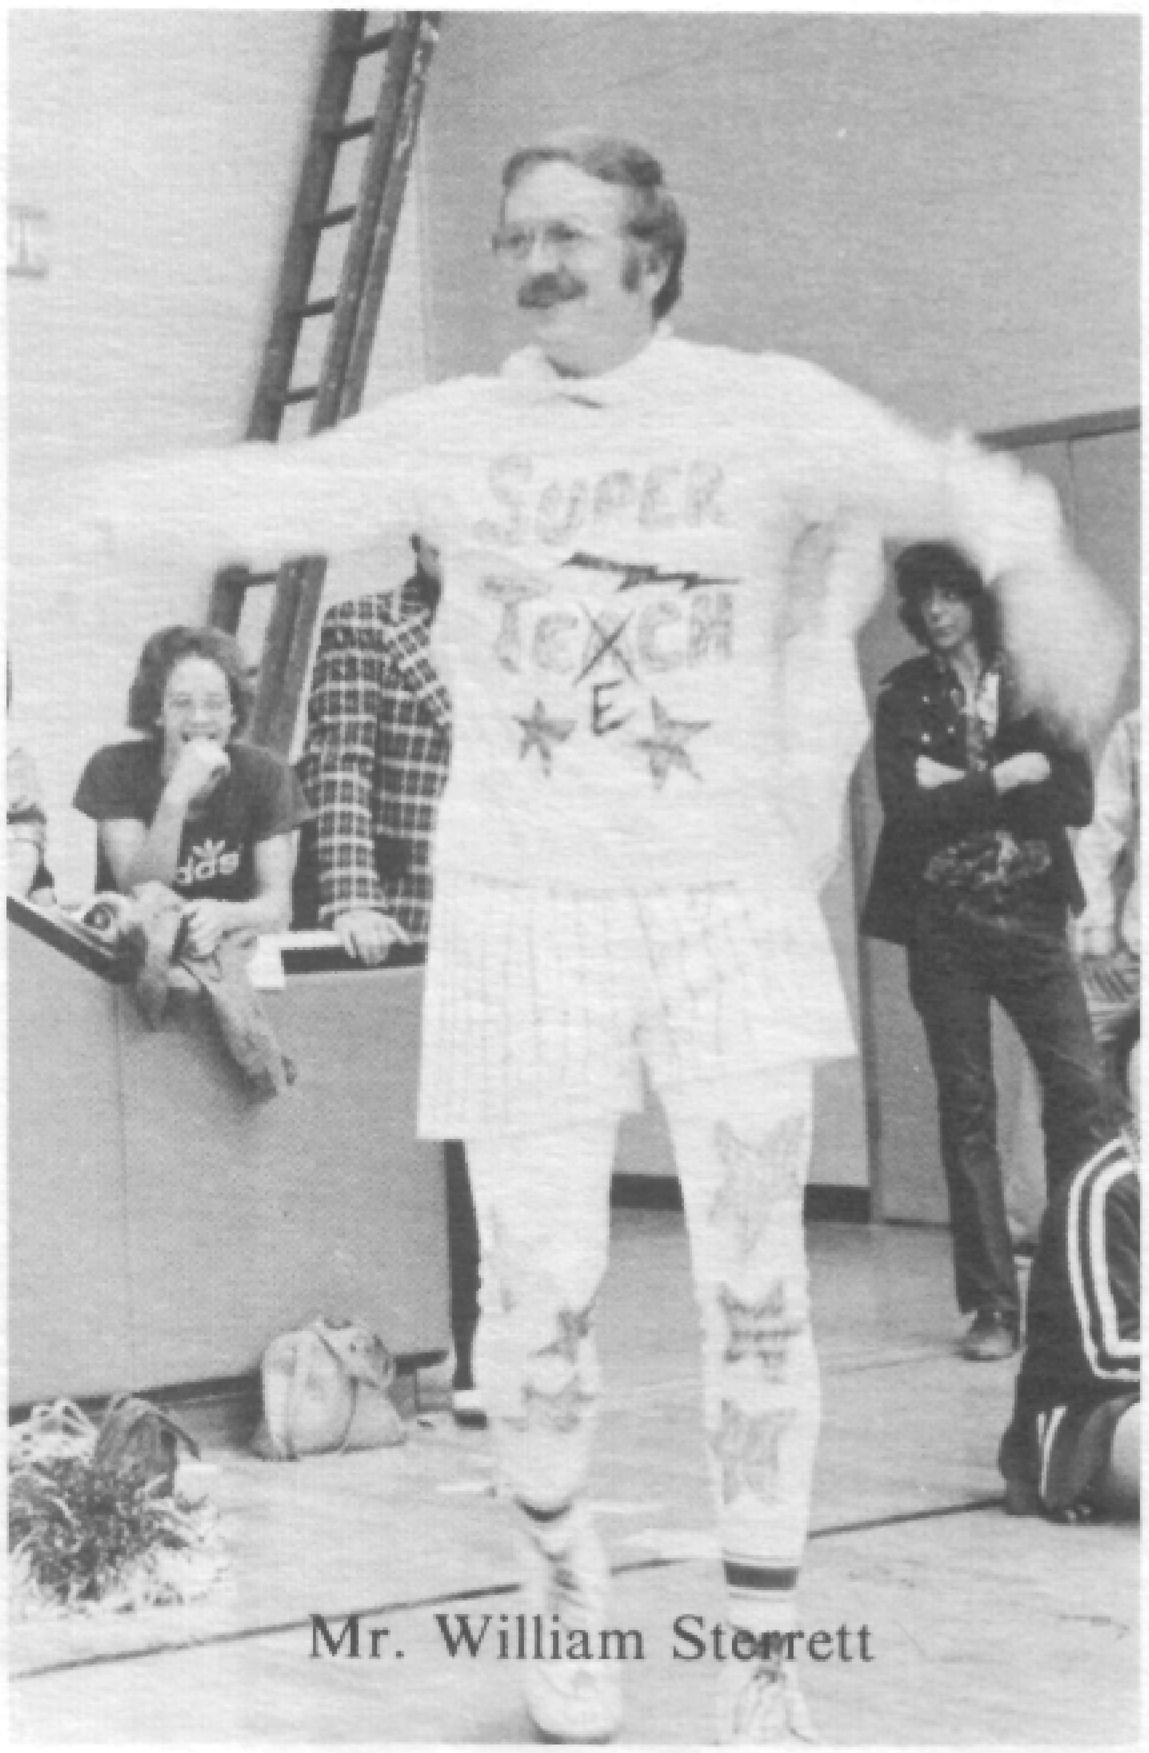


Mrs. Margaret Frazier



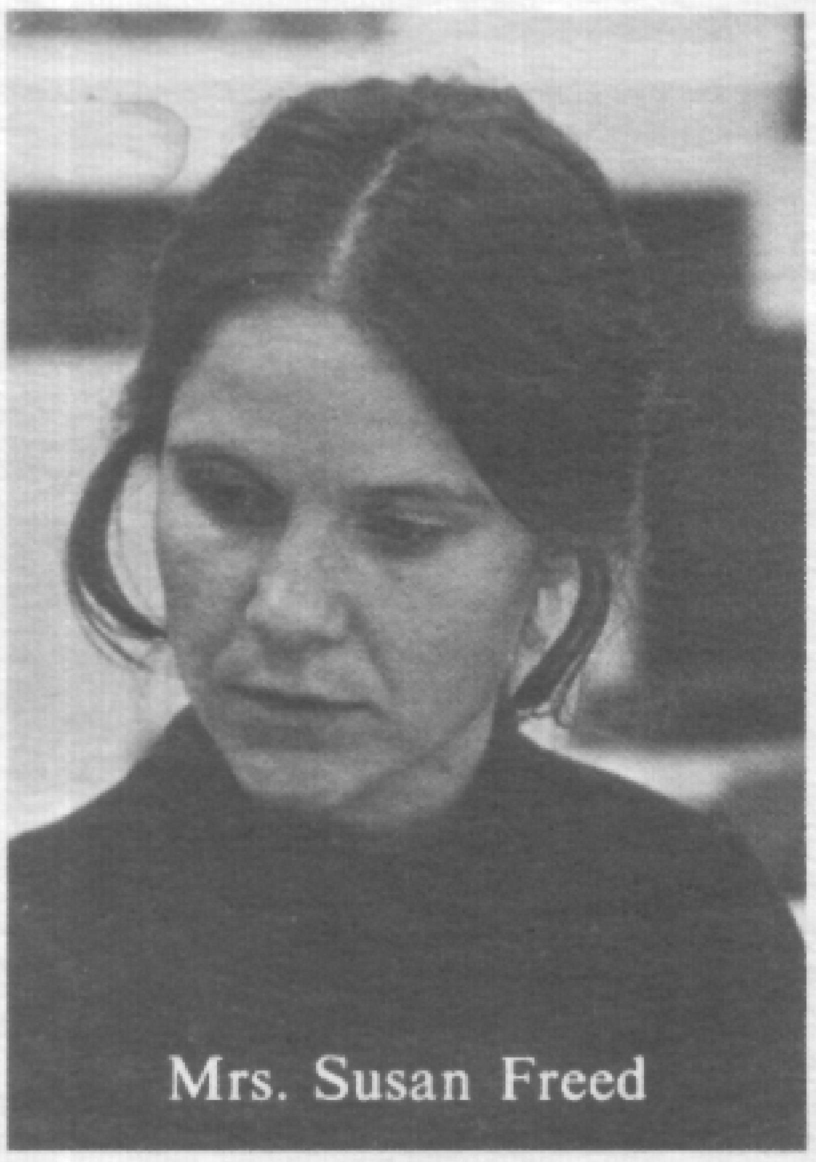
Mrs. Margaret Pristou

Quietly concentrating in her classroom, Mrs. Pristou plans yet another day of lessons. Her area of expertise extends from English 9 to Spanish I.



Mr. William Sterrett

Super-teech Bill Sterrett proves that teachers too get involved in student activities. Mr. Sterrett is the English coordinator, and he teaches English 9 Basic, Practical Communications, and English 9 Comprehensive.



Mrs. Susan Freed

Mrs. Susan Freed teaches Comprehensive English 9, Ap 10, English literature, and advanced writing. She and her husband enjoy gardening on the land of their idyllic farm.

Mrs. Doris Clay

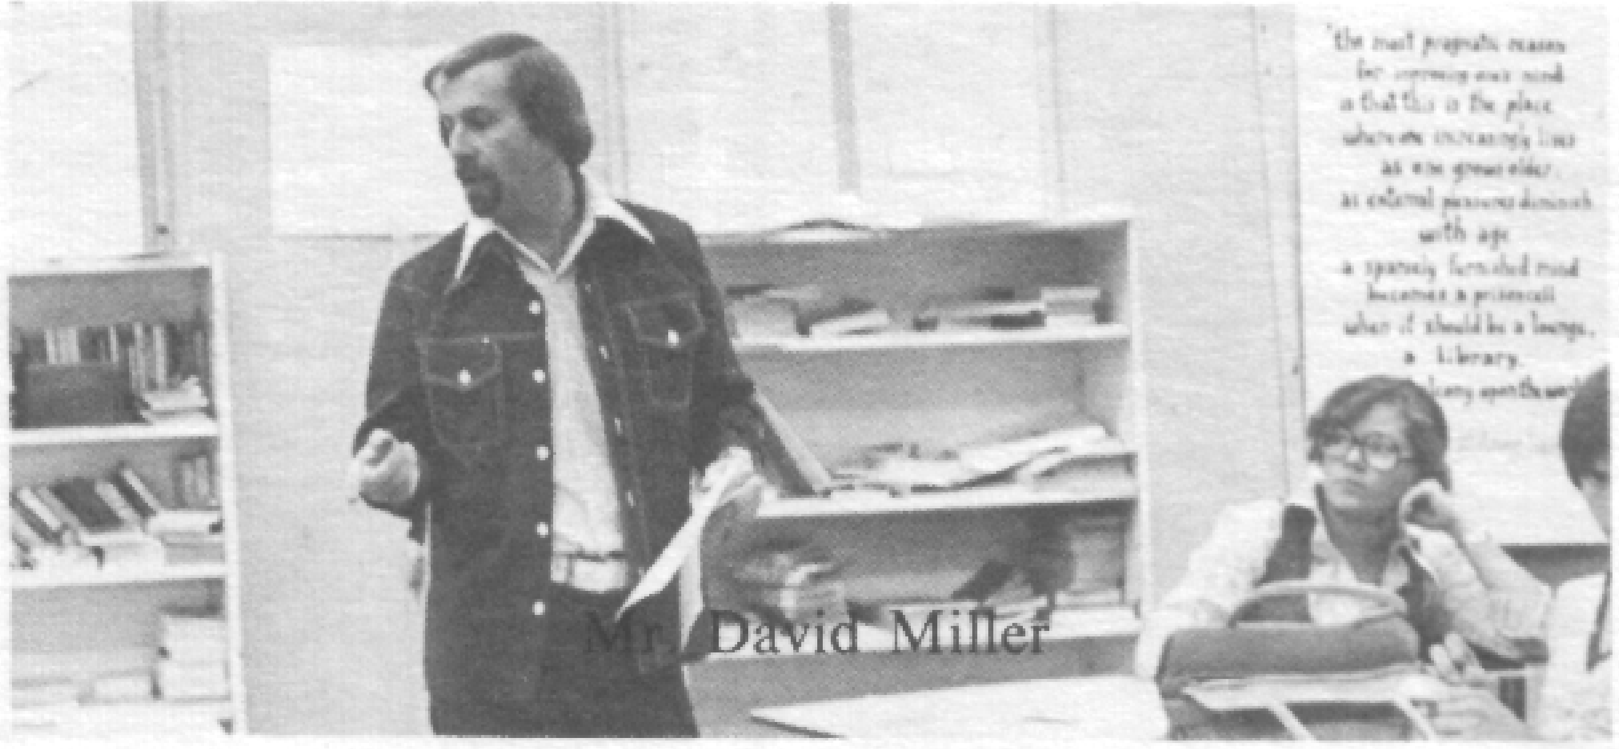
"Man does not live by bread alone," believes Doris Clay, teacher of French and Spanish and advisor to the senior class. Mrs. Clay often finds her "wines and cakes" in far places, such as Yuvoslavia and Greece.

Mrs. Nancy Johnson

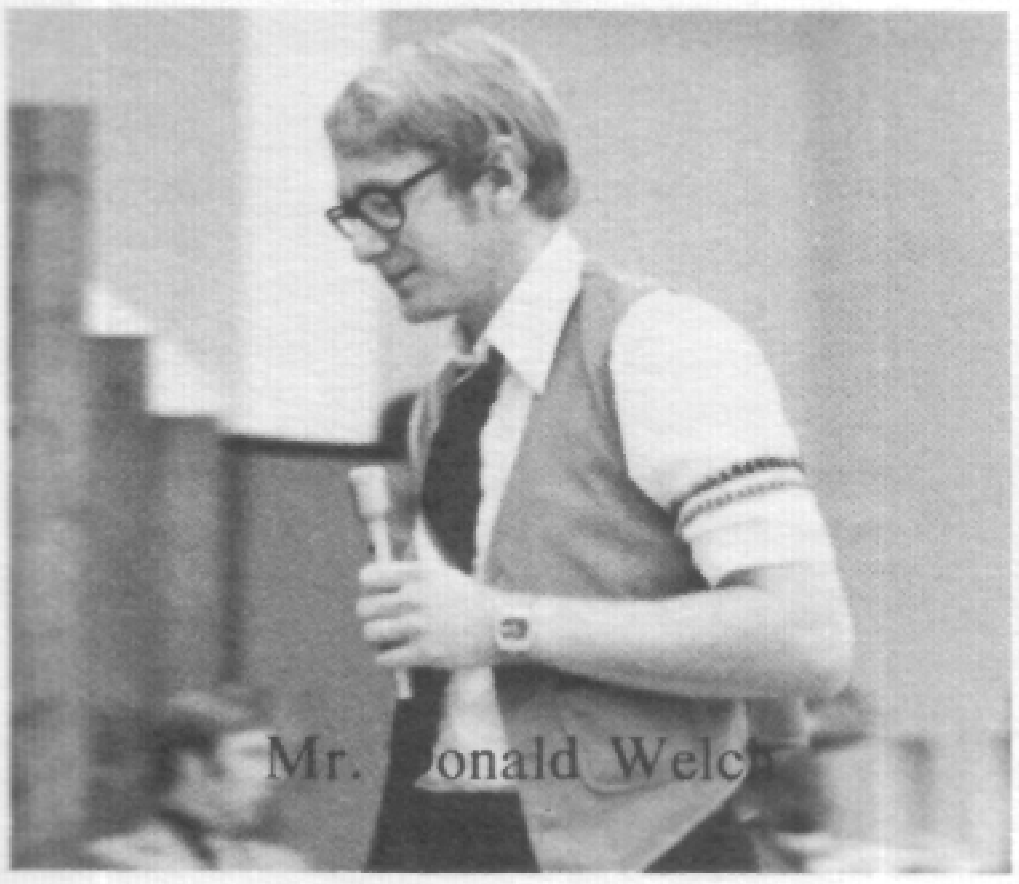
Mrs. Johnson, who teaches Right-on-Reading English Comprehensive 11, creative and advanced writing, supports the adage, "Treat others as you want to be treated."

Mrs. Lillian Fortner

Of Chinese descent, Mrs. Fortner was born and raised in Hawaii. She came to Ohio as a college student at Wilmington. She teaches Basic Writing B, Detective and Mystery, and English 9 Basic.



Mr. Miller who strives "to be so curious as to see nothing as ordinary," certainly demonstrates this concept in his far-from-ordinary classes: AP 12, creative writing, advanced writing, Bible lit., Thematic lit., and Right-on-Reading.



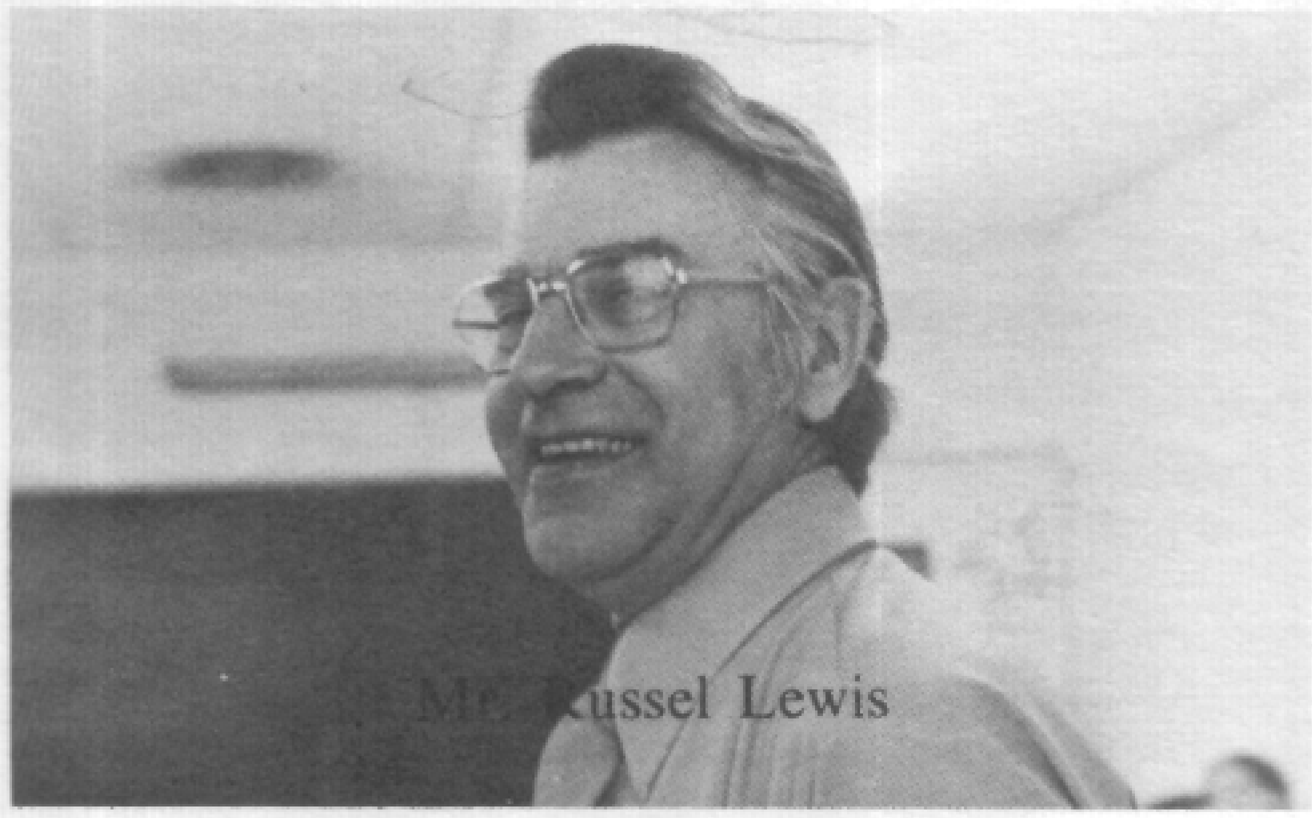
Mr. Welch, a teacher in speech, media arts, English 10 Comprehensive, English 9 Comprehensive, and Basic Writing A, is also on the faculty at the University of Akron part-time, as well as being advisor to Revere's NFL. He enjoys skiing, theater, and sailing.

Mrs. Barbara Nystrom

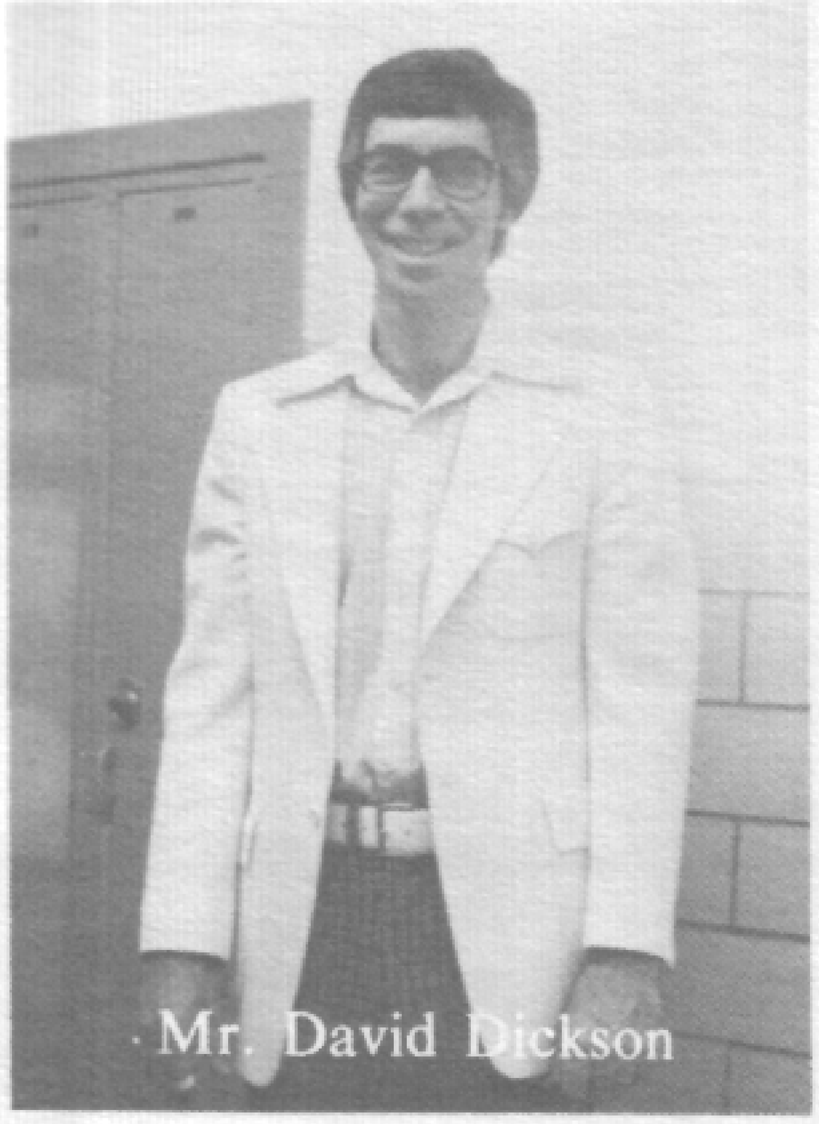
Joining Revere's faculty this year, Mrs. Nystrom teaches classes in French I and II. She was first initiated at Revere when she substituted for Mrs. Clay last year. Having lived in Europe and South America, she also is fluent in German and Swiss dialect and understands Spanish.

Although she feels she may be prejudiced by having two sons in the graduating class (Mark and Kevin), Mrs. Houser still thinks that it is one of the best classes ever. Teaching Latin and mythology, she has been with this school system since 1967.

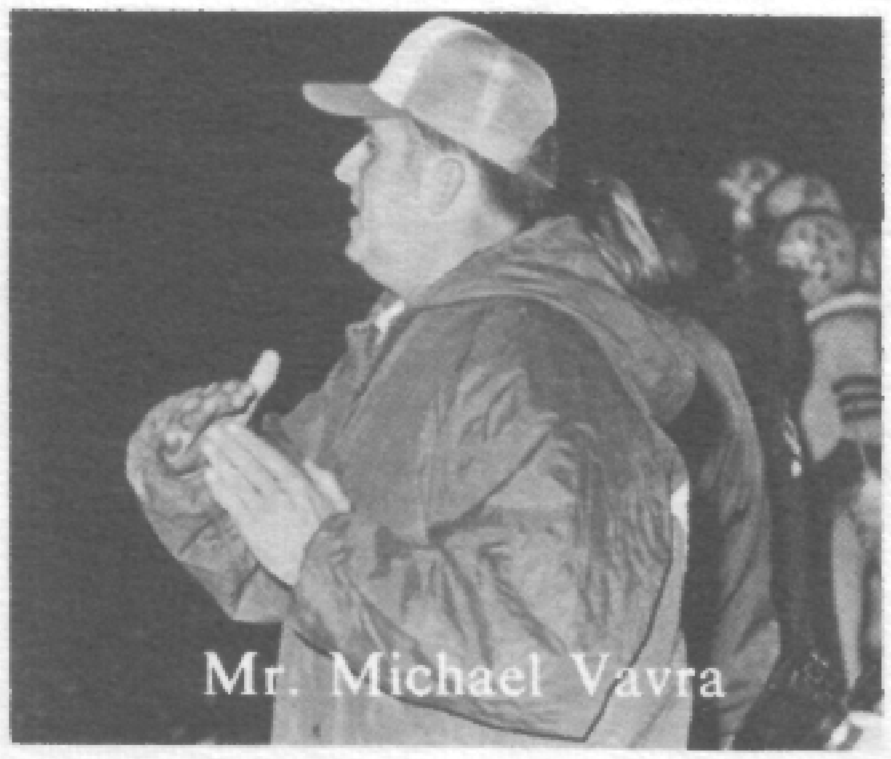
Mrs. Grace Houser



Mr. Lewis' came to the Revere system in 1954, teaching several years at Eastvew. This year he has taught English 10, advanced writing, journalism, poetry, and American literature. He also served as advisor to the LANTERN.



Revere Graduate and staunch Akronite, Mr. David Dickson is glad to rest a minute from one of his world or American history classes.



Teaching American and world history, as well as serving as a football coach, keeps Mr. Vavra busy. Yet, he still finds time to pursue his hobbies of model trains, carpentry, and sports.

Mrs. Nancy Moran

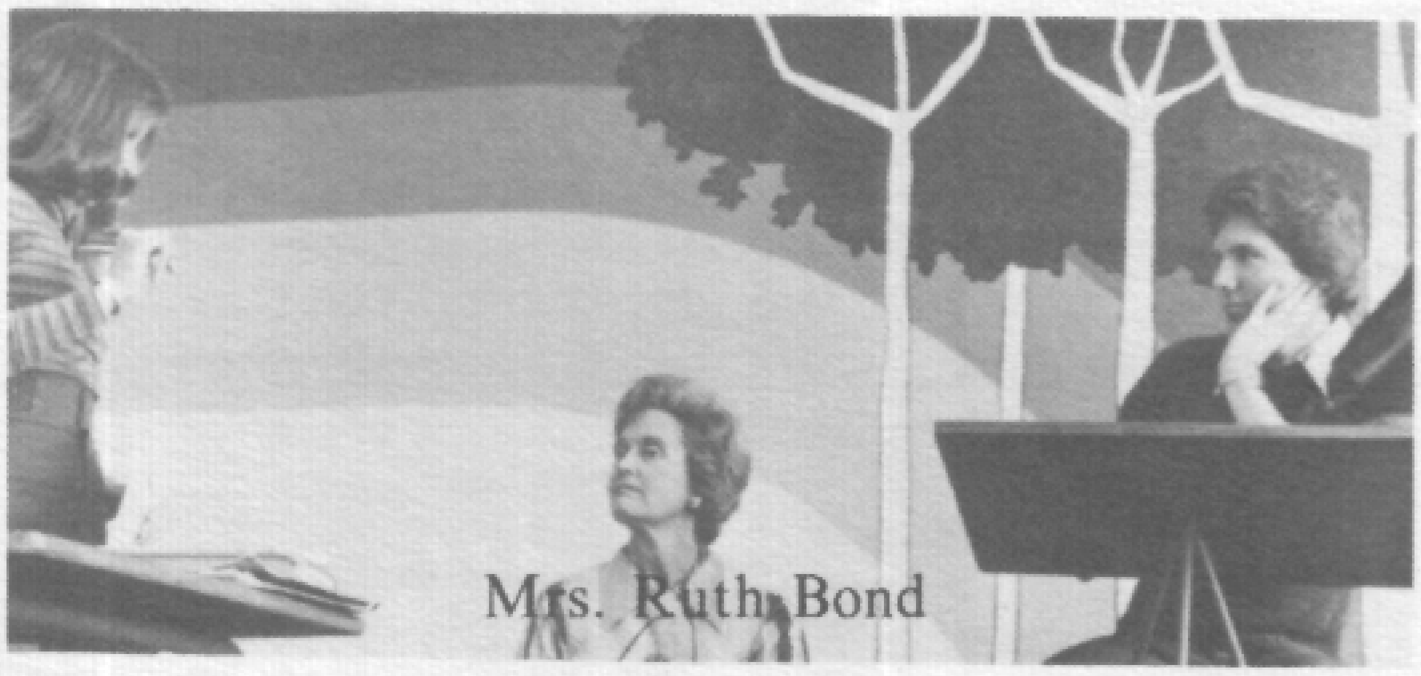
Student council advisor Mrs. Moran travels throughout the U.S. visiting places of historical interest to enhance her teaching of American and world history.

Mr. Edward Engler

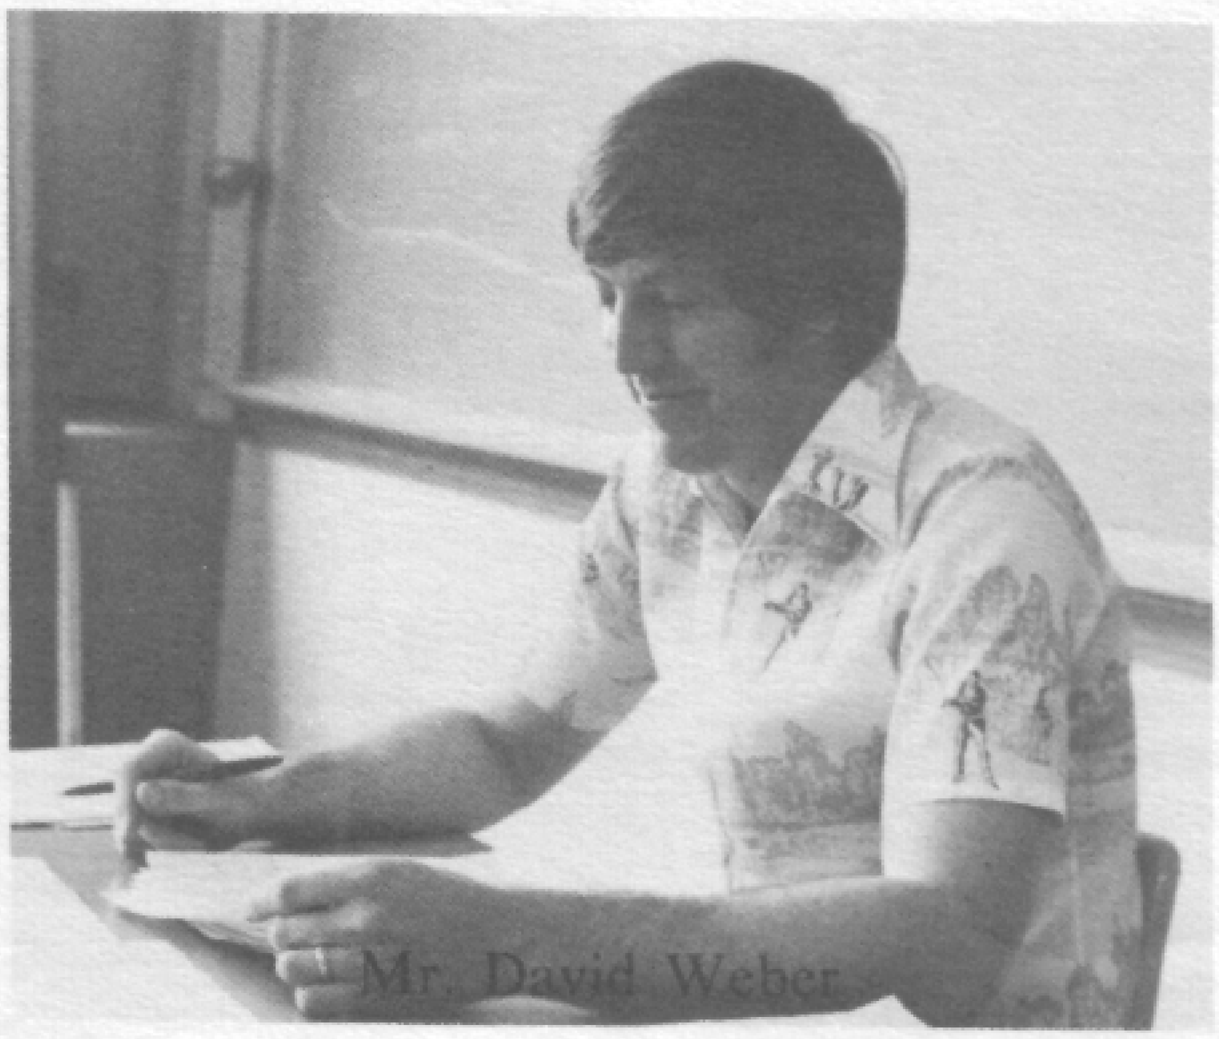
World history, consumer economics, and government teacher and junior class advisor, Mr. Engler spent '73-'74 in England on a teacher-exchange.

Mrs. Janet Dando

A teacher of American and world history and geography, Mrs. Dando also enjoys horseback riding and reading.



Gardening and travelling (Europe, Greece, Canadian Northwest, and U.S.) besides teaching classes in law, psychology, history, and government are activities Mrs. Bond enjoys. She is NHS advisor and social studies department coordinator.



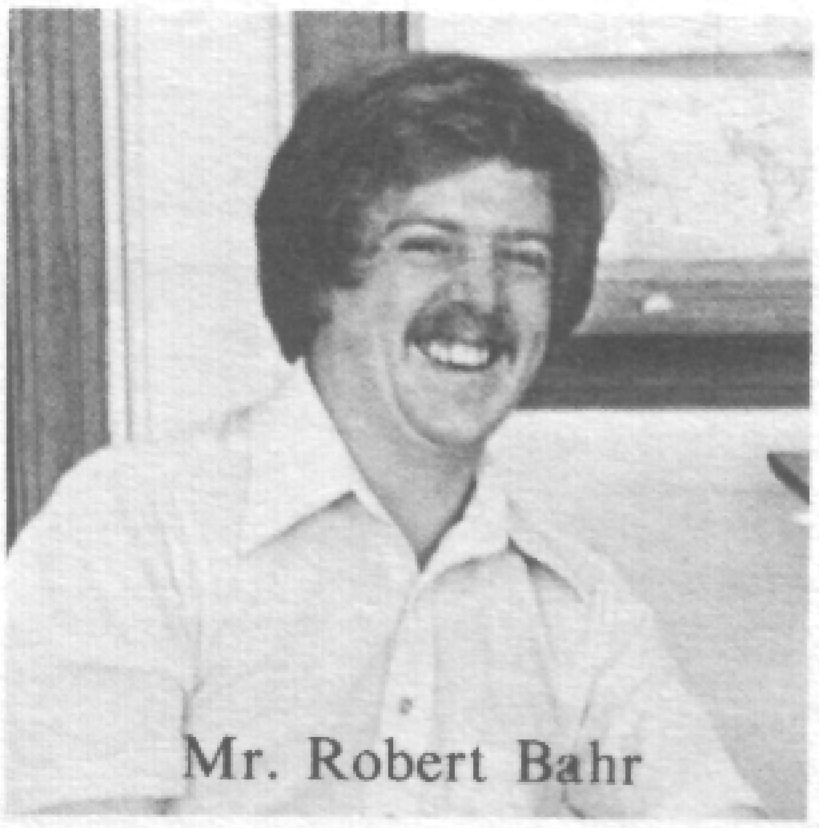
Thoroughly involved with history, Mr. Weber teaches AP history, American history, and world history. He also takes pride in molding his own pewter. This year he took the Close-up group to Washington, D.C.

Robert Lutz

Building a small country high school band to a top-notch marching organization rivaled by few schools has taken the dedication and respect that only Mr. Lutz can inspire. In tribute to his twenty-three years as band director and hundreds of half time shows, the band room was renamed the Robert W. Lutz Band Room.

Mrs. Virginia Rumbaugh

"I love Revere—it is home away from home!" A local resident, Mrs. Rumbaugh not only teaches advanced sewing, tailoring, culinary arts, advanced foods, childcare, and marriage and family living, she also raises champion Irish setters.

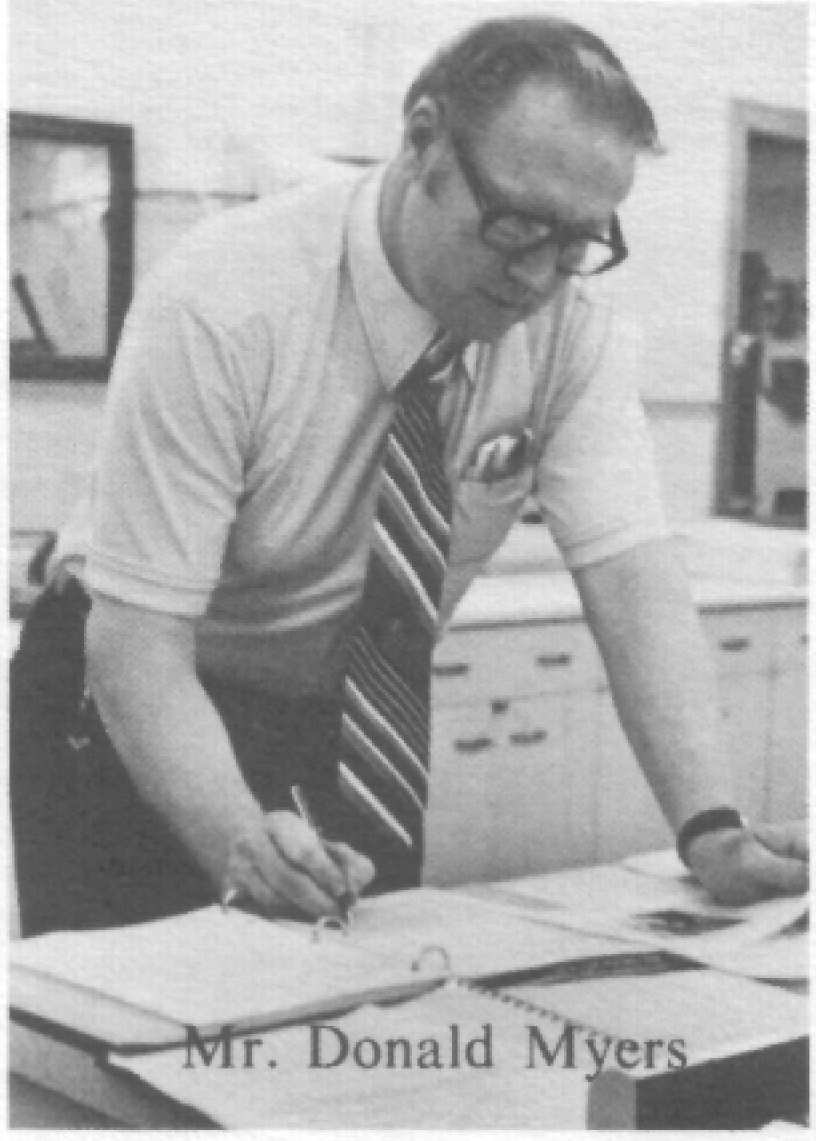


Mr. Robert Bahr

Joining the staff the second half of the school year, Mr. Bahr replaced Mrs. Lindstrom as vocal music director. Although he is now single, he is planning to marry in the fall.

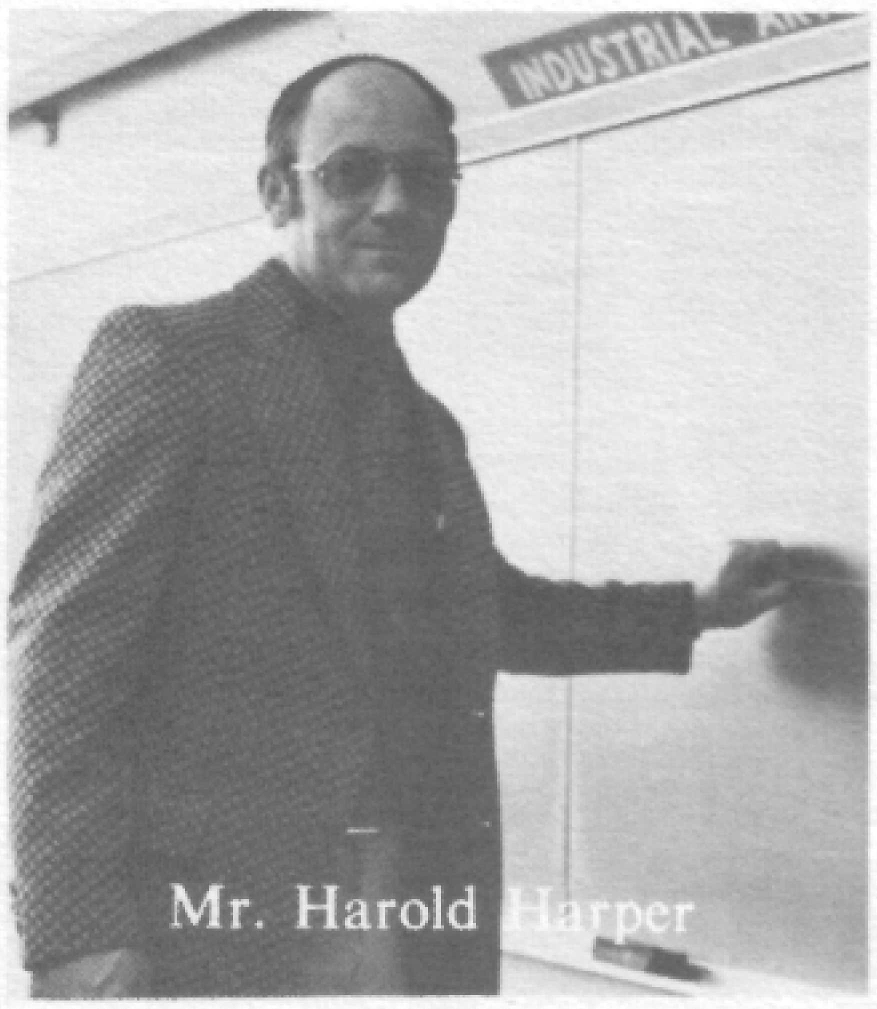
Mrs. Dolores Lindstrom

Beginning the year as vocal music director for both Revere and Eastview, Mrs. Lindstrom also served as the advisor to the majorettes. Unfortunately for us, it was necessary for her to retire.



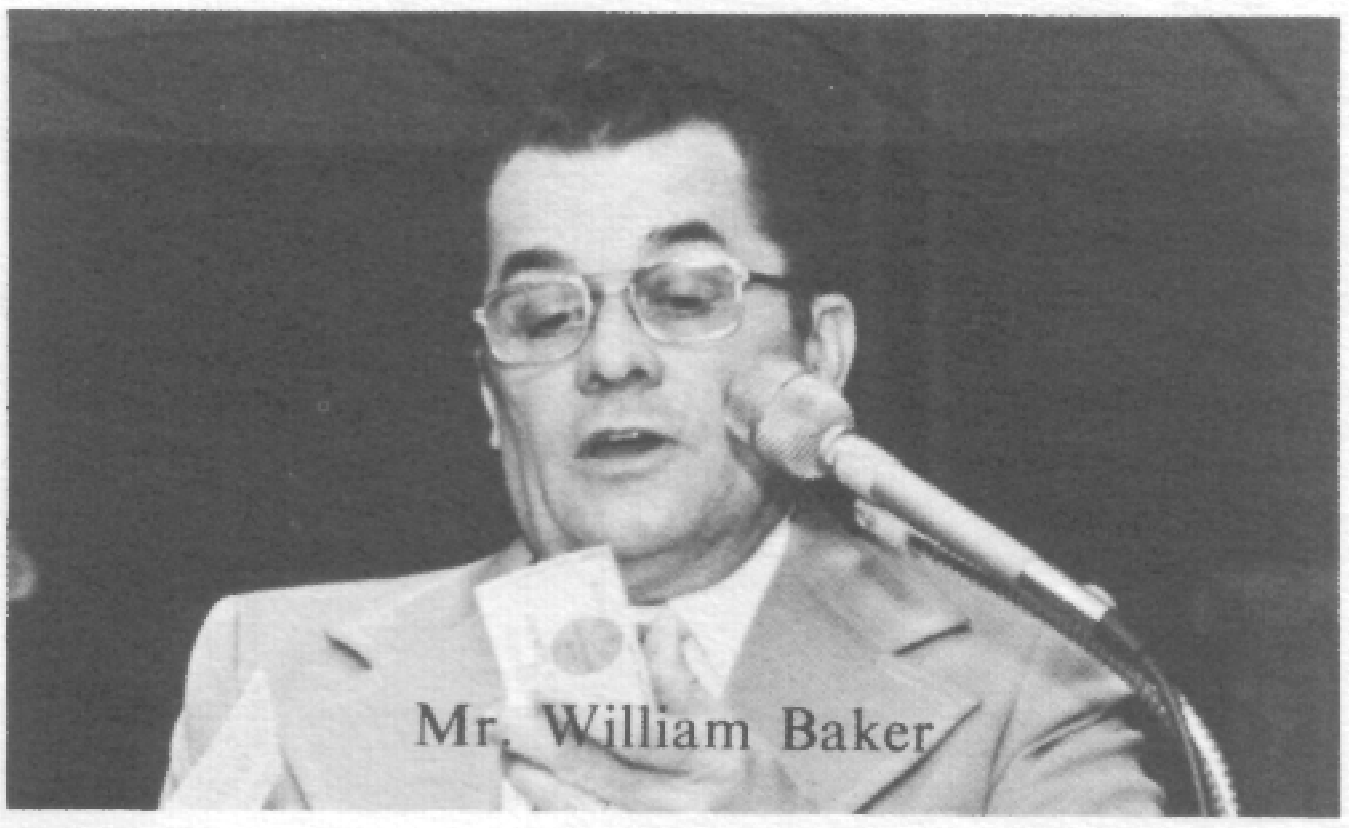
Mr. Donald Myers

Donald Myers teaches graphic arts, industrial crafts, and photography. He attended Kent State and has been with the school system since 1958.



Mr. Harold Harper

Teaching algebra, small engines, home repair, and graphic arts, Mr. Harper has been a member of the Revere system since 1963. He has attended the universities of West Virginia and Kent State and enjoys carpentry and gardening.



Mr. William Baker

Since 1951, Mr. Baker has been instructing students in the Revere schools. Besides teaching industrial arts, he is also the athletic faculty manager.

School Stripped Of Cooks And Custodians

No, the headline is not true, but suppose it were. Just imagine life at Revere without the custodians or cooks. Within a week the halls would be too littered even to wade through, the rooms would be either too hot or too cold to hold classes in, and lights, faucets, and windows would be too broken to make this school comfortable and safe. Yet all these catastrophes were handled, and more, every single day of the week during the year, including vacations (when most of us were a million miles away from school). All the behind-the-scenes activity was done by the custodians, not only during the day, but also well into the night.

If the custodians kept Revere's furnaces fueled, then surely the cooks kept its students fueled. The cafeteria echoed with the clatter of pots and pans from 7:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Trying to plan imaginative yet nutritious menus and to stay within a very limited budget often was a difficult task, but Mrs. Lois Hill, chief cook, somehow did just that for one hundred and eighty days of the year. After all, how often could hot dogs and tomato soup be served?

Jammed locks and forgotten combinations have forced Joe Barren to become an expert at opening lockers.

Rever's masters of the culinary arts include: Betty Dunlap, Lois Hill, Patricia Posey, Marian Davidson, Dorothy Bene, Barabara Christman, Dorothy Smith, Glenna Davis, and Mildred Johnson.

Keeping sidewalks and steps cleared during this winter's unusually heavy snow bends Buzzy's back at a perpetual right angle.

No words can possibly do full justice to the years of dedication and service Richard Davis, known to everyone as "Buzzy," has given to Revere school. With a kind word and a ready smile, Buzzy has weathered more than one crisis at Revere since beginning his custodial duties at the newly built Revere High in 1952. No one is looking forward to Buzzy's retirement but no one can deny that it is more than well deserved.

Ode to an Aide

With thine helpful hands,
Thou typeth everlasting
The multitude of tests,
Quizzes and notes;
Thou putteth away the books and
Magazines that pile to the sky.

With thine smiling lips,
Thou answereth the telephone,
Taking important messages;
Thou licketh the stamps for
The hundreds of letters that
Are sent each year;
Thou saith helpfully,
"Mayest I help thou?"

And with thine youthful legs,
Thou runneth to deliver messages,
Sheets, and papers;
Thou walketh continually throughout
The halls looking for students;

Thou jumpeth with joy to know thou
Didest a job well done.

Football Offers Mud And Sweat

With a league record of 2-6 and an overall record of 4-6 it can't be said that this was a great football year for Revere; nor by any means does it compare to some of the dismal outcomes of a few of the previous seasons. It was a good year. The sweat, strain, concentration, and persistence shown by this team paid off well enough in their spirit of brotherhood and the satisfaction of having played to the limit of their ability. A final, sweet victory against Brecksville capped off the season, avenging the year before when imminent victory slipped away as precious, too few seconds ticked off the clock.

The junior varsity and ninth grade teams worked just as hard as anyone while learning more and more of the fundementals they will find necessary in the next few years, when their strenuous efforts and practiced skills will add up to a championship team.

Hours And Minutemen March On

Many people brave cold, wind, and rain on Friday nights during the fall expressly to enjoy the fabulous half-time shows given by area bands. These bands in turn spend hours, days, and weeks in all kinds of weather preparing for the half-time shows, and our band is no exception. Perhaps it should be said that the Marching Minutemen are an exception—exceptionally good.

It is not only for half-time shows that the band prepares, but also for band shows at Hudson and Cuyahoga Falls; special performances such as the ones this year at Columbus for the Capital University and the opening ceremonies at Stan Hywet during the Ohio Mart; and parades such as this year's Bath Bicentennial Parade and Richfield Memorial Day Parade.

Head high, hands poised, Ann Hrdlicka high-steps to the tempo of the band.

Faces in the crowd vary yearly, but the band always manages to look the same.

Revere Alma Mater

Revere Our Alma Mater
Thy name we give acclaim
And pray that all our lives shall be
So lived to bring thee fame.

Inspire each heart to cheer

Golf Swings Into Second

The 76-77 golf team was a pleasant surprise for coach Dwight Greer. With only one returning starter from last year's third place team, the outlook was not good. However, this year's team turned out to be the best in a couple of years. Led by starters Bill Brucks, Scott Eisentrout, Ron Munsey, Mike Torma, and Bruce (Wally) Walcott, the team placed a strong second in the Suburban League behind Hudson. With a record of 16-6 overall and 10-4 in the league, the teams greatest losing margin was one stroke per man in their opening match with Hudson. One of the highlights this year was a score of 143 against North and Tallmadge, which was a new school record.

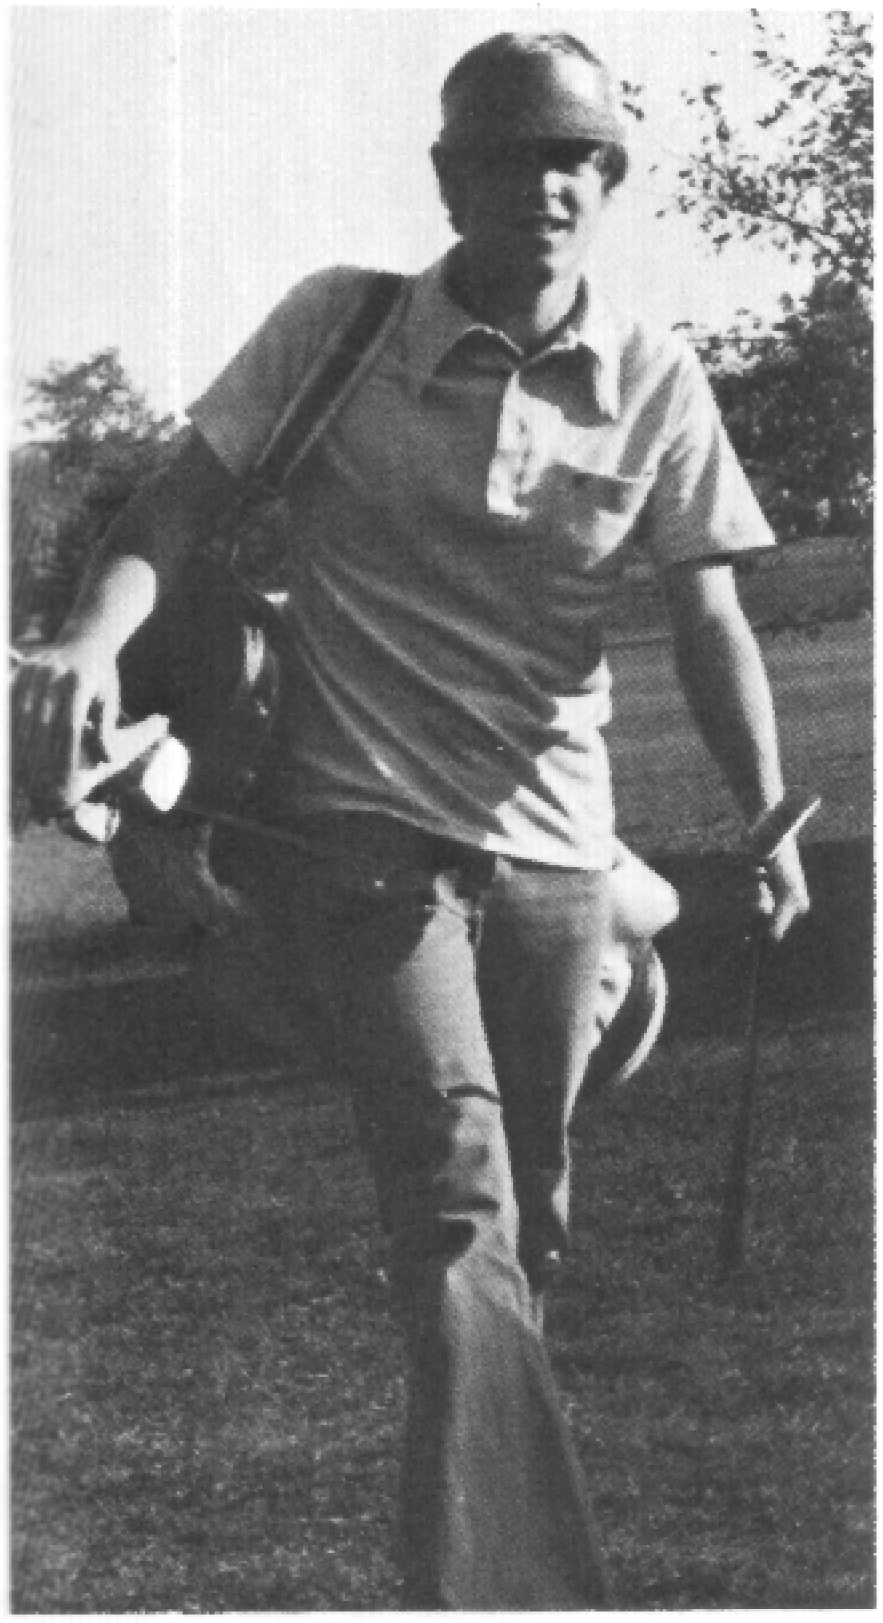
Golf team members are: FRONT ROW: B. Walcott, D. Lewis, R. Munsey, B. Brucks. BACK ROW: R. Higbie, M. Bosworth, M. VanEpps, M. Torma, S. Eisentrout, and Coach Greer.

Individual performances were also good, senior Bill Brucks won the Suburban League Championship, beating a field of over 80 golfers by 3 shots. Ron Munsey, Scott Eisentrout and Bill Brucks all had a fine year with Eisentrout taking the dual match medalist award, and Brucks taking the overall medalist award. Junior Ron Munsey played consistently well and will lead next year's team on to many victories. Another high in the year came from Mike Torma in the last match of the season against Copley. Revere needed to beat Copley to clinch second place, so Mike responded with an even par round of 35 to give Revere sole possession of second place.



Mike Torma gives Revere a 35.

Volleyball Fights For Second Place

The team's motto, "We'll never fail until we stop trying", proved to be true. It was in the Norton game that the girls painfully learned their lesson. That was the determining game of the Suburban League Title. Unfortunately, they lost fifteen to nine, fifteen to five. The most exciting game this season was the final league match against Hudson. This match decided the second place position. Extremely prepared and psyched for the match, Revere won fifteen to nine, fifteen to ten.

The Varsity's overall record was 8-7, while their league record was 6-1. The Junior Varsity's record was 12-2 overall, and 5-2 in the league. Individual awards went to Rachelle Bock for High Scorer, Peggy Kingman for Most Improved Player, and Captain Peggy Rogers for Most Valuable Player.

Oops! We Missed

There is an old adage that says that it is not whether you win or lose that counts but how you play the game. If the league championship went to the team who played with the best sportsmanship, undoubtably the award would have gone to Revere. Unfortunately, when actual wins and losses were tallied, we were in fourth place along with Hudson. However, a mere cup does not matter: We were still winners.

Hissong's quick footwork keeps the ball from opponent's grasp.

Girls Learn Teamwork

This was a year of building for the girls' basketball team. They learned new defenses, offenses, and, most important of all, teamwork. The nucleus of the team seemed to be centered around captain Wendy Hotz, who received the awards of High Rebounder, High Scorer, and Most Valuable Player on the night of the sports banquet.

In midseason, the team had a five game winning streak that included the only two varsity league victories. The varsity overall record was 7-9 and the league record was 2-5. The junior varsity finished the season with an overall record of 8-5 while their league record was 4-3.

Matmen Sectional Champs

This year's wrestling team finished the greatest season in Revere's history by compiling a 7-2 record and bringing home our first Sectional Championship trophy, along with the Revere Invitational runner-up crown.

Junior Kris Burkett was the RIT champ and placed second at Districts, qualifying him for the state tournament in Columbus. Revere's J.V. squad also finished an outstanding season with a 7-3 record, insuring this to be just the first in a long line of championship seasons.

Baseball's A Sure Hit At Revere

April showers may bring May flowers but they also bring muddy baseball diamonds, as Revere baseball team can affirm. Despite the rain and mud and later the sun and dust, the baseball teams Varsity coached by Mr. Stark and the Junior Varsity coached by Mr. Gibson, were able to endure the elements as well as senile referees.

The varsity team, placing fourth in the league with a overall record of 8 wins and 6 losses, produced three players for the Suburban League All-Star team: Scott Adair, Dave Barrett, and Joe Aulino. The first place in the league for Junior Varsity was determined in the last game when Revere JV's played Hudson's. Unfortunately we did not win and had to settle for second place with overall standings of 12 wins and 3 losses.

Although the ball got there before he did, Mark Hemminger is safe.

Softball Catches Spirit And Third Place

For almost any athletic game the players must be psyched up and ready to win. This year's softball team was no exception. Under the coaching of Mr. Bent, the girls won fifteen games and lost only eight, (their best record ever), placed fourth in the district, and captured third place in the suburban league with a record of 9-5. A key game of the season occurred during the district tournament when they played against Green, the suburban league champs. If they had lost the game they would have been out of the tournament. Instead, they beat Green soundly seventeen to one.

Three girls on the team made All-Suburban first team: Rose Marie Torma (outfield), Melanie Gasbarre (outfield), and Wendy Nero (shortstop). Receiving honorable mention All Suburban were seniors Mary Summerville and Mary Anne Guiney. Most Valuable Player award was shared by Mary Summerville and Wendy Nero.

"Let Us Run With Endurance The Race That Is Set Before Us . . ."

The Apostle Paul often used the analogy of a race to describe the Christian's life for they both require the same strengths. To run when running was the hardest thing to do, to press harder when there was no strength left, to endure when endurance seemed impossible were all necessary for victory, whether it was personal or for Revere. Although many of the victories this year were personal, there were visible rewards of endurance with the breaking of several school records by Chris Lester in the discus throw (143'3"), by the mile relay team of Mark Seifert, Curt Kollert, Russ Ulery, and Mike David (3:42.2), by the 880 relay team of Mike Millisor, Mark Tibbs, Mark Seifert, and Mike David (1:35.1), and by the pole vault relay team of Skip Troike, Dave Tuttle, and Darin Yassanye (33 ft.). They, like Paul, say they have run a good race.

Premier Performance By Girls' Track

Revere's first girls' track team accomplished several excellent feats. The team only consisted of twenty girls, with the help and encouragement of Coach Stevenson, many records were set. The spirit and dedication of the girls was remarkable: often practices were held on weekends and even at 6:30 in the morning before school started.

The 880 medley team, consisting of Diane Mioduszeski, Bridget Parthe and Stacy Taylor, became sectional champs and qualified for the district competition at Kent Roosevelt High School. The 880 relay team of the same girls also qualified for districts, placing fourth in Sectionals. Although the two relay teams failed to qualify for State, the girls bettered their record with times of 1:55 seconds in the medley and 1:50.2 in the relay.

The seniors played an important part this season. Without the help and support of our team captains, DeeDee Millisor and Lynne Nobil, the girls' excellent team spirit would have been impossible.

Cross Country's Future Looks Bright.

Although the cross country team came in sixth in the league, Coach Shimko is optimistic at the end of the season. Sophomores and freshmen compose most of the team, and this year's five top finishers in the league meets were underclassmen. This year's team won 7 out of 11 meets beating: North High, South High, Woodridge, Nordonia, Norton, Green, and Copley. The team also tied with Highland.

Reverie Reaches For Perfection

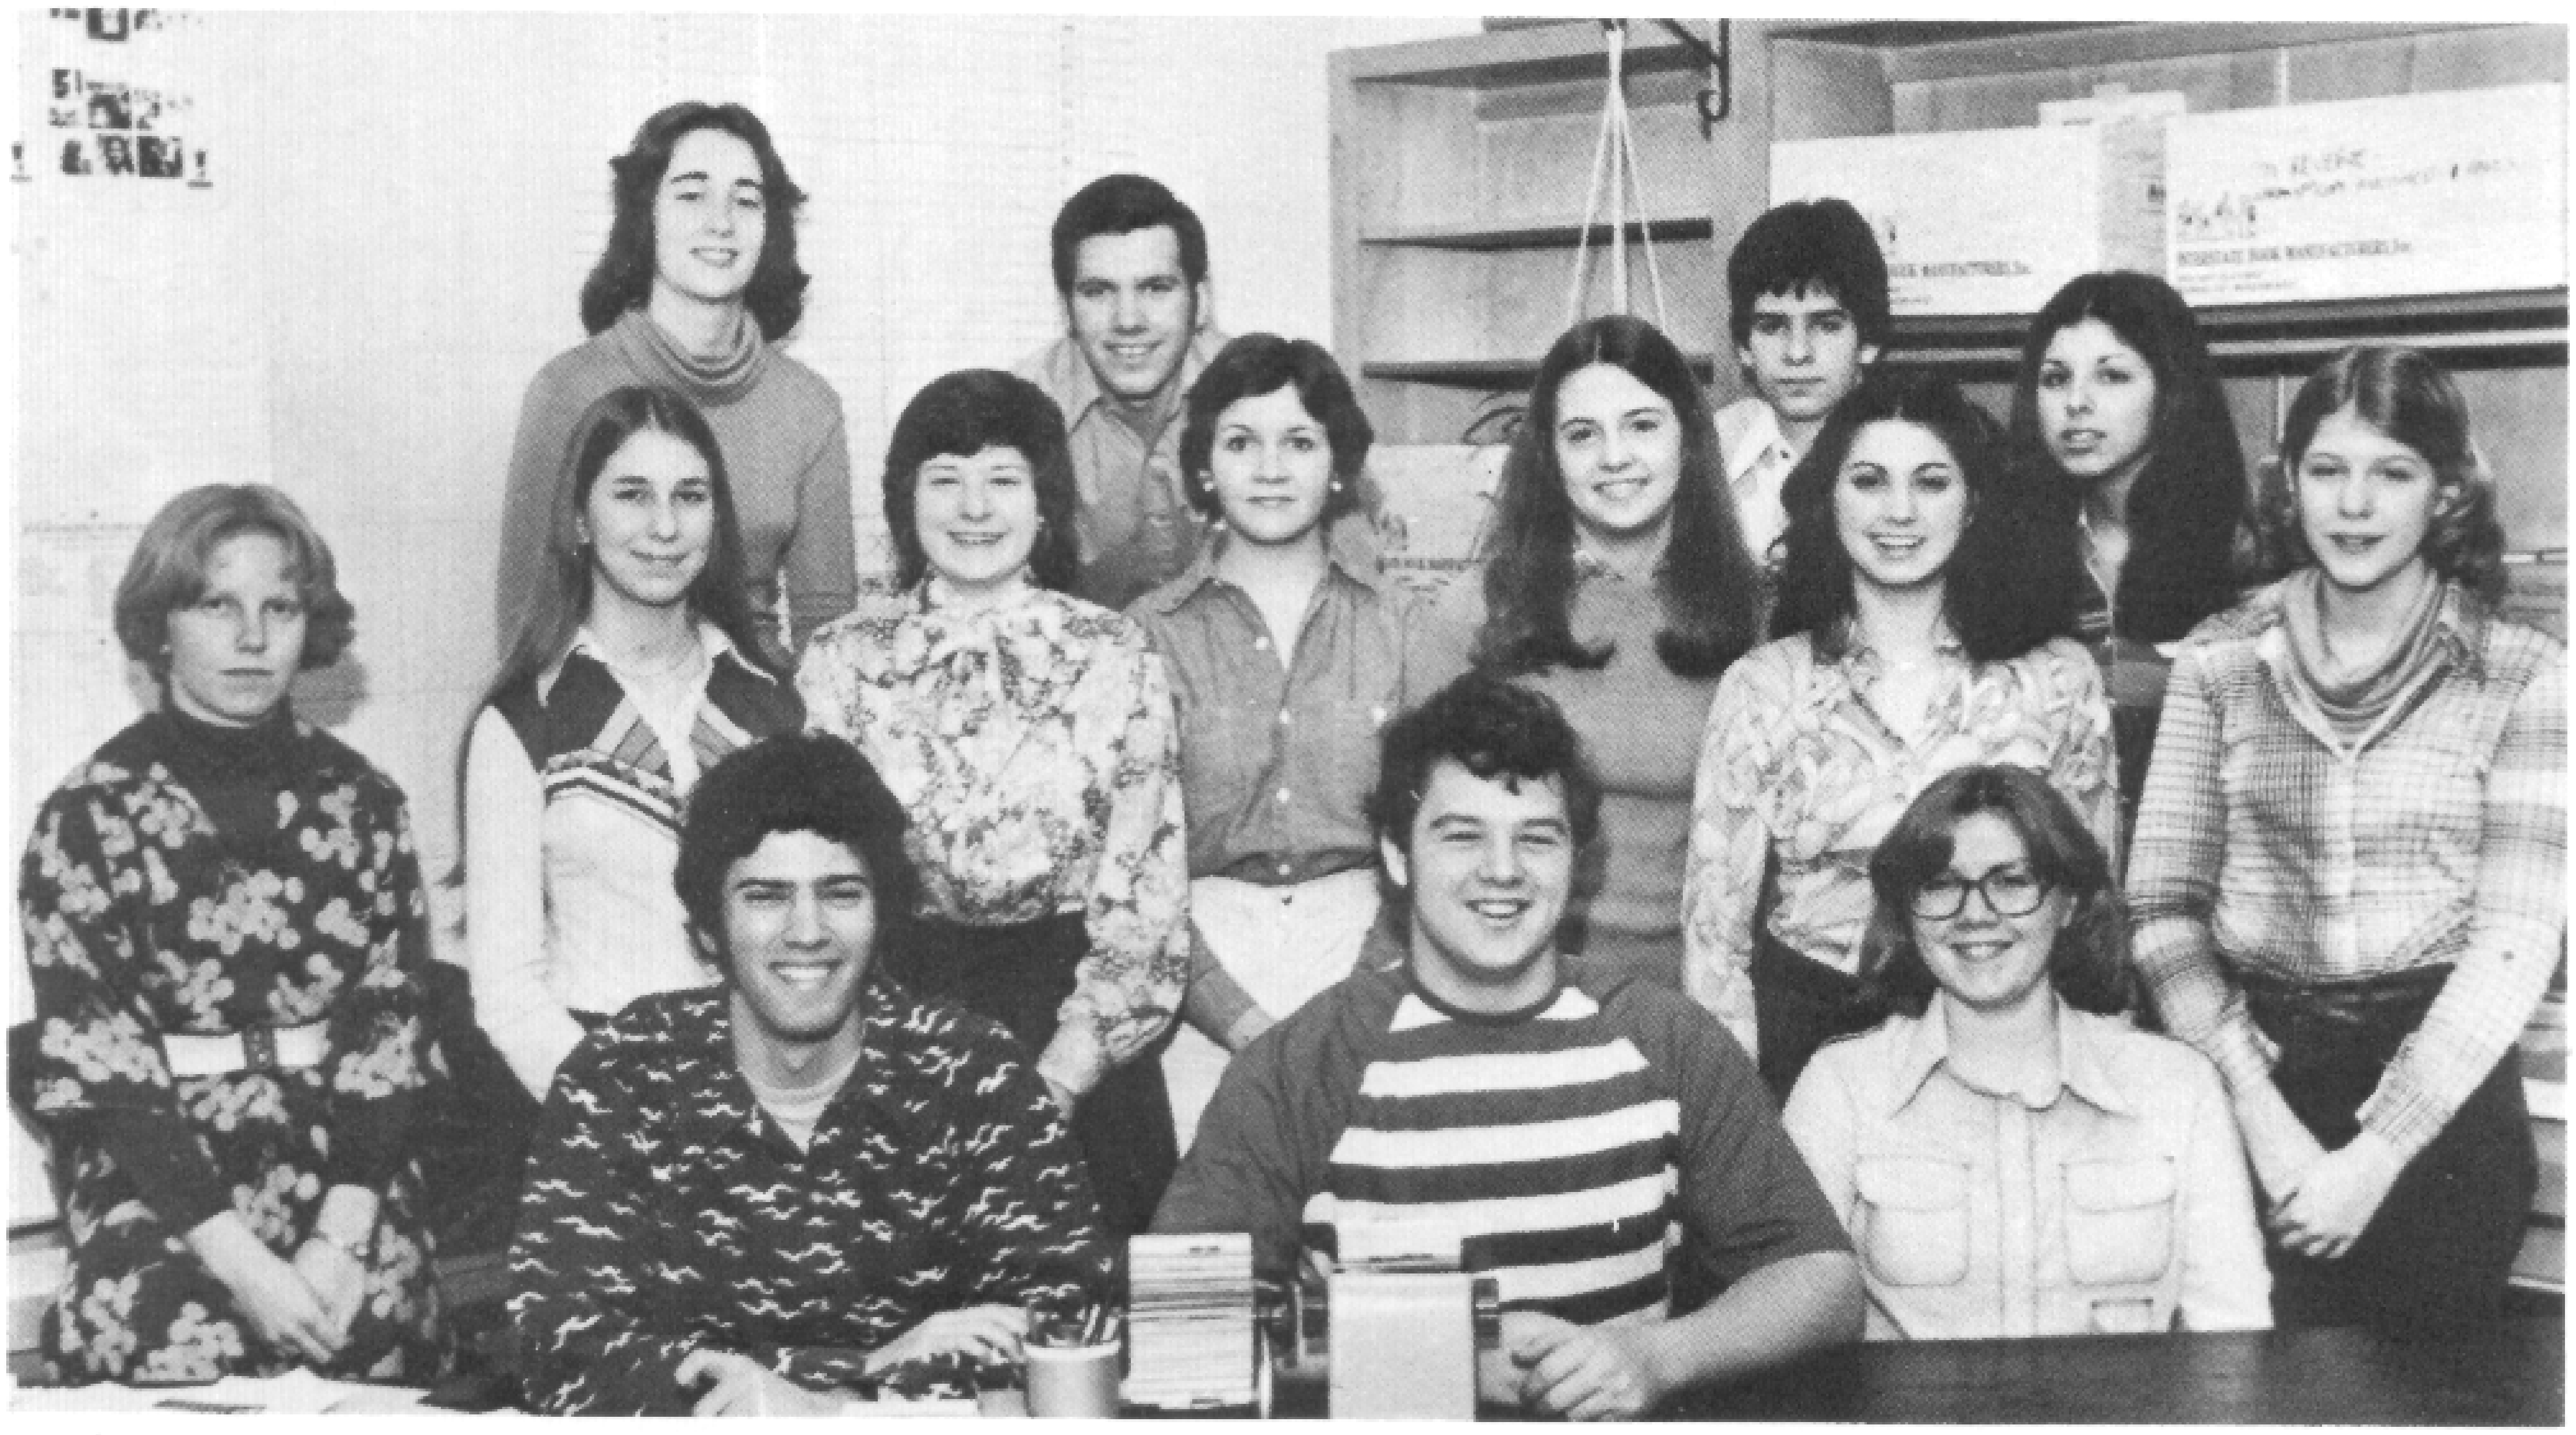
The yearbook has come a long way since the first edition of the HOOFBEAT twenty-five years ago. This year we have colored photographs, in addition to the traditional black and white, thanks to our new publishing company, Josten's American Yearbook Company, and its representative, Mr. David Pataky. We are also indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Crawford from Carpenter's Studios for their invaluable assistance.

Fun and laughter could often be observed in the yearbook office throughout the year. However, a good time was not our only concern; we also had a yearbook to write. Editor Kevin Schlueter, business manager Mike Lehr, copy-editor Marge DeMund, photographer Leigh Atkins, and a multitude of other people worked diligently to produce the 1977 REVERIE under the direction of Mrs. Frazier.

"If you don't do that page . . ." was Kevin's subtle technique to meet deadlines.



(Seated) M. Lehr, K. Schlueter, M. DeMund; (Middle) S. Sabaka, J. Melden, A, Jordan, B. Rusanowsky, C. Morley, G. Colonna, H. Jameson; (back) L. Peebles, L. Atkins, B. Henry, and L. Young comprised the REVERIE staff.

THE LANTERN

REVERE HIGH SCHOOL 'REVERIE' ISSUE VOLUME XXV 10cents

Whether a deadline has been missed or the presses have broken down, Editor Merrill still can smile.

Who was the Shadow? REVERIE was able to uncover the big scoop of the year when it found out the identity of mysterious LANTERN columnist—Greg Bredbeck. Besides gossip LANTERN contained features (ed. Deb Wykle), editorials (editor Marty Schmidt was pleased when she did not have to write Letters to the Editor because of high student interest), sports (ed. Bill Henry), and "LANTERN Lights" by Richard An, as well as photos by Julianna Peterson and Sue Boros.

Throughout this year's production, of eight issues under the supervision of Mr. Lewis, staff members learned to use several essential machines such as the headliner and composer. Next year, perhaps they will learn to run the presses, with the help of Mr. Meyers.

Rushing to meet another publication date, Linda Woodard, Loran Keys, and Kelly Douds receive instructions from Lee.

Staff and reporters for the LANTERN include: (front) Linda Woodard, Loran Keys, Evan Smith, Kelly Douds; (back) Sue Boros, Debbie Wykle, Marty Schmidt, Anne Kubelik, Jeff Dahmer, Greg Bredbeck, Debbie Piscak, Bill Henry, and Sarah Westfall.

Champion Season For Orators

If you think your best friend loves to talk, you should observe a National Forensic League meeting. There you will find the perfect place for the lovers of elocution. NFL members not only like to talk, they also trained themselves to speak better in the areas of individual events, that include dramatic, humorous, and oratorical interpretation, original oratory, and duet acting; and debate which is divided into two and four men teams. As a result of advisor Mr. Don Welch's coaching, the speech and debate team sent a record six people to the state tournament held at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio.

Members of NFL include: (Front) P. Buerling, M. Schmidt, R. An, A. Margolis, L. Woodward, A. Kubelik, H. Roussi, M. Cho, A. Jordan, S. Boros, G. Stoffer (pres.); (Back) S. Brodeur, B. Bredbeck, M. Lehr, M. Mitch, E. Smith, A. Lamont, E. Boselli, and G. Charlton.

Student Council Changes Its Appearance

In order to increase its effectiveness, student council made several changes for the '76-'77 school year. All student council members were in the same homeroom, allowing council business to take place more frequently. Members were also assigned homerooms to report student council matters to all students. Mid-year, Executive Council evaluated the jobs each representative was doing to help keep standards high.

Student Council again brought the student body a variety of activities. They sponsored a Whooper eating contest against Copley, with Revere's Mickey Selby as the winner. At every other student council dance, contests were held and the best dancers received albums. The Thanksgiving assembly was highlighted by the guest speaker, Cleveland Browns' tight end Oscar Roan. One very successful event was the donkey basketball game in which members of Revere and Eastview faculties risked life and limb by riding donkeys on the court.

Exploring The Place Where It All Begins

This year, under the direction of Mr. Dave Weber, another group of senior and junior Revere students set out to spend a week in the capitol city of this nation. The visit was in connection with the Close-Up program in which students from the Akron area observed the complexity of the Federal Government. The first two days dealt with the sites of Washington, and the group was able to visit everything from the windy Jefferson Memorial to the quiet Library of Congress. The rest of the week dealt with the Legislative, Judicial, and Executive branches of the government and ended with a free day. When this day arrived, everyone was let loose to explore as they chose. Some managed to see the Vice-President of the United States; however, they were all able to see John Glenn, Howard Metzenbaum, and John Seiberling—the three major congressmen who represent the Akron area (and Ohio) in the chambers of Congress.

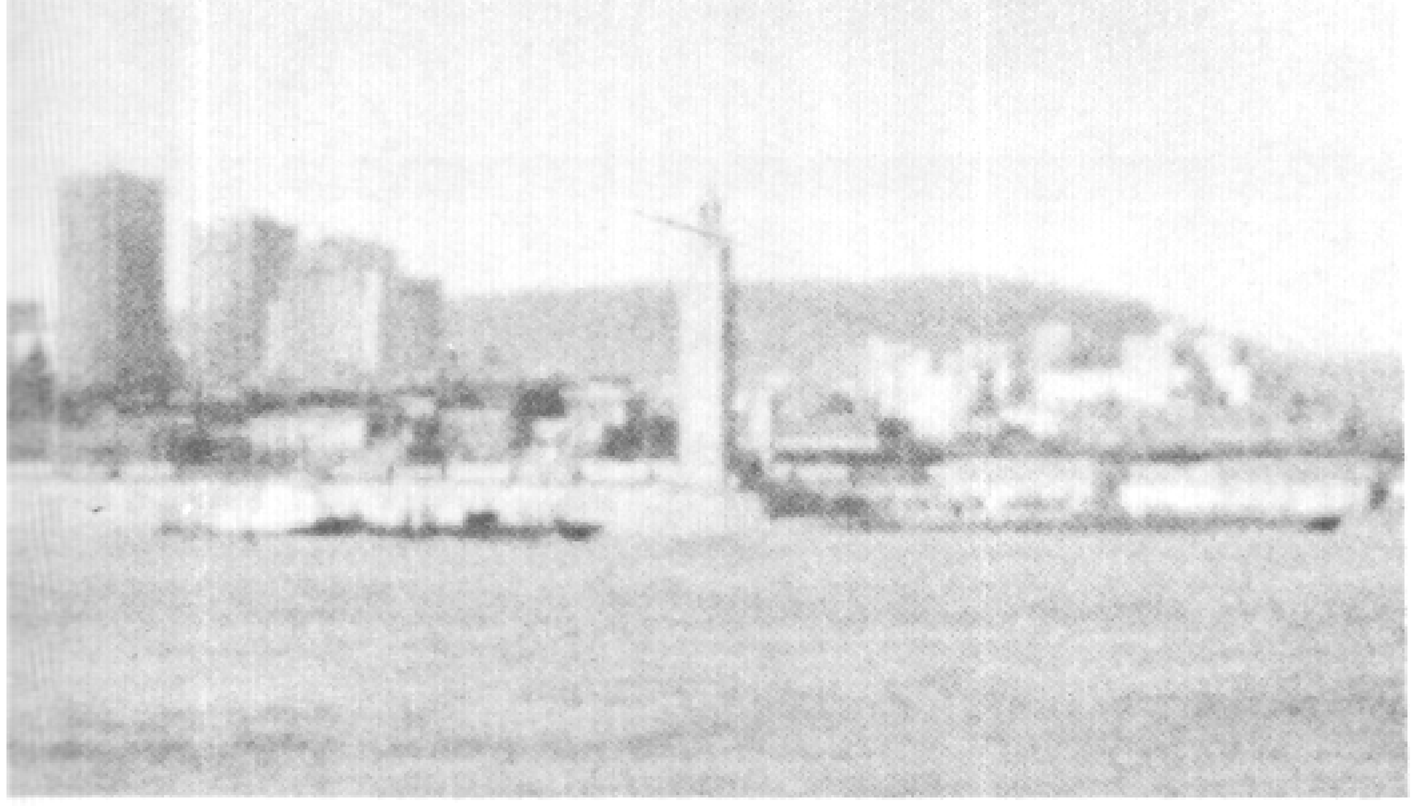
The busy week, in which one was fortunate to receive more than six hours sleep a day, proves too much for Marty Schmidt.

With the schedule packed, time is never wasted; thus it is possible to see instantaneous activities taking place even for a few minutes in the halls of the hotel (cards for instance).

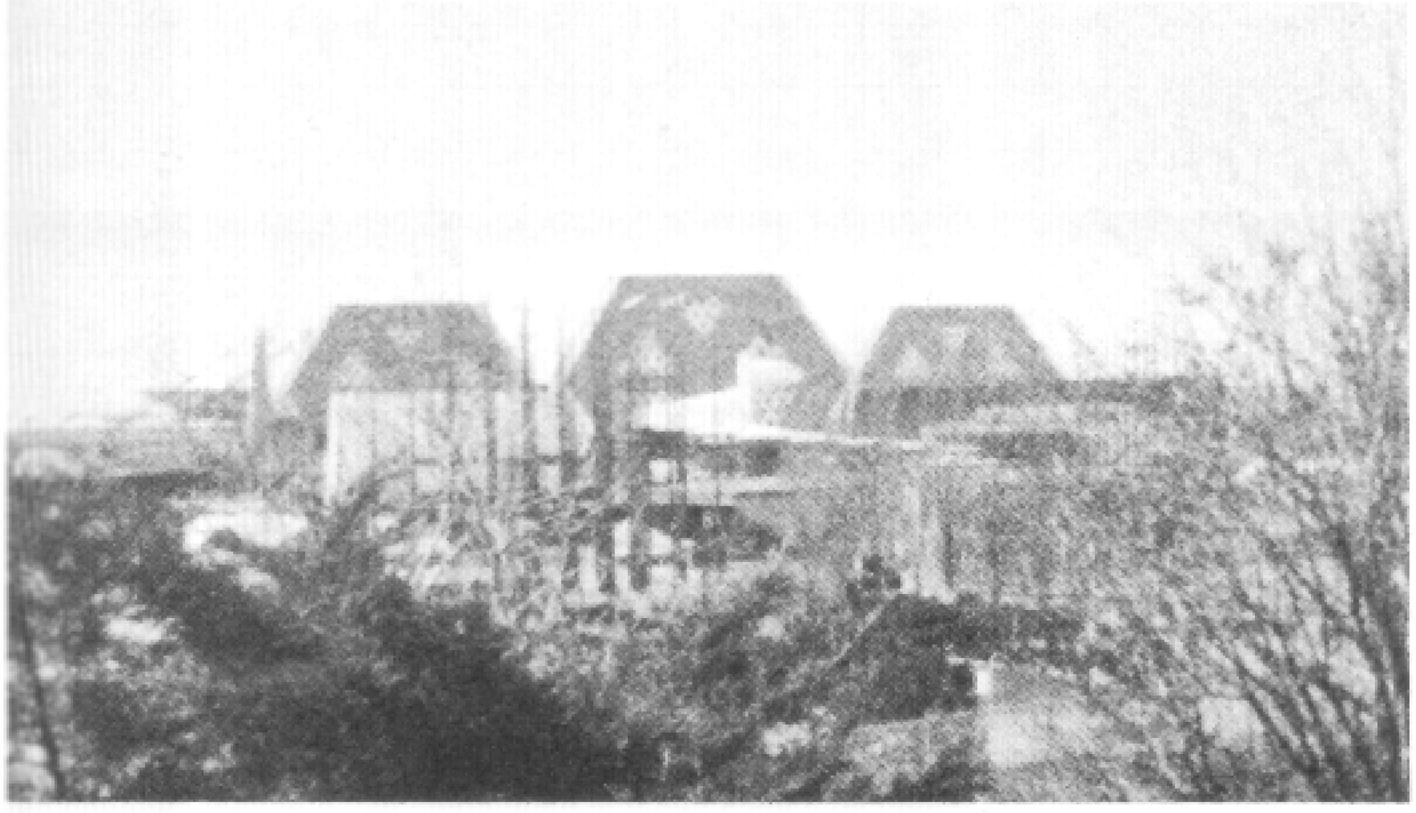
All students received the chance to hear and ask questions from their own John Seiberling.

Of course, it is not all work, one night the Close-Up group gets the chance to dine at the famous Kennedy Center as do Marty Schmidt and Liz Peebles.

Montreal: Seven Hundred Miles And A World Away



The St. Lawrence River, as important now to shipping as it was three hundred years ago, surrounds an ever expanding Montreal.



From a high vantage point, the dormant exposition grounds can be seen as it is being prepared for the summer season.

The French have a word for places like Montreal: enchante. The twenty students from the French V class and chaperones Mrs. Clay and Mrs. Boscia, who made the week long trip to Montreal in April as a part of their culminating project, became enchanted with the city: its language, its atmosphere, its cuisine, its architecture, and most of all, its people. The second largest French-speaking city in the world, Montreal, Quebec, provided not only an excellent opportunity to actually use eight years' worth of French study, but also offered the cosmopolitan flavor of large cities that no one should miss.

Wandering throughout the city, whether by foot, by the underground Metro, or by bus, the French scholars saw all the famous sites of Montreal such as the Olympic village, Ile Ste-Helene (Expo island), the vast subterranean shopping complexes, Old Montreal, and Notre Dame church. Although these were all fascinating places to visit, the real fun came from the unusual activities: going to see a play in French (Qui A Peur de Virginia Woolfe?), trying to communicate with shopkeepers and clerks who did not know any English, watching the first baseball game of the season in the same stadium where the 1976 Summer Olympics were held, and trying to like French onion soup.

After a wearying day of travel and then a short shopping expedition, the French class pause to relax on the steps of the cathedral of Marie Reine-du-Monde.

Because the money usually given to National Honor Society was unavailable this year, the annual induction ceremony of new members had to be postponed until sufficient funds had been raised. New members were chosen on the basis of leadership, scholarship, service, and character.

The activities of Revere's chapter of the American Field Service reads like a veritable geography book, or perhaps the itinerary of Philias Fogg, the immortal hero of AROUND THE WORLD IN EIGHTY DAYS. Senior Margaret Boros returned in March after a year's residency in Japan where she enjoyed the hospitality of her foreign family; Beth Cooke spent an exciting six weeks in Brazil earlier this year learning to speak Portuguese and to eat beans and rice. # "All The World's A Stage . . ."

Little did the ancient Greek actor Thespis realize that his name would be borrowed by a small, amateur theater group at Revere High. However, Thespians are not only composed of actors. Where would they be without all those "little people"—stage and prop crews, light and sound crews, costume and makeup crews, set construction crews, ticket sellers, and ushers? They would be spuing their lines on a dark, naked, and silent stage to an empty house. It takes a lot of sweat to get one play produced (let alone the four productions staged by Thespians), but thanks to director Mr. Silas Morse, everything comes to a harmonious blend by curtain time.

Those headed for Hollywood are: (front) P. Strassburg, D. Millisor, G. Colonna, V. Deffibaugh, B. Henry; (second) A. Jordan, T. Boselli, B. Ashbrook, D. Lehman, G. Munster; (third) M. Boros, J. Grauer, J. Nelson, C. Dallinga; (fourth) D. Lenington, L. Sharp, B. Nagel, G. Bredbeck; (fifth) H. Adair, S. Eisentrout, D. Uhl, B. Rusanowsky, J. Gibbs, M. Kukral; (sixth) J. Pence, D.J. Kelly, L. Eckart, J. Norman, L. Peebles, N. Manocchio; (seventh) D. Cox, K. Bowers, J. Pica, B. Cooke, S. Landis, J. Steinbauer, L. Culp, G. Egbert; (eighth) J. McKisson, K. Houser, S. Brodeur, P. Badowski, P. Buerling, D. Piscura, J. Melden, L. Marlowe, M. DeMund.

"It's Pretty, But Is It Art?"

A keen interest in art and a willingness to devote every Monday evening to artistic pursuits are the primary requirements for becoming a part of the art club. Meetings are usually spent in craft workshops or field trips to University of Akron's art department and area art museums. Members of Art Club also help advisor Mrs. Jean Lueptow host the annual Spring Art Show.

Art club members are: (FRONT) B. Arnold, T. Rohrer, L. Sharp; (BACK) J. Harris, W. Sperr, K. Merriwether, A. Nichols, S. Soulek.

Wanted: Experience

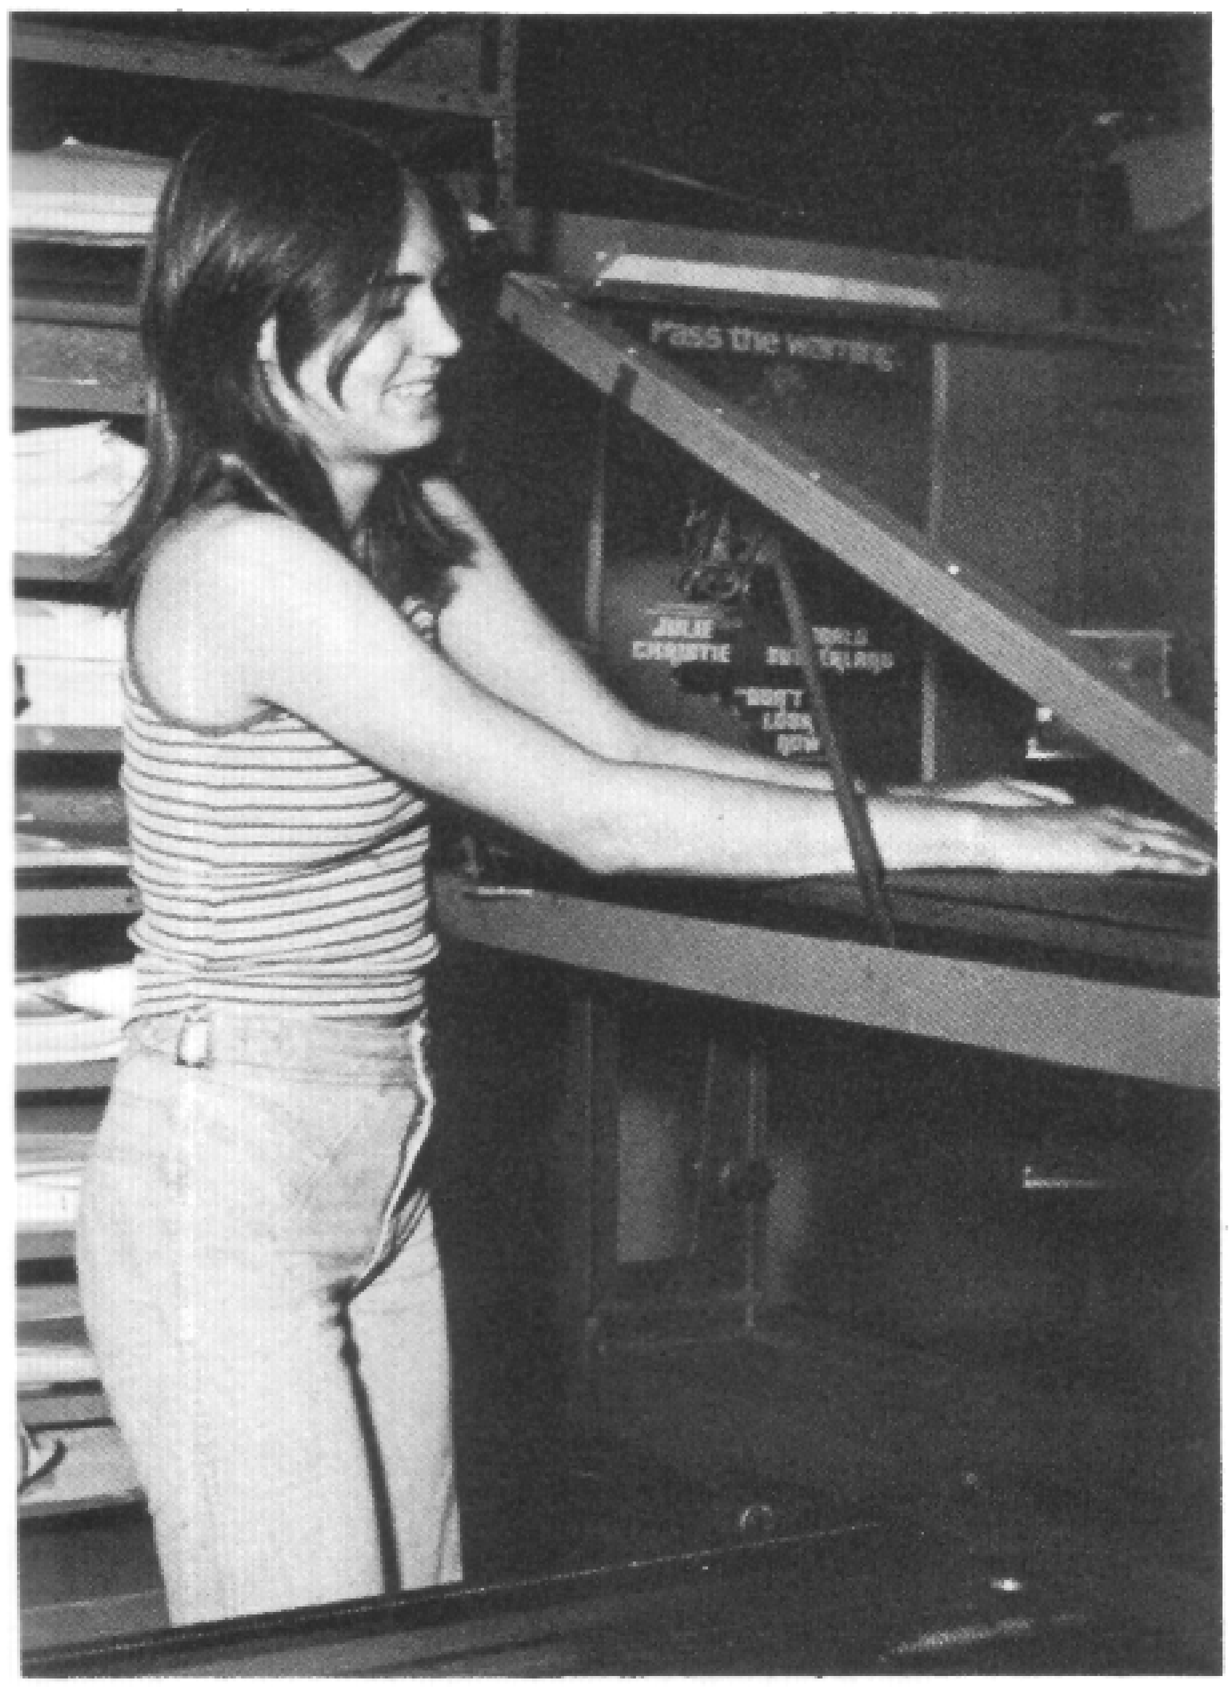
A major complaint among many students is that they are not taught what they can use. To remedy this situation, several programs were devised to provide training and experience. Cooperative Office Education under Mrs. Curtis, Distributive Education under Mr. Deyling and Occupational Work Experience under Mr. Mulrooney were all based on the same principle of offering students training in area businesses, although they differed slightly.

The Cuyahoga Valley Joint Vocational School in connection with seven other area high schools provided excellent facilities for practical training in twenty-four different areas as well as helped to place students in suitable jobs upon graduation. About eighty Revere juniors and seniors were involved in the program.

Top: It takes a lot of love and plenty of patience to handle a room full of active children, but Linda White is able to keep some of their attention in the Child Care Center. Middle left: Busy at the presses, Cliff Lewis feeds the never-satiated rollers. Besides some very interesting items, tickets and programs are printed at the school. Middle right: Computers can store unbelievable amounts of information, and while this information can be obtained at a push of a button, the question is which button to push. Jim Klein in Data Processing can find the right one. Bottom left: Mysterious machines are mere toys for Don Hartman. Bottom right: In Cosmetology, Dawn Frank learns not only to apply make-up but also scalp and facial treatment, and hair coloring and tinting.

Training Beyond The Classroom Found At CVJVS



Left top: Jill Miller positions a photograph on the transformer in the darkroom. Top right: Learning the intricacies of the automobile engine, Attila Csepe tinkers with the carburetor.

Revere Still Relies On Chants

One of the most enduring traditions in high school is cheerleading. Every year since its formation twenty-five years ago, Revere has had a cheerleading squad that has cheered its football and basketball teams to victory and cheered them up in defeat.

Although the role of a cheerleader has not changed much in a quarter of a century, other details have altered considerably. For instance, the uniforms of the cheerleaders in 1953 compared to the ones of 1977 offer quite a contrast. Also, the chants have changed with the times. Twenty-five years ago a spectator at a football game might hear:

What do you want, gang?
TOUCHDOWN
Say it again, gang
TOUCHDOWN
Well, let's have a countdown
6-5-4-3-2-1
TOUCHDOWN!

This year at Revere's games we heard these familiar cheers:

Ah shucks, hey now, Revere is getting down and with our pride, jump back we'll show you where it's at
'cause when it comes to winning we're second to none,
because we know that you know that we know we're number one.

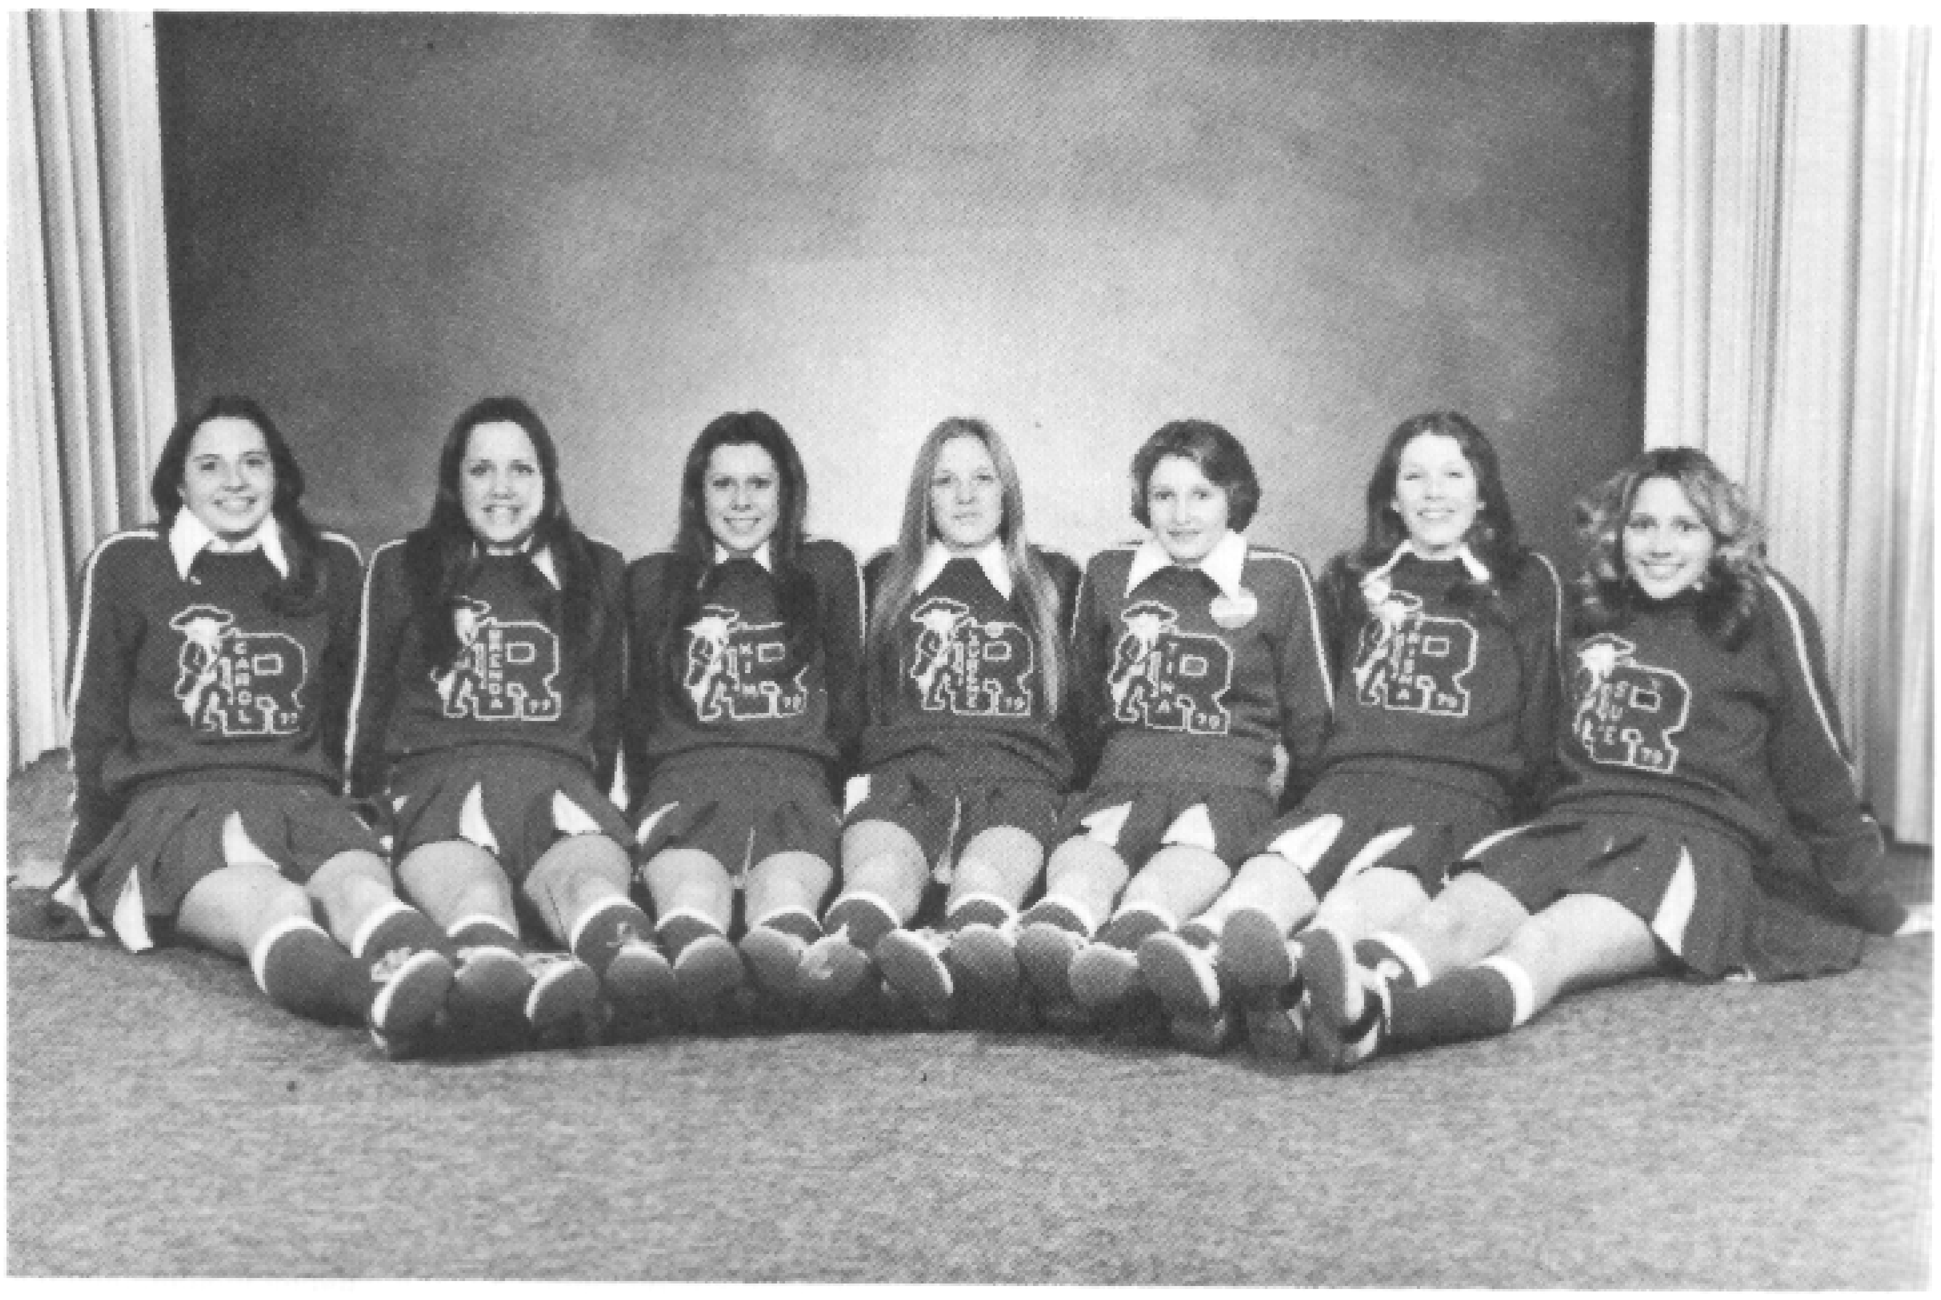
1,2,3,4,5—Revere High don't take no jive.
6,7,8,9,10—Back it up and do it again.

Gotta get down, gotta get down,
Gotta get down, whoo!



TOP: This year's freshman cheerleaders include: Marlene Hini, Allison Young, Cindy Magoline, Kathy Bessler, and Julie Stewart.

MIDDLE: Junior varsity cheerleaders are: Cheryl Hrdlicka, Joanie Hoefle, Cindy Lojek, Lisa Lopez, Missy Wills, Patty Mioduszeski, and Tammy Rogers.

BOTTOM: The varsity cheerleading squad is composed of: Carol Morley, Brenda Palmer, Kim Owoc, Laurene Springer, Tina Alessio, Trisha Scantland, and Sue Godard.

OCCURENCES

Beauty And The Beast Triumph

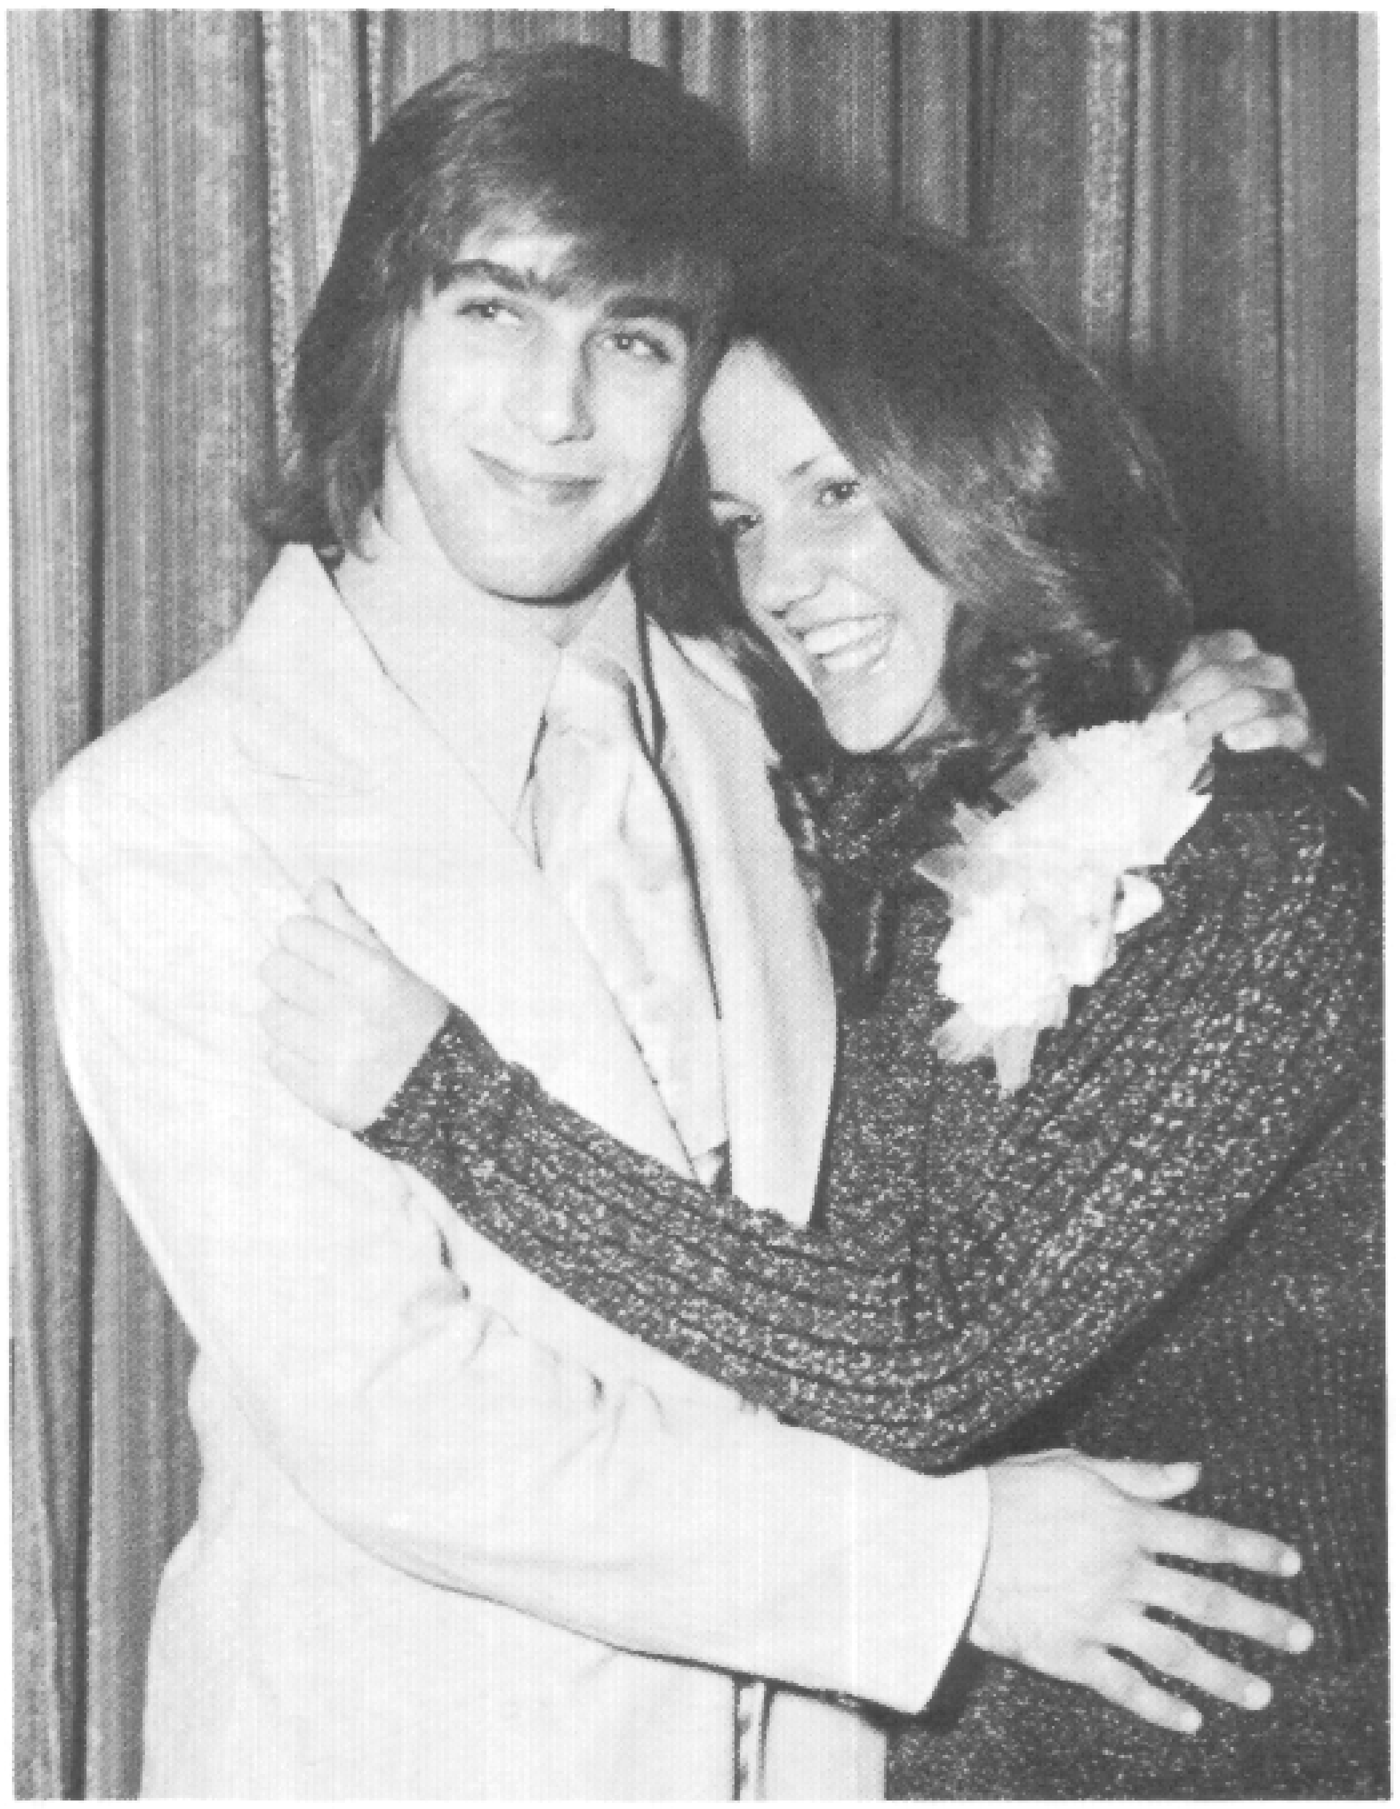
Riding aboard a half a ton of Kleenex and chicken wire, the Homecoming Court glided gracefully to the front of the grandstand. In welcome relief to the pressing tension of the moment, the P.A. system crackled into life and announced Julie Hunsley as the Homecoming Queen. Minutes later the results of the float judging were given—the Juniors' rendition of King Kong on the Empire State Building had snarled its way to the top of the pile.

Father Mr. Kaas feels all thumbs pinning on Sue's corsage.



Pat Oros and Brenda Palmer demonstrate the warm feeling of togetherness found during the Homecoming.

Smiles become Homecoming Queen, sparkling Julie Hunsley.

Spirit Week Weathers Cloudy Skies

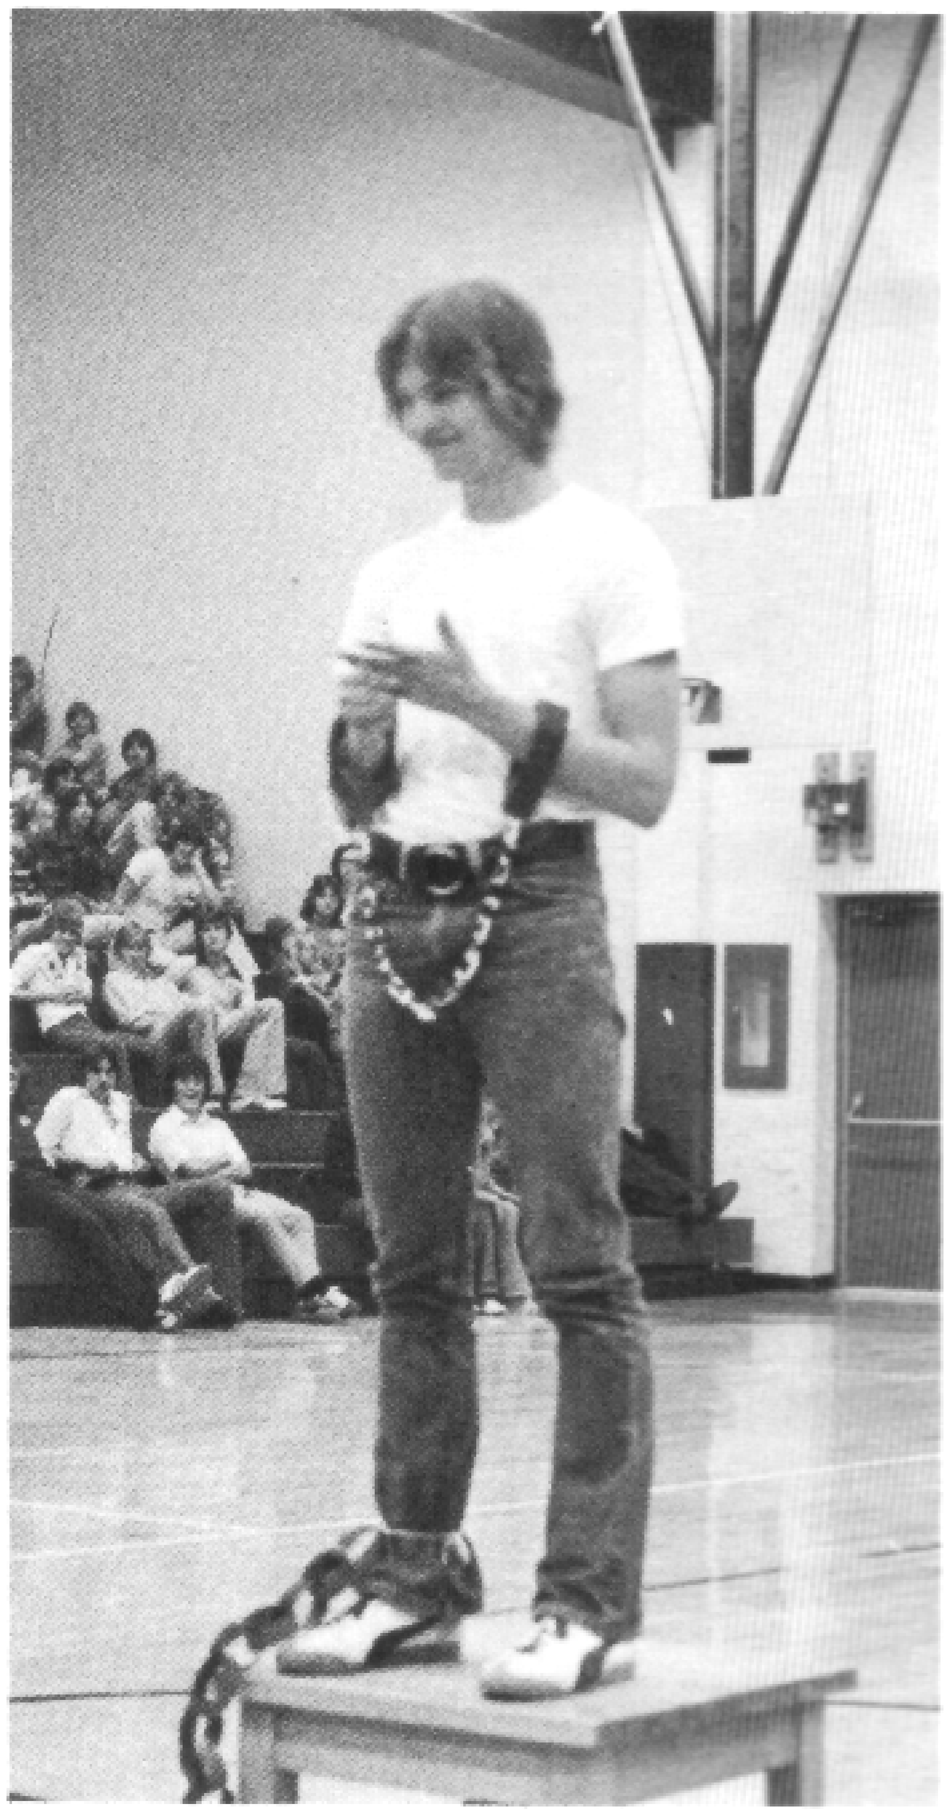
Two Volkswagons in neutral await the start of the "Bug" Race which juniors win.

Hundreds and hundreds of dollars did not rain down in response to the raucous cry of "What am I bid for this fine human being?" shouted alternately by auctioneers Mr. Ed Engler and Mr. Don Welch at Revere's Slave Auction held during Revere's Spirit Week, October 11 through October 16. Class rivalry to buy the choicest specimens never struck a spark.

On "Almost Anything Goes" night, gloomy skies and biting winds did not discourage many participants from pushing "bugs" down the straightaway, from passing wet noodles on Pringles' potato chips from mouth to mouth, from stuffing balloons into long johns that a teammate was wearing, and from stuffing ice cream into mouths and anything else handy in the Trojan War. The freshmen, lucky newcomers, won the Trojan War. The weather, joining the "Almost Anything Goes" fun, nipped several students with frostbite.

"That's Entertainment, Part III" was the theme for the Homecoming game which climaxed the week's activities Friday night, and a student-council-sponsored dance Saturday night brought Spirit Week to its finale.

Mr. Ed Engler plays the role of a stand-up comedian at the Slave Auction.



Shackled and on the block, Scott Adair grimaces and wonders about his roots.

The only thing needed by seven o'clock on November 17th was a wild necktie. Assuming one could be found in an hour, the show could go on. After searching unceasingly for an out of the ordinary tie for bank teller Greg Bredbeck, costume head Lauri Culp finally came up with a particularly weird specimen that was knit by Hopi Indians at the Grand Canyon. With the set construction work finished only seconds before, though someone still had to find a train seat for Pete Buerling's scene, the large cast assembled in the chaotic make-up room for a last minute pep talk, to be delivered by director Silas Morse. This was the end result . . .

Can Nanci really improve on Pete Buerling's looks?

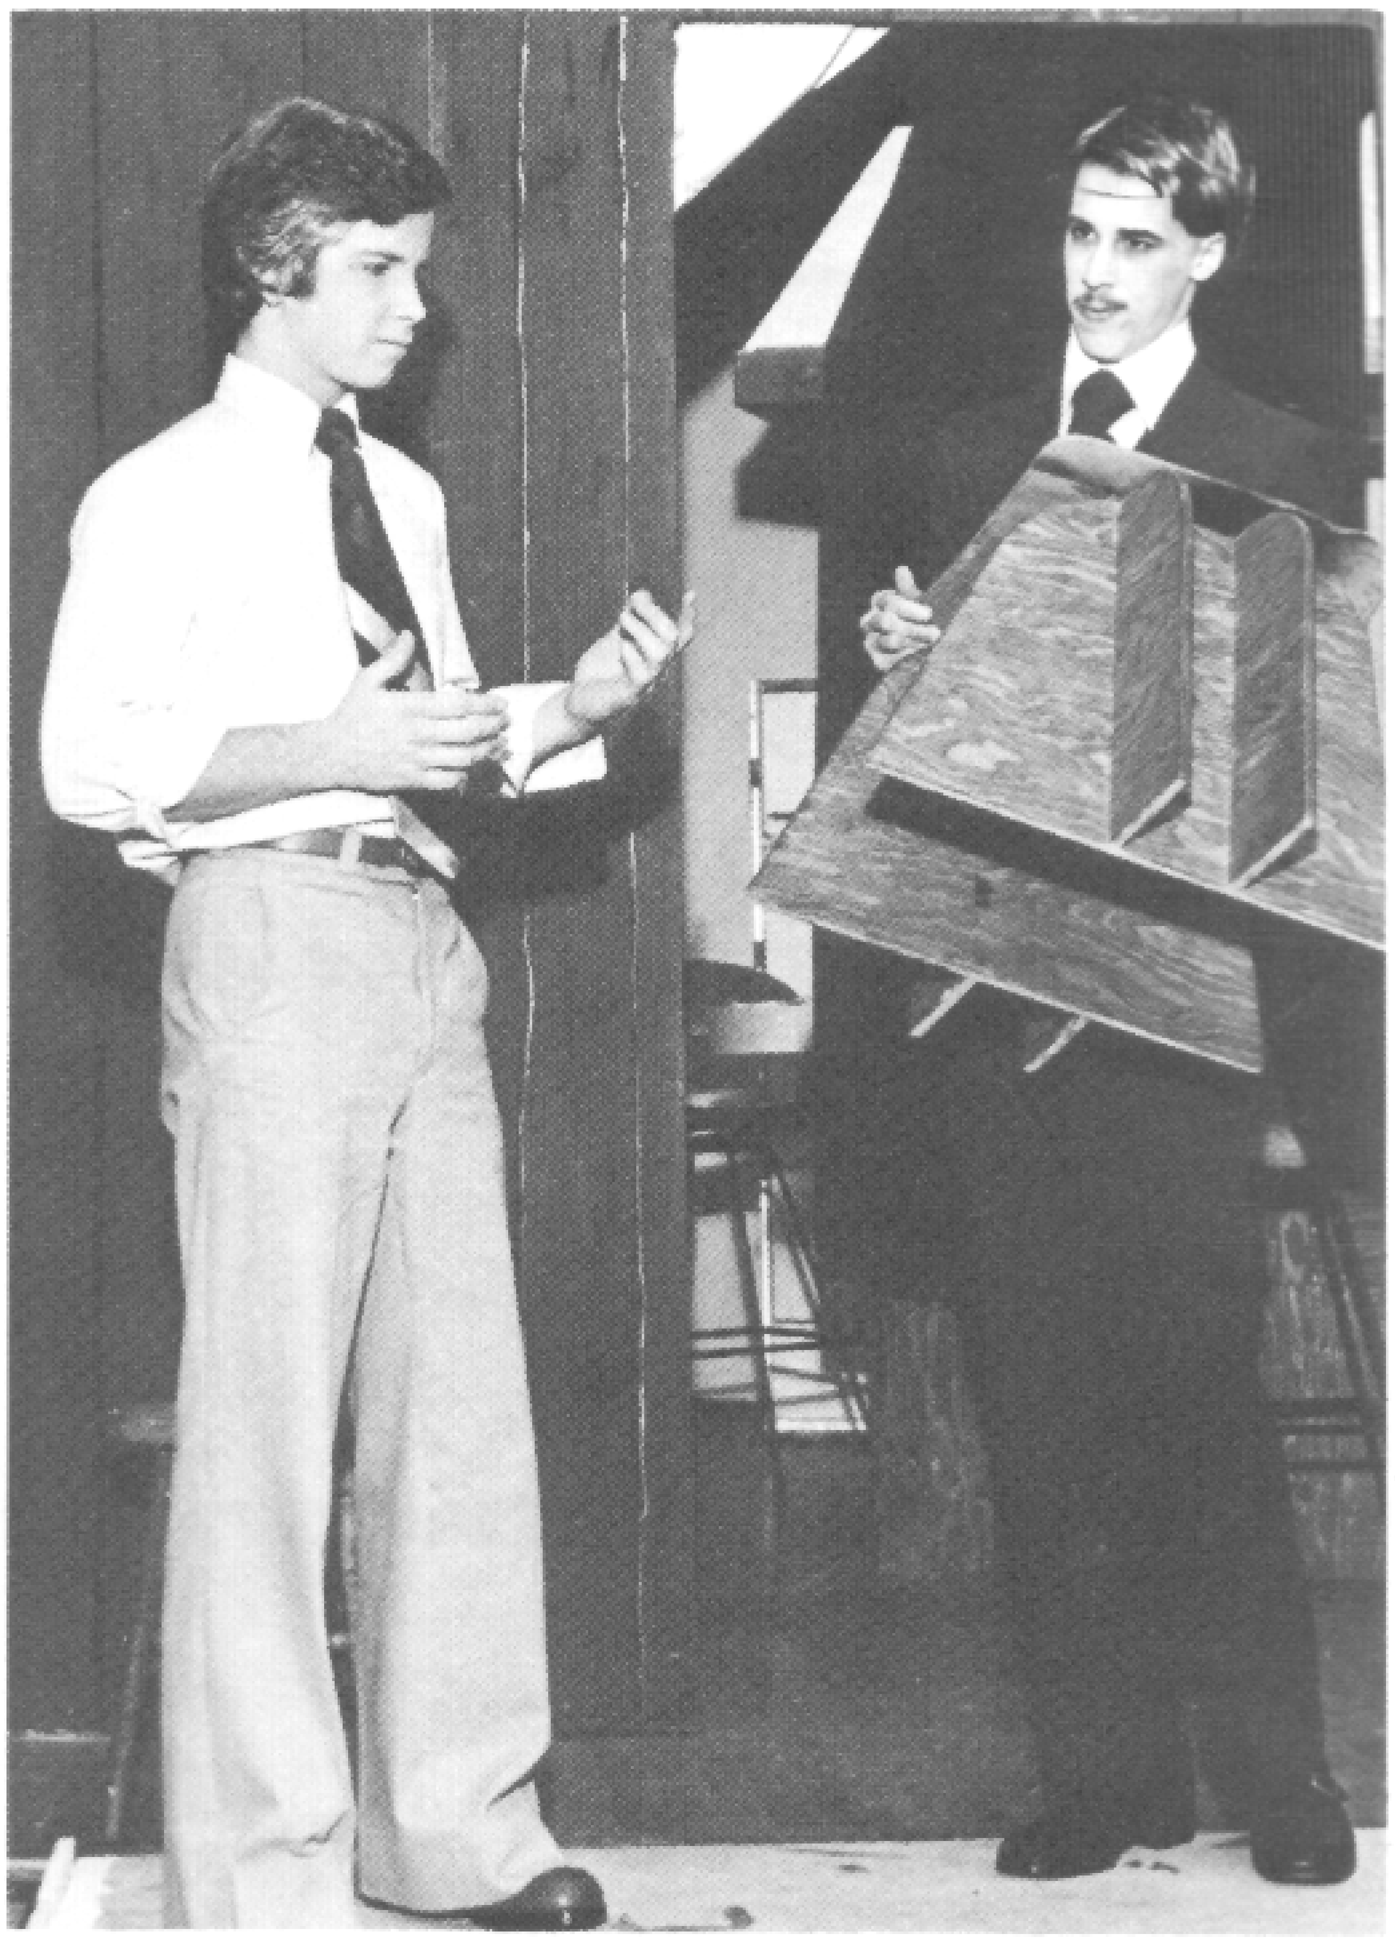
Joy Steinbauer tries to convince her out-of-work husband not to talk to the bank president's wife.



"What is this, may I ask?" "It's a Swedish chair kit," explains Nick Nero rather unconvincingly to Guy Munster.

Why Is Thoreau In Jail?

Henry Thoreau's refusal to pay a poll tax brought about both his arrest and THE NIGHT THOREAU SPENT IN JAIL. Performed February 10th, 11th, and 12th, the show went on despite snowy roads and bad weather. The play dealt with one man's confrontations with society and his endeavors to do what is right.

Cast for the play included:

| Emerson | John Norman |
| Lydian Emerson | Ann Jordan |

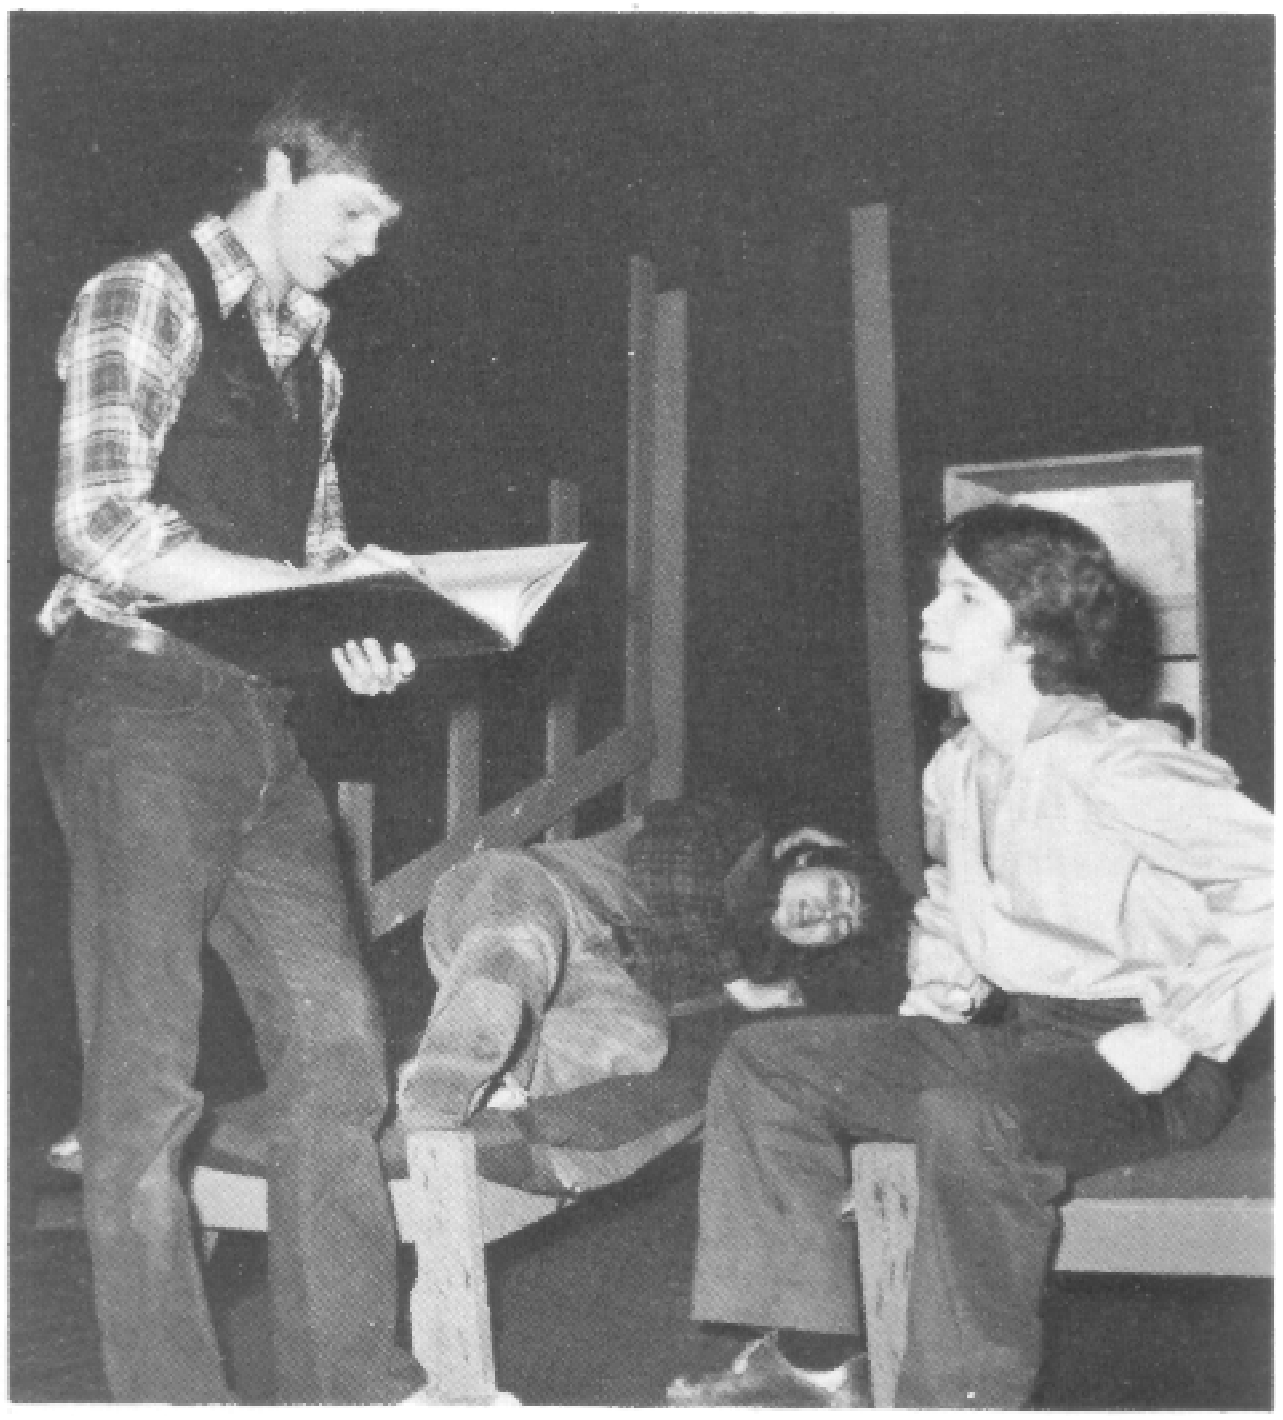
Did you ever think of Ralph Waldo Emerson as a pretzel?



"Henry, I have to have your name and occupation for the jail ledger."

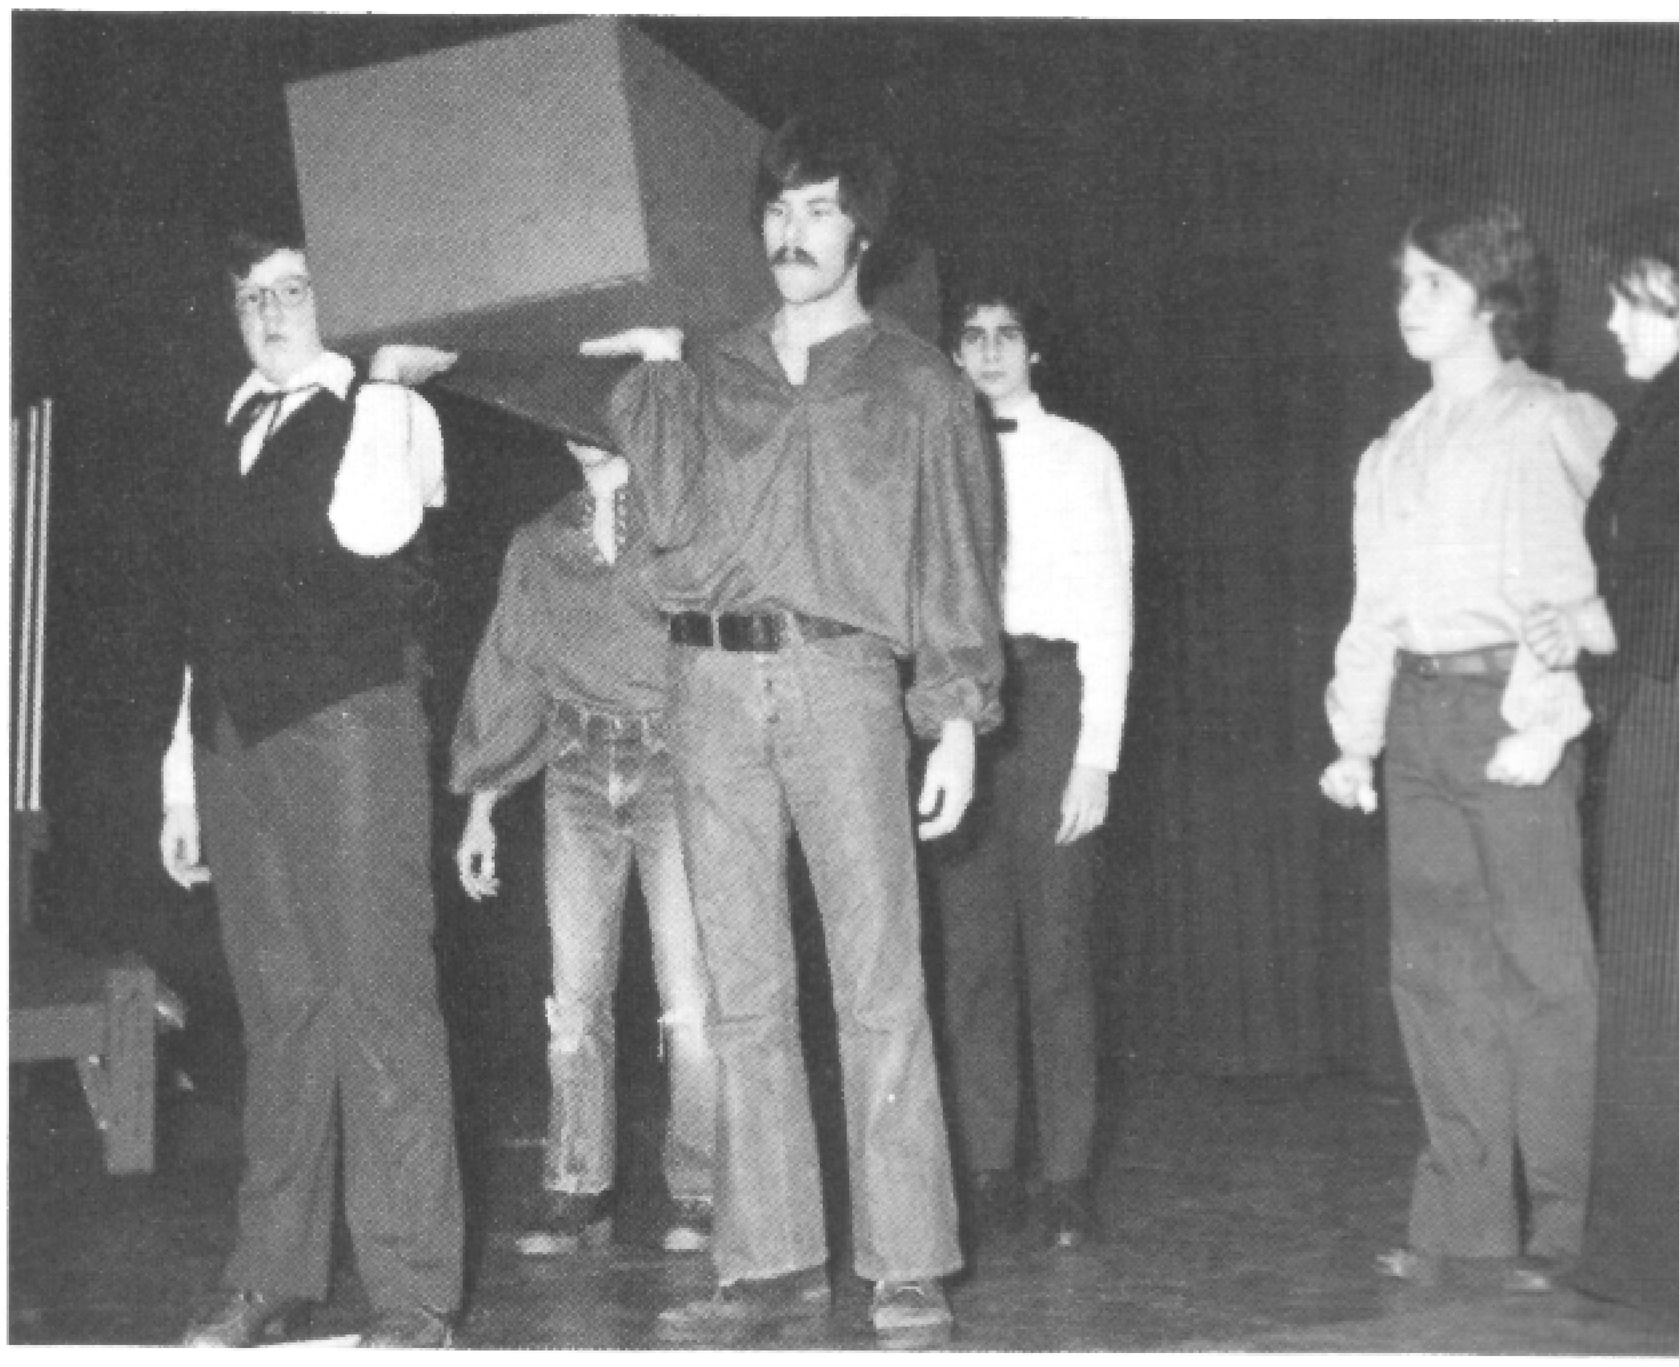
"Henry, I've spilled the huckleberries!"



The Thoreaus grieve for John Thoreau.

Revere Got A Bang From Bong Show

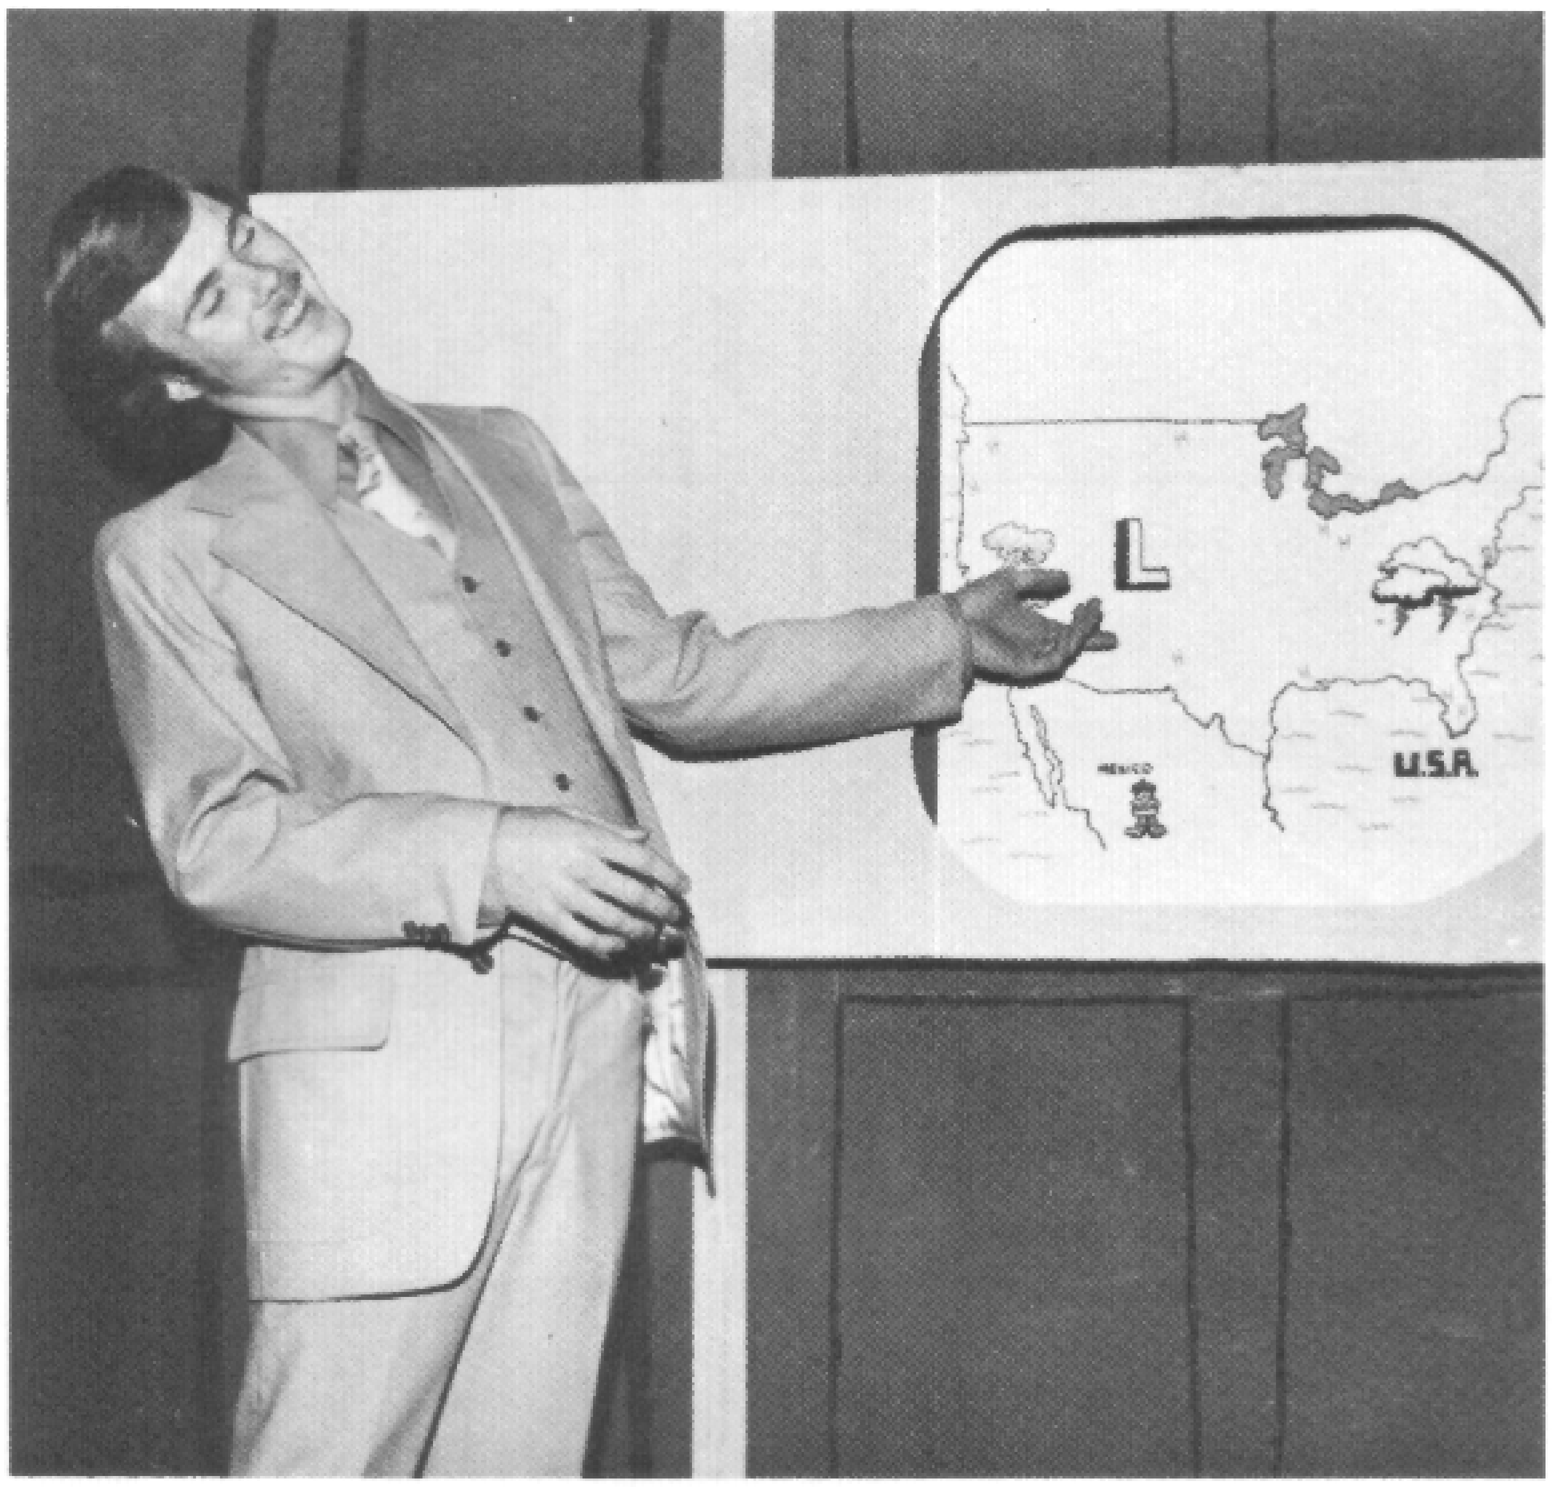
A popular televised amateur talent show, "The Gong Show", was satirized in this year's variety show. We even had our own Rex Reed (alias Derek Lenington) to offer such gems as: "Watching the first act reminded me of an ancient Bong Show proverb. Bad actors never die; they just smell like it". The latter part of the variety show was entitled "El Bongo", fulfilling director Silas Morse's idea that he has had for several years of a show in a club-like atmosphere. Singing accompanied by guitar, dancing, and comedy skits comprised most of the acts; and, despite Rex's acid remarks, all of the acts were performed consistently well throughout the five performances. Apart from the talent display, the lighting for the variety show was a show in itself.

Shari Berka accompanies herself on the guitar as she performs her rendition of "You Can Close Your Eyes".

Cast and crew gather for one last inspection by Mr. Morse.

The "Bong Show" pit band (Dave Borsvold, Dave Martin, Kay Conger, Scott Eisentrout, Dave Lehman, Greg Rogerson, Mike Kukral, Jim McKisson, Lowell Eckart, and Jim Pica) after weeks of practice play superbly for all performances.



Hippy-dippy weatherman Mike Burrall tells us the nation is in one big low with a lot of little highs all over (and especially at his girl friend's house).

"Doin' What Comes Natur'ly" is a natural for Stacy Taylor and Barb Nagel.

Thespians Make Strange Bedfellows

Under the direction of Revere's Cecil B. DeMille, Mr. Si Morse, the spring play was certainly one of the most lavish productions in Revere's theater history. With platforms extending the stage five feet forward, not only was closer action permitted, but also more area was available for ornate construction befitting the play STRANGE BEDFELLOWS by Ryerson and Clements.

Set in a Nob Hill mansion in the late 1890's, STRANGE BEDFELLOWS concerned the consequences of the marriage between a California congressman from a rich and influential family and the leader of the British suffrage movement. Complications and comedy arose when the family was opposed to the suffrage amendment until it was discovered who owned the land along the Barbary Coast.

Besides being one of the more ornamental productions, it was also one of the quickest—five weeks from casting to performance. During the those few weeks both cast and crew experienced one of the joys of the theater—forming friendships and memories that will last a lifetime.

A family portrait of the Cromwell family includes Lilian, Gifford, Addie, and Nicky Hampton, Senator and Mrs. Cromwell, and Clarissa and Matthew Cromwell.

After making his way through a crowd of "ballot-seeking females", the Senator finds one has made her way into his castle—his new daughter-in-law.

Matt and Gifford say goodnight to Vint before the women can descend upon him like an avalanche of primordial coze.

The joke is on the women when their meeting is cancelled because Joyce Hall is "an awful old fire trap."

"I am ashamed that women are so simple
To offer war where they should kneel for peace,
Or seek for rule, supremacy, and sway,
When they are bound to serve, love, and obey."—
Act I, Scene II

More than just tea is served when the women of National Assoc. Opposed to the Further Extension Of Women Meet Tillie Sparker, owner of the "Red Rooster."

Buttered up with Welsh rarebit and flattery (the likeness to Napoleon is remarkable), Mayor Tibbitt signs his name to the park permit for the suffrage meeting.

Spring Fling Works Like Spring Tonic

Starting with a dance on Saturday May 14th and culminating with the Michael Stanley Band concert on Friday May 20th, Spring Fling week was filled with numerous activities. In spite of approaching exams and final term papers, student involvement made Student Council-sponsored Spring Fling with Highland High School a huge success. Various events of the week included a Trojan dance, dunking machine, student council exchange with Highland, Greaser Day (with a sock hop in the gym), rollerskating, Junior Olympics, and a visit by the Red Cross bloodmobile. Kendall Davis, Dotty Uhl, and Melanie Greene helped organize Spring Fling and were responsible for its tremendous success.

"Have you ever had malaria, typhoid, jaundice, hepatitis, halitosis, or any infctious diseases."

"Ah, no . . . I think."

It is impossible to record fully the sensations that were produced by the MICHAEL STANLEY BAND in Revere's first rock concert. Almost every sense was involved: The multi-colored lights flashed and changed with the music. Music filled the air and echoed between the ceiling and the floor, the floor vibrated with the beat of the drums, the melody of the keyboard, the pounding of the electric guitars, and songs of the MICHAEL STANLEY BAND. Rock was not the only type of song the group performed. Upon request Michael Stanley sang his song that had been adopted by the Senior Class as its song.

There Is A Time To Be Awarded

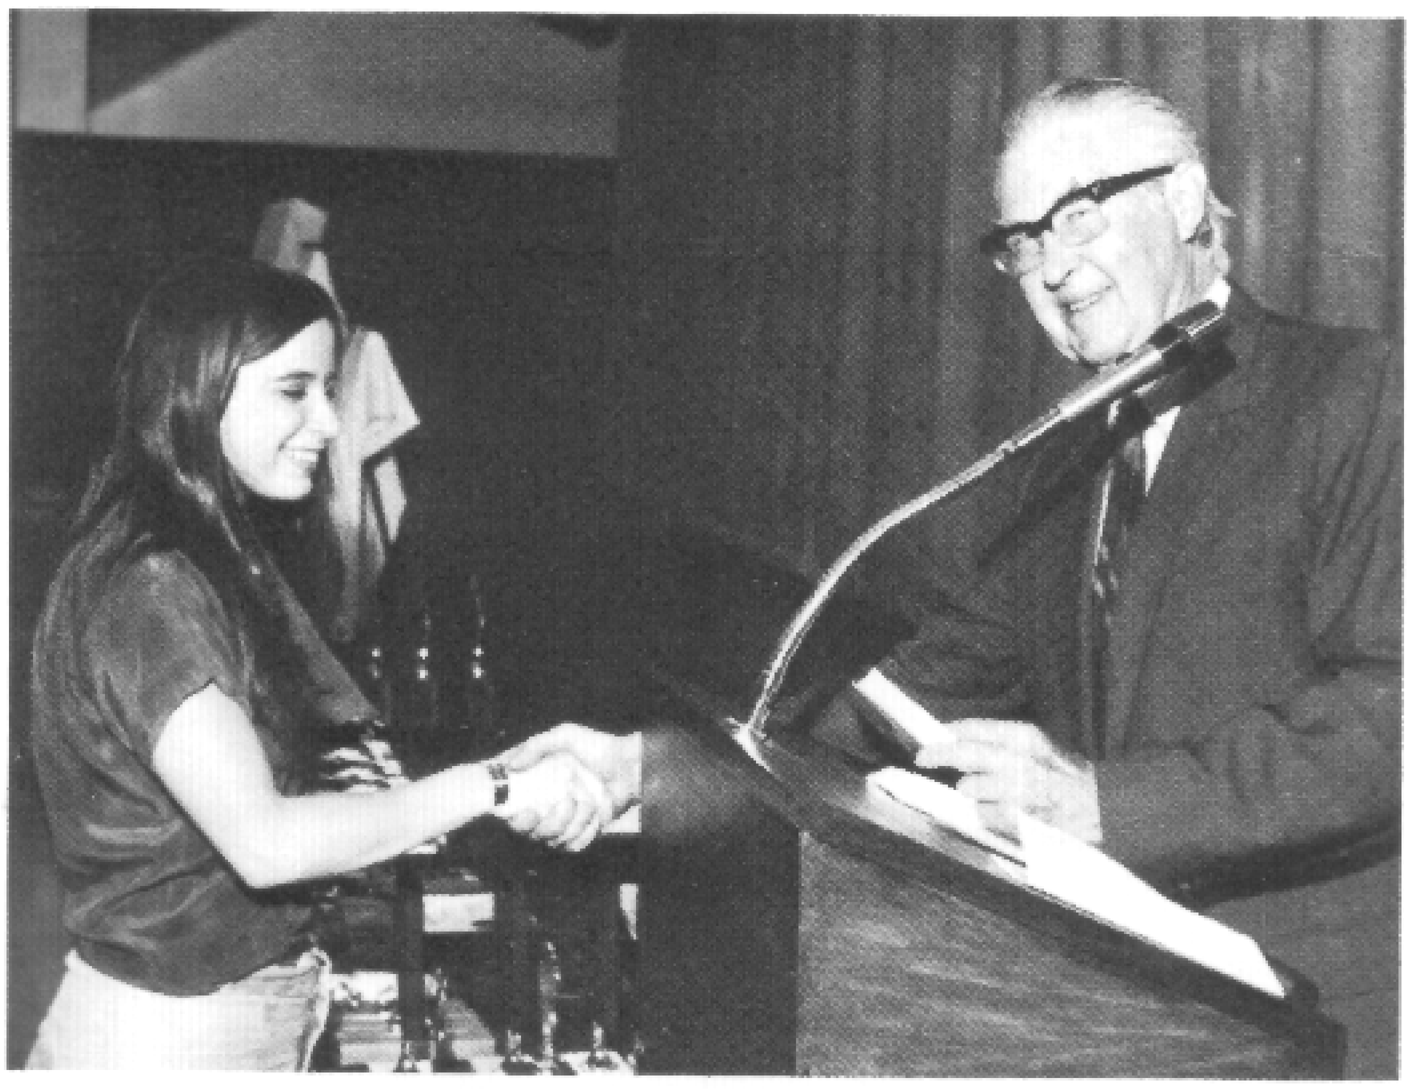
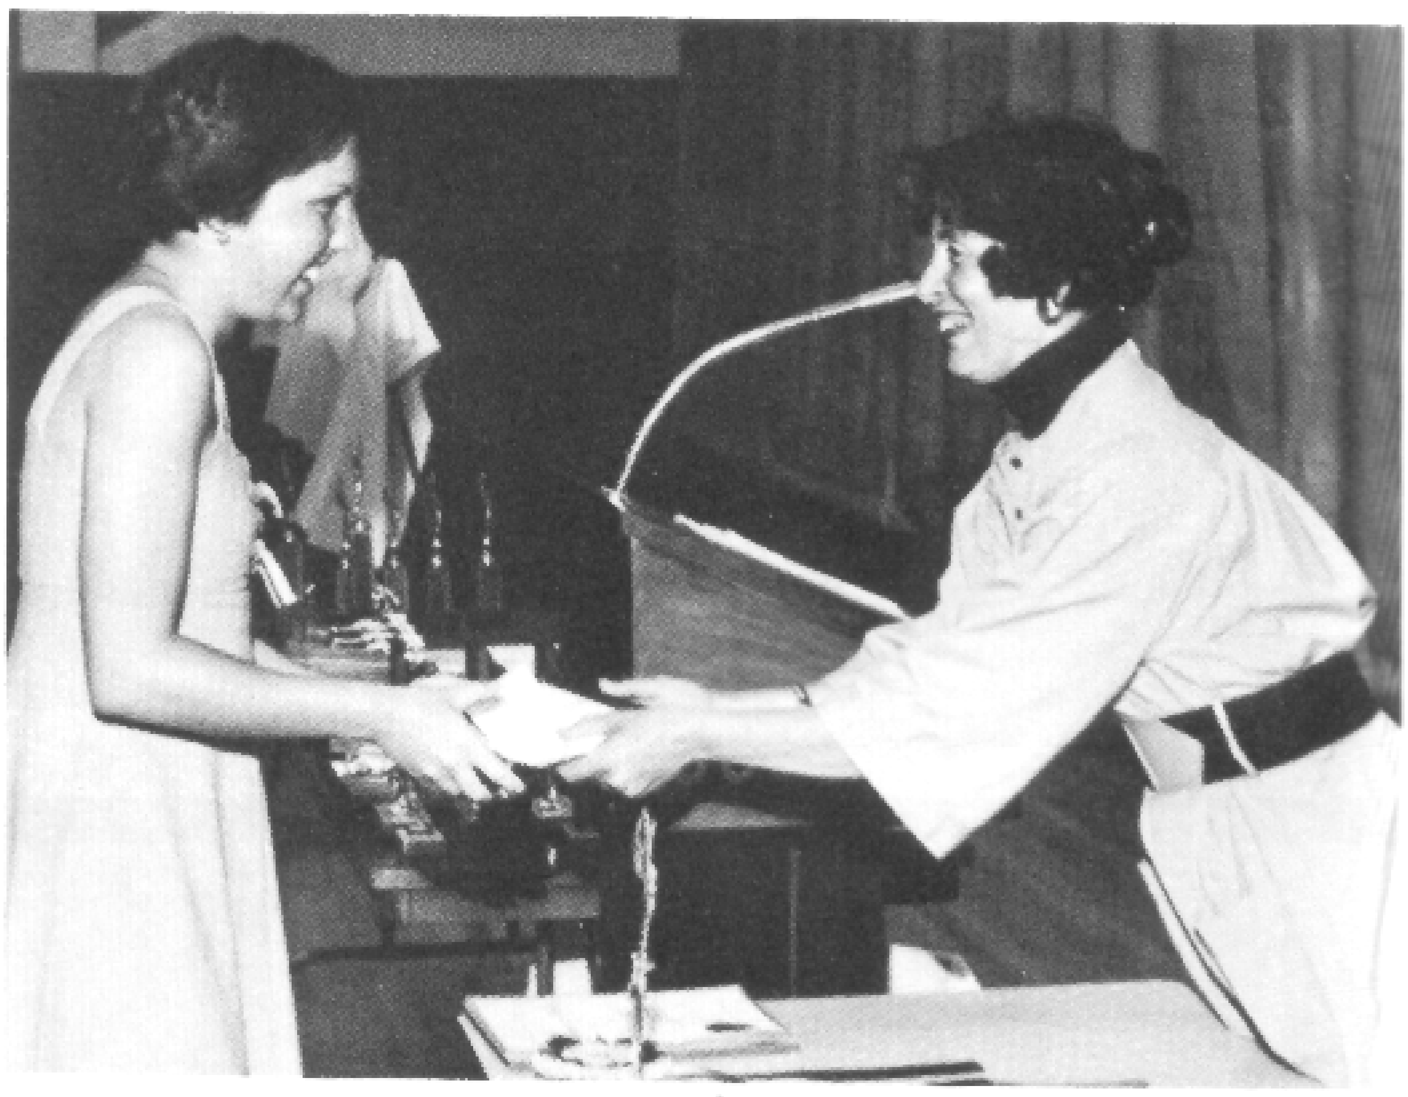
On May 26, Awards Night was held to honor those who have accomplished unique and difficult feats either through hard work or exceptional talent throughout the year. Scholarships were presented as well as various trophies and awards. Students were recognized for their participation in several areas: art, the National Math Test, the Ohio Test of Scholastic Achievement, National Honor Society, National Forensics League, Thespians, "Academic Challenge", Quill and Scroll, and Student Council. As a finale, Jim Angiulo presented the results of the annual Senior Select.

Dotty Uhle receives the Rotary Scholarship from Dr. MacKay.



A 500 dollar art scholarship was presented to Amy Nichols by Mr. Winder.



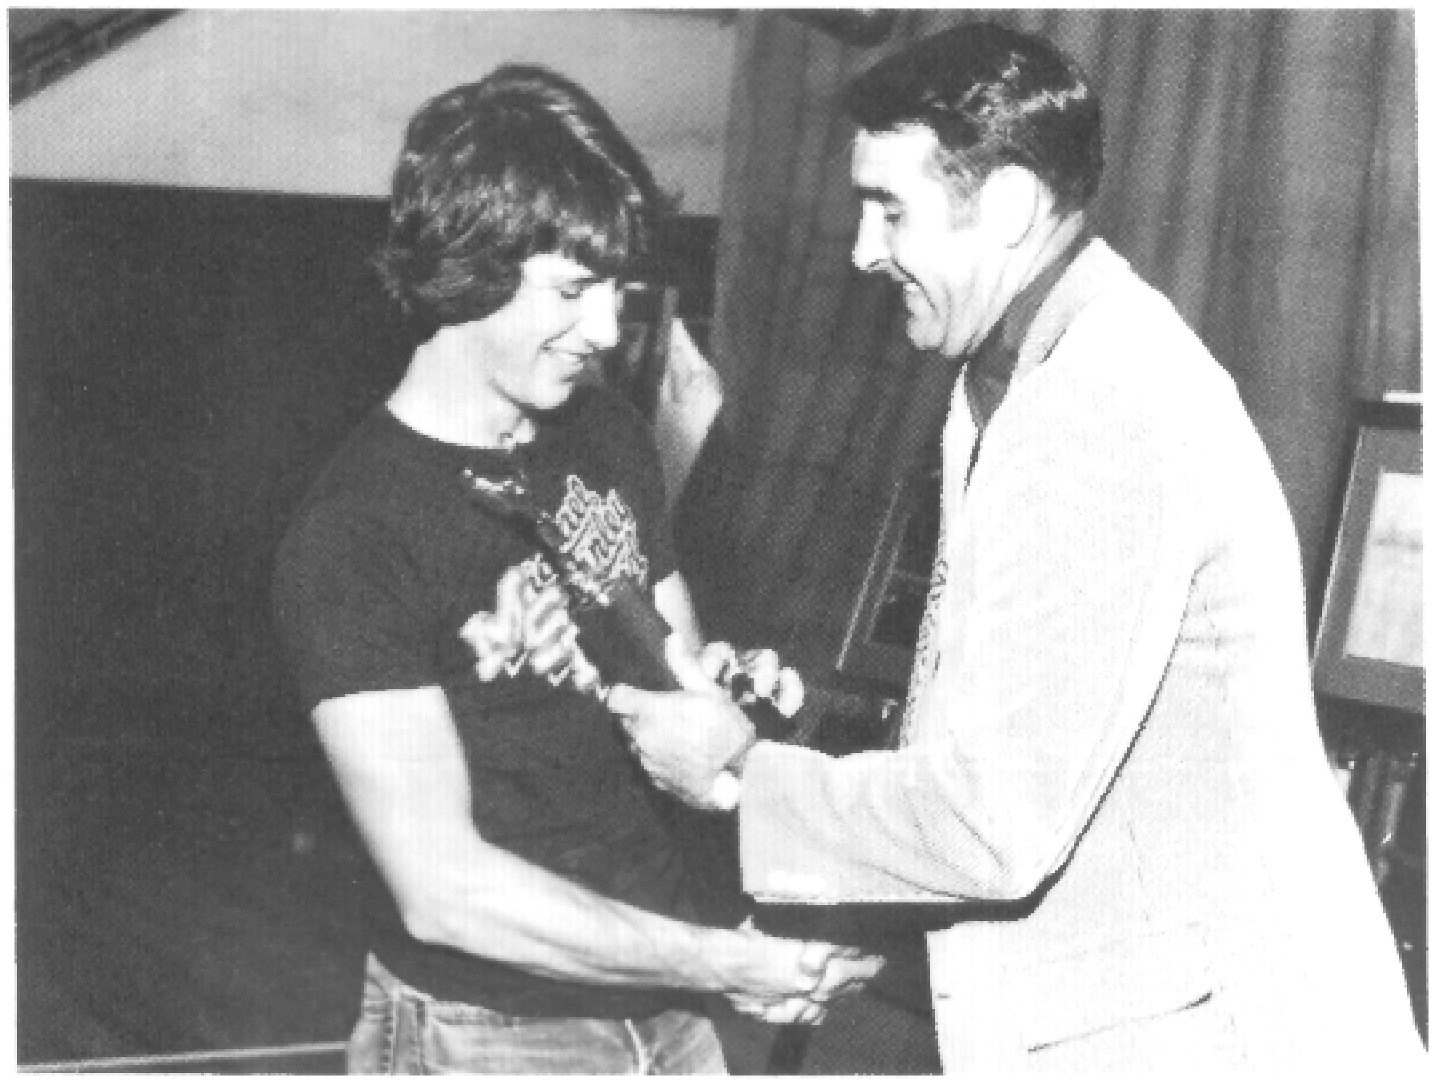
Mrs. Lueptow hands Lynda Sharp a check for the purchase of one of her works by the school.

Mr. Morse presents Nick Nero with a plaque for "Best Performance of 1976-1977" for his role as Thoreau in the winter play.

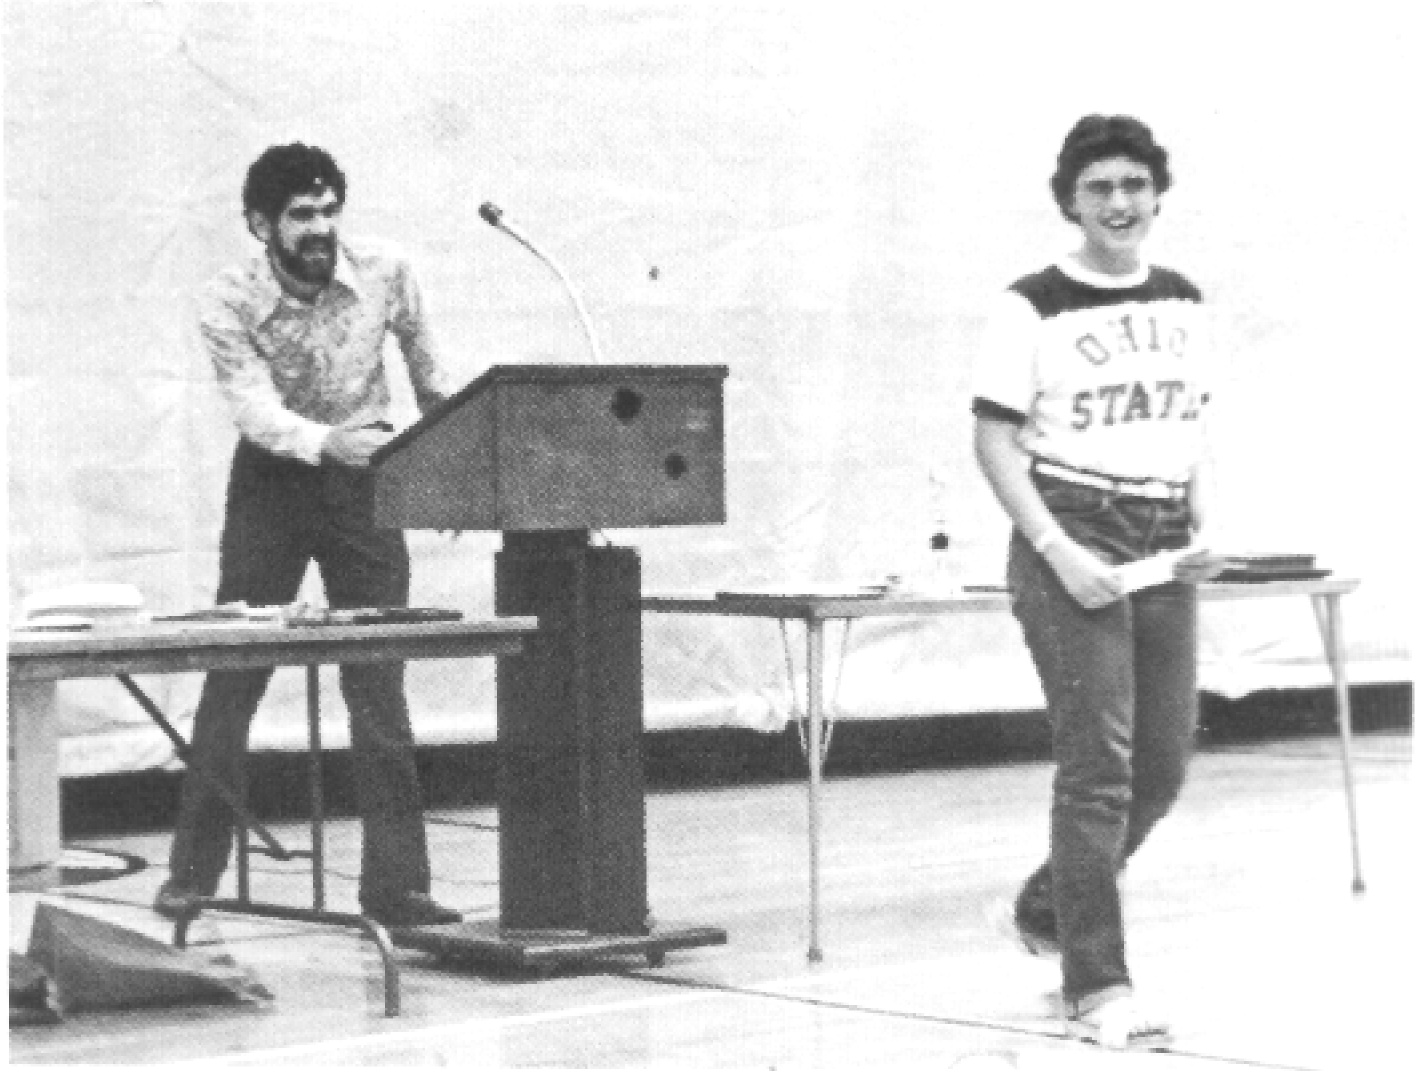
The newly established Memorial Scholarship, this year in memory of Helen Herron and Marty Glenn, is presented to Sue Kaas.

Mrs. Bond congratulates Stephanie Feldman for becoming a member of NHS.

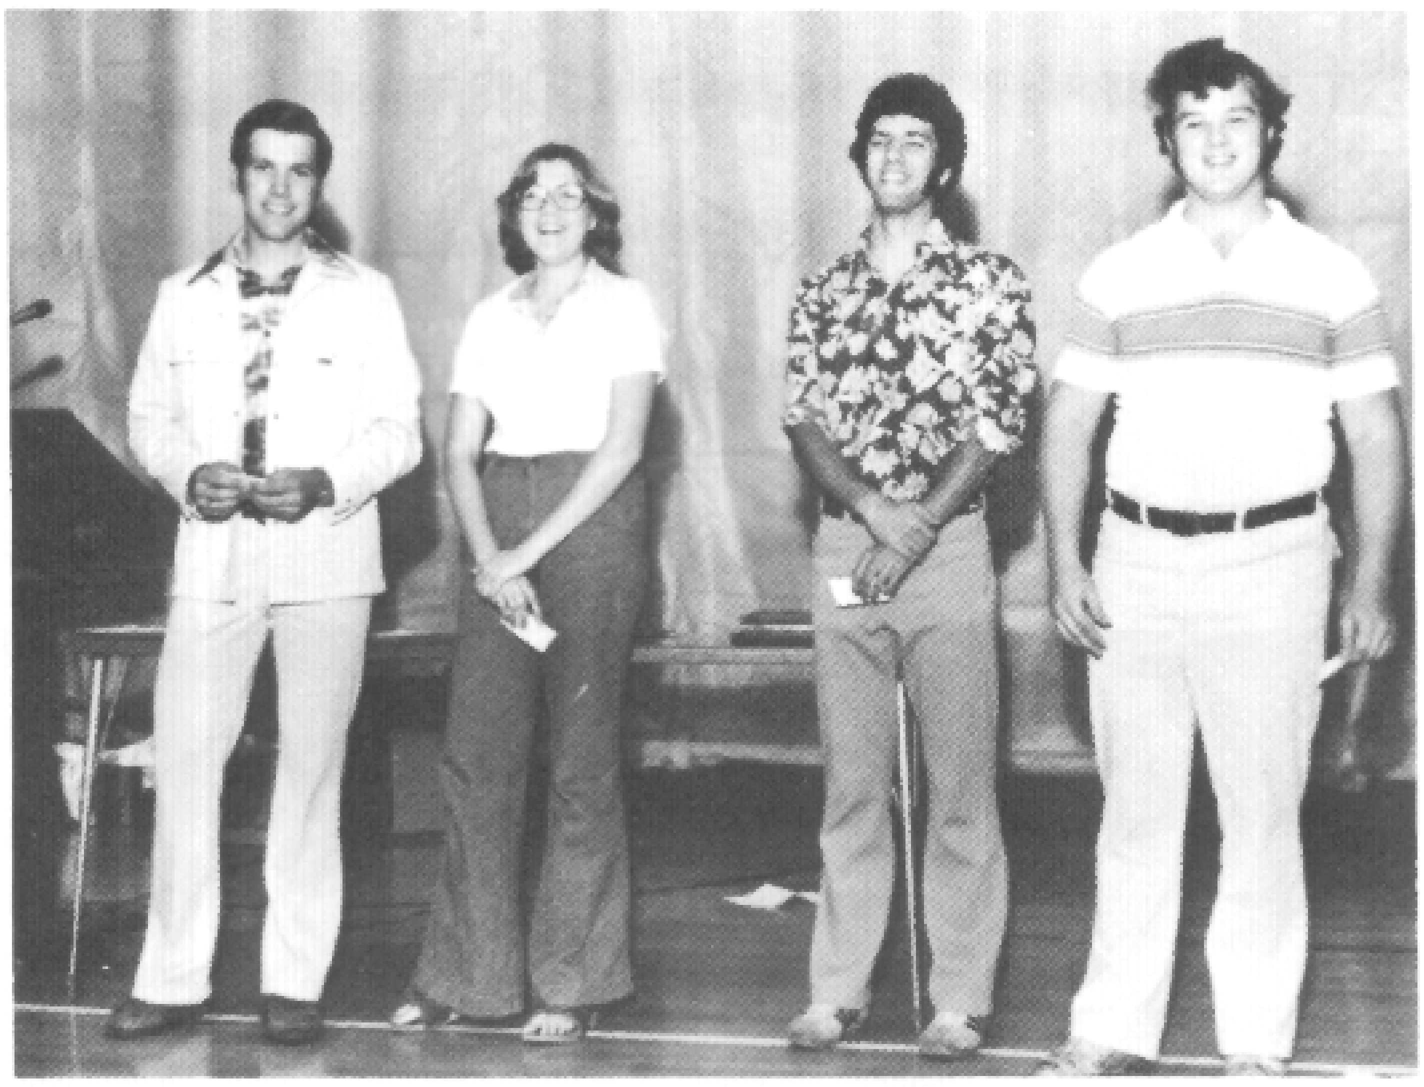
Mr. Wilkens presents the Manhood Award trophy to winner Derek Lenington.



Cliff Weidrick receives the Bob Lowe Memorial Award from Mr. Ost.



Mr. Welsh recognizes Lee Merrill's accomplishments in NFL with numerous awards.



Quill and Scroll recipients are Leigh Atkins, Marge DeMund, Mike Lehr, and Kevin Schlueter.

Roberta Fiori is not too pleased for being selected as the "most aggressive" female in the senior class.

Stand Forth And Be Honored

Every year the Chrysler corporation honors area high school seniors chosen by teachers and the senior class. On the basis of leadership, character, loyalty, reliability, scholarship, a and participation, we chose Jim Angiulo and Melanie Greene to receive the Chrysler award.

Setting a precedent, the annual Manhood and Womanhood Awards (changed to Outstanding Seniors) were awarded to more than two seniors. Seniors were Nominated separately by senior members of NHS and the faculty, and final selection was made in a combined meeting of teachers and NHS. Derek Lenington, Dotty Uhl, and Judy Vantrease won the Outstanding Senior Awards.

Despite three ballots, Judy Vantrease and Dotty Uhle still tied so each received a Womanhood award (or should it be called Womenhood Award).

Revere Makes T.V. Debut

This year Revere participated for the first time in a local television quiz show "Academic Challenge." Dedicated to excellence in high school scholarship, the show was sponsored by Ohio Edison. Although Revere's team that consisted of Marjorie DeMund, Jim Angiulo, Steve Brodeur, and alternate Lee Merrill failed to overcome a superior team from Mayfield Heights, who totaled a near record 630 points, it did make a respectable showing of 220 points. As Captain DeMund said, "Of course we are disappointed that we didn't win, but we all felt honored to represent Revere and appreciate the magnificent support that we had."

The show, taped February 13th and aired a week later, was a half hour in length and was composed of three rounds of ten questions each and a "grab bag" round. One of the questions asked for the name of Moliere's play about the education of women for marriage. Of course, that was not as difficult as "who wrote the 'Wreck of the Edmund Fitzgerald'?"

One final cheer for the Class of [illegible]

I would like to thank those who had a part in this yearbook. This would include the other staff members, for they have given tremendous amounts of their time towards the production of this book. This would also include those who but came into the office for only a few days to help on a particular page they favored. This would also include our advisor whose suggestions guided us. It also includes those in the administration and the faculty who were patient with us and our achieving of our goals. However, I would like to thank someone who is even more important—you. Without you, we would not have had such a fascinating subject to cover as we did. In fact, without you, there could have been no yearbook; for you provided us with the material needed to design a memorable publication. Thus, as you leaf through this book, I hope you feel as though we have done justice by you.

Thank you again,

Kevin Schlueter
